CONCESSIONS REPORTED TO BE INCLUDED

Troyanovsky Says Proposals Based On Instructions From Soviet Union

PLANS NOT REJECTED

Ambassador Hopeful Of Acceptance Or Counter Proposals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, representing the Soviet Union, today submitted to the state department a proposal for settlement of the long pending Russian debt to the United States.

Troyanovsky said the offer contained several "very important concessions."

The proposals put forth by the ambassador were understood to be based on the latest instructions from Moscow in an effort to break the deadlock which halted the debt negotiations in Moscow and caused their removal to Washington.

Troyanovsky said his proposals had not been accepted immediately by the state department and referred inquiries as to the department's attitude to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Troyanovsky indicated, however, that the department had not flatly rejected the proposals and indicated a hope that they might inspire a counter proposal by the United States. Asked if he was hopeful for a settlement of the debts, Troyanovsky said:

"I am always optimistic."

He added that he expected further conferences on the debts which are estimated to amount to between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

CHEVALIER DENIES REPORT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Maurice Chevalier, French film star, today emphatically denied reports from Cannes, France, that he will marry Kay Francis, screen actress, on the Riviera sometime in September.

"It is utterly unso," the actor sputtered indignantly. "There is no truth in it whatever."

$50,000 TAKEN BY BANDITS IN TRUCK ROBBERY

Registered Mail Seized In Daylight Holdup Today In Pennsylvania

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Bandits in two automobiles forced a truck carrying registered mail to the curb here today and escaped with three sacks containing about $50,000.

The men appeared suddenly as M. C. Lackey was driving the truck through a downtown street enroute to nearby Lyndora. The truck contained three sacks of registered mail.

Two automobiles suddenly appeared alongside, Lackey said, and one of them forced him to the curb. He had no opportunity to use a revolver lying in the machine

"Lie down and don't move," one of the men warned Lackey. Lackey was uncertain whether there were three or four men pointing pistols at him.

He obeyed, and one of the men stepped behind the truck and removed the mail to the first bandit car. All the men then leaped aboard and sped westward, deserting the second machine.

The loot was largely federal reserve funds from Pittsburgh.

The bandits wore dark glasses. Lackey said they were between 35 and 40 years old. Witnesses, whose attention was called to the holdup by screaming brakes on the automobiles, said the holdup required less than a minute.

"By the time we got to the street," Mrs. H. D. Manning, who lives nearby, said, "the bandits were already speeding up the street."

The money was enroute to the Lyndora bank for use in making up payrolls of the American Rolling Mills and the Standard Car Corporation.

COUNTY CHURCH LEADERS BACKING M'KINNEY

ATTACK MADE ON M'KINNEY IS BOOMERANG

Attempt Obviously Inspired By Liquor Interests Calls Forth Rebuke

THAT THE eleventh-hour campaign attack upon B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, made by C. D. Hicks, Santa Ana minister-real estate man, had turned itself into a boomerang, was indicated today when ministers and other moral leaders of the county denounced the attack, and voiced their complete confidence in McKinney. Liquor interests were shown, on the face of the attack, to be its source.

Lyman Scheel of Fullerton, as president of the Orange County Church Brotherhood, added his approval of McKinney to that of the ministers, in connection with a recent survey of candidates and their attitudes on various questions, including the use of liquor, conducted by the county brotherhood. Scheel's statement added that McKinney's attitude "would satisfy the most exacting," while District Attorney Kaufman had refused to reply, apparently not expecting or caring for the support of the brotherhood.

Flimsy Foundation

The group of ministers called attention to the palpably political character of the attack upon McKinney, and its flimsy foundation upon "hearsay" statements from unknown sources, and from the liquor dealers themselves.

Citizens of the county were urged by the ministers, "not to be swerved from their convictions and determinations" by a last-minute attack of this character.

The ministers clearly demonstrated their own disbelief in the charges made by Hicks, saying that if such attacks were customarily given credit, "there is no candidate who could be counted upon at all."

McKinney himself branded the Hicks' charges as false and denounced the means employed of accusing him without a hearing; also the refusal of Hicks to name the time or place concerned with his attack, or the names of his informants, so that McKinney might face them.

In his statement attacking McKinney, which was timed yesterday

NEW FOREST FIRES IN PLUMAS REGION

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—(UP)—New forest fire outbreaks were reported from the Plumas National forest region today following a severe electrical storm.

Fire fighters saved Camp Lyman, a summer resort near Sloat, by using water lifted from the Feather river, by portable pumps.

After the storm 17 separate fires broke out in various parts of the forest preserve. The crew of 900 men engaged in fighting a serious fire near Sloat was scattered over a wider area to combat the new fires.

ISSUE STATEMENTS SHOWING THEIR SUPPORT; CONSTRUED AS REBUKE TO LIQUOR GANG

THE HEAD of the Orange County Church Brotherhood and various ministers of Orange county, including the president and secretary of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, as individuals, joined today in statements expressing confidence in B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, who was the object of a vicious last-minute campaign attack from sources obviously inspired by the liquor interests, working through a local minister-real estate dealer, C. D. Hicks.

The statements by the ministers and Scheel was accompanied by another statement, issued by McKinney, himself, branding the charges against him as false.

Following are the statements:

Ministers Rebuke Attacks

"There has been at this late hour in the campaign, too late for any thorough investigation, a statement made reflecting upon the habits and integrity of B. Z. McKinney.

"We want to call the attention of citizens to the fact that this statement is made upon hearsay evidence of two men who are unrevealed, and that if we were in the habit of taking such statements concerning candidates, there is no candidate who could be counted upon at all.

"We know Mr. B. Z. McKinney and have complete confidence in his integrity. We know that two years ago, because of his personal convictions, he took his stand as he did, upon the prohibition question.

"His personal or professional life has never been questioned, up to this hour, and now the only statement made concerning that, is that two men, unknown, told the man who wrote the statement above referred to; that they had had this experience with Mr. McKinney. The only other statements concerning Mr. McKinney, which reflect upon him, the gentlemen who wrote the letter says he bases his opinion upon what was told him by the liquor dealers and their friends.

"We do not believe that in the midst of a fight, comprising the issues that are on in Orange county, that at this hour, three days before election, the voters of Orange county, should be swerved from their conviction and their determination by statements of any man, whether he be minister or layman, which statements according to his own acknowledgment, are based upon what the liquor dealers told him.

Ralph J. Smedley, secretary Santa Ana Ministerial Ass'n.
Rev. G. E. Waddle, pastor Church of the Nazarene, Santa Ana.
Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor First M. E. church, Santa Ana.
Rev. Herman Meyer, St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Santa Ana.
Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor First M. E. church, Fullerton.
Rev. Russel C. Stroup, pastor Christ Church by the Sea, Newport Beach.
Rev. O. W. Reinius, pastor Richland Avenue M. E. church, Santa Ana.
Rev. James Edwin Dunning, pastor First M. E. church, Orange.

Says McKinney Record O. K.

"The men's brotherhood of the churches of Orange county have just completed and published a survey made of the attitude of candidates for various offices to be voted on in Orange county.

"We sent a searching questionnaire to the candidates for district attorney and for sheriff. To this questionnaire B. Z. McKinney, whom we all knew by reputation, replied with answers that certainly would satisfy the most exacting.

"District Attorney Kaufman did not extend to us the courtesy of a reply, and we concluded that when he learned the nature of our organization he did not expect or care for the support of those whom we represented."

Signed— LYMAN F. SCHEEL,
President Orange County Church Brotherhood.

McKinney Brands Charges

"In these closing hours of my campaign for district attorney, the most unjust, unfair and even untruthful statement has been issued by C. D. Hicks, minister-real estate agent which is undoubtedly calculated to injure me.

"It will not accomplish its purpose, as its object must be obvious to all who read it.

"He accused me, without a hearing, and refused to divulge to me the source of his hearsay information. His statements regarding me personally are absolutely unfounded and untrue and were he not a minister, I possibly would use much stronger language.

"That his statement is based on hearsay information from persons unrevealed, and on the statement of liquor dealers, whose names he does not disclose, is sufficient answer, I think, to this attack, and I believe the people of Orange County, where I have lived for 10 years, gone through two political campaigns, without any charge whatever having at any time been made against my personal character and integrity, will realize this is a last-minute political trick of the lowest form."

Signed— B. Z. McKINNEY.

DILLINGER PAL IS SHOT DOWN IN MINNESOTA

Homer van Meter Killed By Federal Agents On Tip From Girl's Mother

ST. PAUL, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A tremendous drive to stamp out the last remnants of the John Dillinger gang was launched here today at the scene of the slaying of Homer Van Meter.

Elated by the success of an ambuscade in which Van Meter, deadly Dillinger machine gunner, was killed last night, federal agents and city police hoped to capture two more henchmen of the bold Indiana outlaw.

Their quarry was George (Baby Face) Nelson, the gunman who killed a federal agent in escaping from an ambush last spring near Spider Lake, Wis., and John Hamilton, believed by some to be already dead.

They thought Nelson was somewhere within the net of men and guns spread around the city. Every police agency was thrown into an attempt to chase him into the open.

Van Meter's death was a continuation of the disasters wreaked upon the Dillinger gang by love of a pretty face.

Maintaining close seclusion in a St. Paul hideout, Van Meter nevertheless found opportunity to go about with a young woman whom police refused to identify. He made a fatal mistake by choosing a girl whose parents notified police. With utmost caution they set their trap and Van Meter walked into it. He was given orders to surrender and was slain only when he fired two shots from his own gun and turned to flee.

Van Meter's association with Dillinger began in the Indiana state reformatory. Because of an unruly record both were transferred to the penitentiary at Michigan City. Later both were paroled. They met outside, planned and executed several robberies together. Van Meter collaborated in planning the escape of 12 former comrades from the penitentiary, then aided the 12 in rescuing Dillinger from jail at Lima, O.

Since that day six members of the gang have been killed. Sev-

SICILY IS SHAKEN BY EARTH QUAKES

MESSINA, Sicily, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sicily was shaken by a strong earth shock today, followed by two milder tremors, while Mt. Stromboli poured forth threatening clouds of smoke.

The volcano continued belching spasmodic streams of lava, but the molten waste streamed toward the sea along the northern slopes, which are neither inhabited nor cultivated. No losses have yet been reported.

Smoke clouds at the summit of the volcano are so dense that her fires are hidden, although at night an intense glare is visible.

ARIZONA WILL PROTECT ALIEN LEASE HOLDERS

Assurances Given To British Consul By Governor At Conference

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 24.—(UP)—British subjects, including Hindus, Irish and Scots, will be protected to the fullest extent of the law in the matter of the dispute over alien lease holders of farm lands in the Salt River valley, Gov. B. B. Moeur told British Consul Wentworth Gurney today.

The governor assured Gurney, who came here last night from Los Angeles, that everything within his power would be done to protect British subjects.

Gurney was the second representative of a foreign nation to visit Arizona since the trouble started last week. The Japanese vice consul spent several days here investigating conditions.

There were said to be about 40 Hindu families living here. Most of these have come from Punjab, in the northern part of India and have been here since 1930. The Irish, British and Scots are represented by about 10 families. None of these people are leasing or own the land, but are working the farms on a share proposition which is not a violation of the alien land laws of Arizona.

Threats of violence against the aliens by farmers of the valley have subsided since the arrest of several alleged violators of the land laws. The first hearing on these complaints will be held Aug. 31.

"I'm not here to discuss the legality or fairness of Arizona or United States land laws," Gurney told the governor, "I have come to investigate whether the British subjects are in the right or wrong and I am satisfied that the people of Arizona will see that the law is carried out and that there will be no violence."

Gurney will return to Los Angeles tonight, following a tour of the Salt River valley in company with a representative of the governor.

MID WEST STATES HIT BY COLD WAVE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—(UP)—A "cold wave" swept southeastward out of the Canadian Rockies today, bringing the lowest temperatures the southwest has known since last winter.

Mercury which a few days ago was fretting at the upper extremities of thermometers dwindled into the 40's and 50's. At Bismarck, N. D., it dipped to 32. To the northward in Canada sub-freezing marks were reported.

Wraps were taken out of moth balls and willows long open for a breath of cool air were closed when residents over a wide area awoke today. Blankets were in general demand last night.

The government weather bureau here said the cold wave would hold tonight and would push into Oklahoma. A duplication of this morning's minimum temperature of 51 was in prospect here.

BLUE EAGLE CHIEF TO GO ON VACATION

GENERAL IS CHEERFUL

Declines To Reveal What Transpired At Meeting But Seems Optimistic

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP) The whole question of NRA reorganization will be settled two weeks from Monday at Hyde Park, N. Y., Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said today after nearly an hour's conference with President Roosevelt.

Johnson, in a jovial mood, left the White House insisting that he was not resigning and that the only thing that brought him back was a "slight misunderstanding as to timing."

"The president decided that I should go off on a two weeks vacation and we will settle the matter in two weeks at Hyde Park."

Johnson insisted that "This thing is not serious at all." The Blue Eagle chieftain was referring to reports of sharp conflict with Donald R. Richberg, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins over reorganization policies.

Concerning questions as to reports of his possible divorce from recovery efforts, the administrator pointed out that he wanted to change his relationship to the program, adding that "I recommended that before I went away."

To questions as to whether that meant he was to become head of the board of directors of the NRA, Johnson refused to commit himself, declaring that that was a question for Mr. Roosevelt to decide.

Before he left the White House he had a short, but earnest conversation in the lobby with Richberg.

"I never had a disagreement with Richberg," Johnson said.

HUEY LONG CRASHES RECORDS AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sen. Huey Long crashed the records of the League of Nations today—as usual, in a controversial role.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, protesting allegations by Paraguay that the company was aiding Bolivia in the Gran Chaco war, wrote the league:

"It is to be hoped Paraguay in its reported protest will supply a copy of that part of the congressional record containing all that Senator Long said on the subject."

Ironically expressing fear that Paraguay would not cite the senator as authority, Teagle attached to his letter Long's statement which accused Standard of aiding Bolivia.

CASEY AT MUDVILLE! THREE STRIKES AND OUT! READ ABOUT THEM!

(AN EDITORIAL)

The tricks of the crowd of organized liquor dealers who held their gambling saturnalia over in Anaheim, unmolested, and raised a "defense fund" are interesting, curious and even amusing.

Unmolested in their law violations, they proceeded to hold a later meeting to endorse candidates. This they do in a supposed secret meeting, from which particularly The Register is barred, as they think.

But their endorsements are made and are published, and with them, "the fat is in the fire." They wanted to help their endorsees, and they found it was ruining them. They wanted to get them over, and they found they were getting them under.

What was the first move? The first move has not yet become public. It is being given here for the first time.

THEY FIRST ATTEMPTED TO DENY THAT THEY MADE ANY ENDORSEMENTS. THEY GATHERED SOME OF THEIR CROWD TOGETHER AND PROPOSED TO THEM THAT THEY MAKE A BLANKET DENIAL THAT THEY EVER MADE SUCH ENDORSEMENTS.

THEY FOUND THEY COULDN'T DO IT. THERE WERE TOO MANY THERE. THEY WOULD BE CONFRONTED WITH A FALSEHOOD AMONG THEIR OWN MEMBERS.

So that plan, that they didn't make the endorsement, had to be abandoned.

SECOND, THEY PROPOSED THAT THEY WOULD MAKE A PUBLIC STATEMENT THAT THE REGISTER AND ITS PUBLISHER INDUCED THEM TO MAKE THE ENDORSEMENT. THEY ACTUALLY PUBLISHED THIS STATEMENT, AND THEN THEY FOUND THAT NOBODY BELIEVED IT. IT JUST SIMPLY FELL OF ITS OWN WEIGHT.

Even the most intense crusaders for their own cause said that didn't go over; the public didn't swallow it. So they took the third proposition and, this for absurdity and ridiculousness, was certainly equal to the second.

They said, we will get some of the liquor men to go to a preacher and convince the preacher, not that The Register induced it, but that they did it themselves to hurt the district attorney and not to elect him—that they were for McKinney all the time.

While undoubtedly the more sober and sane advisors expressed doubt that they could find a preacher who would believe that: others insisted it was worth trying.

THE LIQUOR MEN, THE MEN WHO WERE AT THE MEETING, OF COURSE HAVING TO ADMIT THEY WERE LYING BEFORE, WHEN THEY BLAMED IT ON THE REGISTER, NOW SAID TO THIS PREACHER: "WE WERE JUST FOOLING WHEN WE SAID THE REGISTER DID IT. WE REALLY DID THIS THING TO HURT THE MAN WE WERE ENDORSING." THIS WAS DONE, OF COURSE, TO GET THE PREACHER TO GIVE IT TO THE WORLD, FOR WHAT?

WHY TO HELP THEIR FRIEND, THE ONE WHOM THEY ENDORSED ORIGINALLY. THE PREACHER SWALLOWED IT, HOOK, LINE AND SINKER. BUT THEY WILL FIND THEY CANNOT FOOL THE VOTERS AS EASILY AS THAT.

The voters know the conditions that are on in Orange county. They know who is responsible for them.

They have watched this farce of the liquor men trying to help their friend by going through these various devious gyrations and the last one, as it reaches the height of absurdity.

Read the statement of well known and outstanding ministers of this county concerning B. Z. McKinney and this action.

Read Mr. McKinney's statement itself!

Read the statement of the president of the church brotherhood!

Reflect upon the various statements that the liquor crowd has made concerning this episode, and judge in the light of it all, and then answer the law defying group that is endeavoring to ramrod itself into complete control in Orange county by voting for the man whose reputation is without a blemish and whose professional career stands unsullied.

Rebuke the slanderers of reputation who would spread broadcast stories told by men who are protected securely by the concealment of their names, which probably was the inducement made to them to tell the falsehoods in the beginning, if indeed there are any such men!

ATTACK MADE ON M'KINNEY IS BOOMERANG

to reach the candidate too late for a reply in the press, and which was followed immediately by publication of Hick's endorsement of McKinney's opponent, in a morning weekly supporting the opponent, the minister-real estate man said he had been told that two years ago McKinney was seen to take a drink of liquor at a meeting, in response to a toast that he "was politically dry but personally wet."

He refused to divulge the names of two men he said had given him the information; also refused to name the time and place.

His statement said further that liquor dealers had told him they really preferred McKinney to his opponent, Kaufman, and that when they endorsed Kaufman and Howard at Laguna Beach a few days ago, they really did it in order to defeat Kaufman. They had meant to endorse some other sheriff candidate, in order to defeat him, but Howard's friends in the meeting, not apprised of the design, had pushed through his endorsement. One who attended the meeting gave him this information, Hicks said. Hicks apparently believed what the liquor dealers told him.

Hicks claimed he made an investigation before making the attack upon McKinney, but his statement, it was pointed out, shows on its face that his only investigation had to do with the liquor dealers themselves, and the two unnamed men.

No Investigation

As to the choice of the liquor dealers for district attorney, Hicks made no investigation as to the accuracy or proof of the report of the Laguna Beach endorsement meeting that appeared in The Register, showing that the liquor interests had endorsed Kaufman and Howard.

The report of this meeting published by The Register was completely corroborated today by another newspaper representative, Noel Sands, of the Harbor Outlook, Balboa, who attended the meeting. Sands and the Register representative were the only newspapermen present, and were the only ones present who were not members of the liquor organization, except one Newport Beach man, who was, however, a liquor dealer, according to Sands.

Consequently, any informant of Hicks who attended the endorsement meeting must have been a liquor dealer, it was shown.

The account of the meeting stated in The Register was correct in every detail and there was no indication at the meeting that the endorsements were anything other than spontaneous selections of candidates, said Sands. He also said a careful canvass was made of sentiment before motions were introduced and unanimously adopted endorsing Kaufman and Howard, and that there was no semblance of railroading or forcing any endorsement.

McKinney's well known dry record, and his open fight for the dry cause two years ago when he was a candidate for congress, which stand admittedly cost him much support in his own party, was regarded today as making the Hicks charges ridiculous and their purpose apparent.

WILL ROGERS says:

CHITA, Siberia, Aug. 24.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Been waiting to reach a town American readers could pronounce. Chita, that's an old American word. Came up through Korea, then the length and breadth of Manchuria. Was two days on the Chinese Eastern Railway. That's the one Japan is trying to buy, but take this tip: Russia won't sell. She is just kidding them.

Tell you sometime about all the military preparations on both sides. I said some time I would tell you. This is the heart of Eastern Siberia. All a beautiful prairie, not a tree, not a fence. Just grass up to your stirrups. Tomorrow we pass around beautiful Lake Baikal.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ARMY AIRPLANES TO COMPETE IN RACES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Army airplanes will participate in the 1934 national air races in Cleveland, O., the war department announced today.

The department said a composits squadron consisting of 18 Boeing T-26—a low winged pursuit monoplane from the 17th and 94th pursuit squadrons at Selfridge Field, Mich., will participate. They will be under the command of Captain George P. Tourtellot.

A team of pursuit pilots from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., composed of three pursuit planes and pilots under the command of Capt. Clair L. Chennault will also arrive in Cleveland Aug. 31 to take part in the demonstration. The team will give a demonstration of pursuit combat flying daily.

ABSOLVE TRAIN CREW OF DEATH

Exoneration of the train crew in the death of Robert Kenney, 54, who was killed near Buena Park last Friday when struck by a Southern Pacific train, was given yesterday by a coroner's jury at the inquest from the O. A. Stone funeral home in Buena Park.

It was testified that Kenney had fallen asleep on the tracks while walking to his home on the Boisserane ranch. Engineer J. W. Higley and Fireman J. Braunger both testified, with Braunger reporting that he saw the man on the tracks just as he raised his head and was struck by the engine.

Kenney had lived in Orange county about three years and had no known survivors.

ALLEGES SINCLAIR COMMUNIST FRIEND

WOODLAND, Cal., Aug. 24. —(UP)—A letter found in an allegedly Communist hideout in Broderick referred to "Sinclair" reputedly meaning Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for governor, as a sympathizer, Sheriff J. W. Monroe announced today.

Monroe said he found the letter in the pocket of a vest that had been tossed on a rubbish heap. It was overlooked when deputies raided the hangout several days ago. It was addressed to "Al" and signed "J. H. K." and was undated. The sheriff had no idea who the two persons may be, whether the letter was authentic, or whether it was planted there by interests opposed to the candidacy of Sinclair.

Ponce was taken to the county jail on a statutory charge while the girl is being held in the juvenile detention home, pending negotiations with San Diego police.

eral others are in prison. Only four—Nelson, Hamilton, Joseph Burns and Joseph Fox—are at liberty.

Joseph Jenkins, one of the men who escaped from Michigan City, was shot soon after the break. Herbert Youngblood, negro who bluffed his way out of Crown Point jail with Dillinger, was shot in Michigan. Eugene Green was shot in Chicago in April by federal agents and Tommy Carroll was killed in a battle at Waterloo, Ia., June 7. Dillinger was the last of the gang to die prior to last night.

Nelson is rated as national public enemy No. 1 since Dillinger's death. He is particularly wanted for slaying Federal Officer Baum in escaping from a raid on a gang hideout at Little Bohemia lodge near Spider Lake.

MISS CRUICKSHANK REINJURES SHOULDER

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Aug. 24. —(UP)—Kay Stammers and Fred James, of England, won the Germantown Cricket club women's invitation doubles championship today without lifting a racquet when the American team of Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia and Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., defaulted.

It was understood that a shoulder injury which Miss Cruickshank sustained at Wimbledon this year when playing as a member of the Wightman Cup team was responsible for the default. Miss Cruickshank today carried her arm in a sling.

TEXAS GIRLS SEEK ENDURANCE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Too "thrilled and happy" to sleep, two Texas girls droned back and forth across Curtis-Reynolds airport today in their second attempt at a refueling endurance flight record.

The girls, Jean La Rene, Dallas, and Mary Owens, Forth Worth, took off at 7:13 P. M. (CST) with a remodeled Curtiss Thrush plane. Their first attempt ended when Miss La Rene was saturated with gasoline in their first refueling. The girls landed to have their gas tank moved to a more accessible position.

The women's record is held by Helen Richey and the late Frances Marsalis, who stayed up 9 days, 21 hours, 42 minutes.

U. S. C. OF C. HEAD OPPOSES WALLACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP) —Henry I. Harriman, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, ranged himself today against Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in a dispute over the American merchant marine.

Harriman declared surveys by the chamber indicated the present "merchant shipping services in the aggregate are moderate." This was in answer to recent remarks by Wallace that he felt American capital could be put to better use by utilizing it to develop natural resources rather than shipping.

Harriman expressed confidence further study by public officials would convince them that the merchant marine is already at the lowest practical ebb.

LONG BEACH SLAYER GRANTED REPRIEVE

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Saved from the gallows by a last-minute executive reprieve, Leo Dwight Murphy Long Beach, slayer, went back to a cell on "condemned man's row" instead of through the little green door of San Quentin's execution room today.

Murphy was waiting alone in the death cage in the rear of the gallows when word came Gov Frank F. Merriam had issued a 90-day reprieve, postponing the hanging set for this morning.

The governor acted following representations by Attorney John Ehlen, San Francisco, that he had additional evidence to prove Murphy was insane when he killed his first wife in their honeymoon cottage eight years ago.

Taxation No Problem In This Village

FUNK, Neb., Aug. 24.—(UP)—There'll be no property tax in Funk this year, principally because it doesn't cost anything to conduct the municipal offices.

Funk (pop. 150) will have only a poll tax as a direct assessment. Taxes from a beer parlor, tobacco shop and a pipe line company carry the remainder of the operating burden.

THIEVES LOOT HOME AT CORONA DEL MAR

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 25.—Thieves who looted the summer home of Ralph Modjeska, son of the late Madame Helene Modjeska, and supervising engineer in charge of work on the Golden Gate bridge, had apparently made good their escape to day with everything movable in the house, according to police reports. Report of the looting was made by Felix Modjeska, grandson of the famous diva, and former city councilman.

The thieves had apparently backed a truck up to the house at 701 Goldenrod avenue in Corona Del Mar and set to their moving. A bathtub, wash basins, fixtures, stove, two bedroom suites, dressers, chairs, and tables were taken, leaving nothing but the shell of the house. Value of the stolen articles is estimated at several thousand dollars.

KIN OF PRESIDENTS COMMITS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(UP) —The death of Nicholas McCarthy Harrison, 33, descendant of Presidents William Henry Harrison and Benjamin Harrison and a grand-nephew of Gen. Lew Wallace, author, was pronounced a suicide today by police.

His socially-prominent wife, Virginia, found him unconscious with a bullet through the temple shortly after they returned home from a dinner engagement in Pasadena. He died a few hours later in a hospital.

Mrs. Harrison, hysterical and at the point of collapse, was unable to supply police a motive for her husband's act.

SOVIET RUSSIA SENDS PROTEST IN SHARP NOTE

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Soviet Russia holds Japan responsible for a month-long series of incidents in the Chinese Eastern railway zone of Manchukuo, it was revealed today with publication of a sharp protest note sent to Tokyo.

The note protested the arrests, over a period of many weeks, of 88 Russian employes of the railway, of which Russia owns a half share.

Diplomatically it was of importance because it ignored the repeated Japanese assertion that Manchukuo, the state it made out of Chinese Manchuria, is solely qualified to deal with incidents in its territory.

Russian Ambassador Constantin Yurenev at Tokyo, in making the protest to the Japanese foreign office, said:

"The Soviet government, believing Manchurian (Manchukuoan) authorities and the Japanese government responsible for the actions, has directed me to declare to you its protest."

Russia's long deferred direct protest to Japan came as the climax to an increasingly angry series of protests by Russian newspapers, under the government's close control, and representations of the Russian consul at Harbin, Manchukuo.

Blames Japan

The Russian note was in restrained terms, but its tone revealed that Russia blames Japan, not Manchukuo, for the incidents which Russians believe are a calculated effort to force Russia to sell, on sacrifice terms, its share of the important railway to Manchukuo. Negotiations for the sale broke down recently.

The note said the Japanese war office in an official communique August 17 made the "unheard of statement" that arrests of Russian citizens and attacks on the railroad were arranged by the Russian far eastern army, to which the war office assigned leadership of the bandit gangs which raid the road.

"These statements of the war office," said the protest, "are accompanied by declarations of an aggressive nature directed at the Soviet Union. The Japanese government can not but understand that such frequent statements of the Japanese war office, along with the activities in Manchuria, manifest the growth of aggressive intentions of certain official Japanese circles."

RETENTION OF JURISDICTION IN CASE URGED

Contending that gambling is an offense contrary to public welfare and that the eight Seal Beach men charged with conspiracy to evade the gambling laws should be tried on felony counts in the Santa Ana justice court, Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner filed an answer to the objection of the defendants in having their case tried in Santa Ana.

Judge Kenneth Morrison will give his opinion Monday on whether he shall have jurisdiction of the case. When the preliminary hearing came up Tuesday, defense counsel interposed the request for a change of venue on the grounds that the offense charged in the complaint was a misdemeanor.

Under Section 162 of the penal code, conspiracy in some cases is a misdemeanor and felonies in others. The defense is claiming that gambling is an offense contrary to public morals and therefore, conspiracy to commit gambling is a misdemeanor. Turner takes the opposite view that gambling is an offense against the public welfare, and thus a felony.

If Judge Morison grants the change of venue, through interpreting the alleged offense a misdemeanor, the case will be heard before a jury in the Seal Beach justic court. If not, the preliminary hearing will be held September 5 in Santa Ana. The defendants were arrested in Balard's Chip Parlor on July 26.

CHARGES CODES CURTAIL SOME FARM BUYING

Conducting a survey and investigation concerning alleged discriminations against cooperative organizations under terms of the AAA and NRA, J. J. Deuel, director of the law and utility department of the California Farm Bureau Federation, was in conference with memebrs of the ways and means committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau here today.

Under the various codes and agreements of the NRA and AAA, agricultural cooperative purchasing has been curtailed in some instances, according to R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm Bureau, particularly in regard to fertilizer and oil for spraying.

Oil companies, Flaherty declared, have cancelled all agreements with the agricultural cooperative organizations, for the purchase of oil sprays, an action which will cost citrus growers of Southern California thousands of dollars.

Deuel's department is making an investigation, and he was to report progress on the check to members of the committee at today's meeting. While oil companies have refused altogether to sell to the co-operative groups, it has been difficult to find a solution to the purchase of fertilizers in the same manner, it was said, because of technicalities in the NRA and AAA codes and agreements.

It was pointed out that President Roosevelt has said cooperative organizations shall not be discriminated against in making purchases.

SUGGEST WAY OUT OF HEAVY CITY TAX LEVY

Justifying action of the Taxpayers' league in opposing the $250,000 bond issue for the redemption of the delinquent 1915 Act special assessment bonds, information was presented last night in Laguna Beach before city officials to show that it will probably be necessary to levy the proposed $1.40 tax in addition to the regular city tax.

Mayor Harold Pomeroy of Southgate, field representative for the California League of Municipalities, described procedure being followed in other cities on the 1915 Act question and said that in virtually every case, it was held against public policy to levy a large tax and more advisable to show good faith by raising a small tax, and paying the bondholders over a period of years from funds secured by economy and governmental surpluses.

He suggested that the Santa Ana council levy a 10 or 15 cent tax per $100 of assessed valuation, take whatever surplus monies are in the treasury and pay off the oldest delinquencies. This can be repeated next year and indefinitely until the bonds are redeemed, he said.

Even though the bondholders resort to legal action to force the city to pay the bonds all at once, in compliance with a recent decision of the supreme court, it is doubtful if a judgment could be secured or even collected, Pomeroy said. He declared that in most instances, when other councils made reasonable attempts to meet obligations, bondholders were willing to cooperate and take their payments over a longer period of time.

This is exactly the method proposed by Councilman A. F. LeGaye and A. G. Diehl, chairman of the Taxpayers' League, in meeting the delinquencies on the bonds, which are now nearly $220,000. They said that if the bond issue had been passed and $250,000 made available, the bonds would have been redeemed near face value, whereas the securities can now be liquidated at a discount and effect a considerable saving to the taxpayers.

Both LeGaye and Diehl maintain there are considerable economies that can be effected in the city government, and surpluses that can be used, to help create funds with which to meet the delinquencies.

Following the adjournment of the League of Municipalities meeting last night, Pomeroy held a long discussion with the Santa Ana officials, who virtually agreed among themselves that Pomeroy's findings in other cities were applicable in Santa Ana. This would call for the levying of a 10 cent rate to raise about $15,000 on the 1934-35 assessed valuation, and the transferring of several thousand dollars from the water fund.

SEWAGE WATER RECLAMATION WORK STARTS

Two new SERA projects were placed in operation today, one of them the long-awaited sewage reclamation project, it was announced by W. J. Tway, manager of the works placement bureau of the Orange county SERA.

Seven men were placed to work on Myrtle street, Santa Ana, between Artesia and Sullivan, where the experimental sewage reclamation plant is to be located. While seven men were assigned to work today, the project calls for the use of four mechanics and five laborers.

The plant is to be operated for one year, and by that time it is expected to be determined whether or not the reclamation of sewage water for irrigation purposes is feasible in this county. Murray Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer, is in charge of the project, which is sponsored by the board of supervisors.

Construction work on the plant is mainly to erect a building to house the plant with its recording gauges and meters. The plant is expected to cost around $3000, of which the SERA will pay $1910 in labor and the balance of $890, for materials and supervision, has been subscribed by various political subdivisions and other organizations in the county interested in the water program. The Farm Bureau has long advocated the reclamation of sewage water as a conservation measure.

The other project started today was to copy and rearrange the city records in the city hall at Anaheim. This project will give two stenographers work.

PLEDGES MADE BY MRS. SPANGLER ON RECORDER'S POST

Belle J. Spangler, speaking to a group of her friends concerning her candidacy for county recorder, pledged herself to give to this office the same business efficiency that has characterized her activity in former banking positions, county welfare department and in many civic organizations, according to reports of the meeting.

Mrs. Spangler has been a resident of California for the past 30 years and has resided in Orange county for 15 years. MUNICIPALITY GROUP TALKS PLANS ON DIVISION OF GAS TAX FUNDS FOR CITY USE

Prospect of increased road building in Orange county in the near future was predicted last night in an exhaustive discussion and presentation of estimates concerning proposed municipal allocations from the state gasoline tax at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in the Laguna Beach hotel last night.

City Engineer J. L. McBride of Santa Ana, Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim, Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea and Mayor Harold Pomeroy of South Gate and the California League of Municipalities, were the chief speakers on the gas tax and told of efforts being made by the State League and allied groups to force a more equitable distribution of the state funds.

McBride, a member of the state league gas tax committee and Mann, a member of the state league advisory committee, opened the discussion with a report of a meeting in Los Angeles last Saturday. Action taken by the league officials at this meteing proposed that the state highway department should take over the maintenance and construction of state highways through cities, and that cities should receive one-half cent of the three-cent gasoline tax for use on streets in cities other than state highways.

McBride said that following further study of this plan and the program submitted by the Automobile Club of Southern California, he had discovered that for a county the size of Orange county, where cities constituted 65 per cent of the county population, the club plan would return about 50 per cent more money to the cities than the league plan. This finding was verfied by Pomeroy in a later talk, although neither cared to recommend or declare that any plan was to be adopted at once by the league.

At the present time, cities receive one-quarter cent of the tax with various restrictions and for use only on state highways. If proposed legislation can be effected this year under either of the plans, the money will be available for all types of street work.

McBride presented tentative schedules of money which would be received by Orange county cities under both plans, based on population and the present amount of the state tax. There would be $140,000 available for htis county from the auto club plan and only $90,000 from the so-called "State League plan," he said.

The table of cities is as follows, with the small figure denoting the league amount, and the larger total, the auto club estimate: Santa Ana, $35,760, $55,020; Fullerton, $12,803, $19,712; Anaheim, $12,965, $19,950; Orange, $9508, $14,616; Huntington Beach, $4349, $6692; Newport Beach, $2593, $3990; Tustin, $1089, $1680; Seal Beach, $1369, $2100; Brea, $2870 $4400; La Habra, $2079, $4102; Laguna Beach, $2327, $3570; Placentia, $1803, $2912; San Clemente, $789, $1204.

President A. C. Hasenjaeger, on approval of the county league appointed Mayor L. A. Hogue of Brea, Councilman Leo Sheridan of Anaheim and Councilman Willis Warner of Huntington Beach to confer with Mr.Bride, Mann and Pomeroy at the Green Cat cafe in Santa Ana Monday noon and riscuss the matter in detail and prepare a stand for the county league. This committee will report to the executive committee of the league and take its decision to the state convention.

Assemblyman Craig, who has been of considerable aid to cities in securing allocations from the gas tax, commended the league for the interest taken in the matter and urged that the final plan proposed be one that can be passed through the legislature. He traced the history of the gas tax movement and the work of certain men, including McBride, in working on the gas tax question.

Pomeroy explained the various plans being proposed and predicted that a change in present laws was almost assured at the next session of the legislature.

Tom Murphine, former mayor of San Clemente, was a visitor at the meeting and spoke briefly in commendation of the efforts of the league in securing further funds.

Others who were present and introduced by President Hasenjaeger were W. W. Hay of Brea, member of the county SERA committee, Raymond Best, city attorney of Riverside, and Fred C. Rowland, new city councilman of Santa Ana.

2000 MILES OF STATE ROUTES TO BE MARKED

Keeping abreast of modern traffic requirements, the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile association in the north, are now making surveys for the erection of approximately 6000 new number signs on 2000 miles of main state highways. The new plan adopted by the state is modeled upon the United States system of numbering national highways and is designed to aid touring visitors as well as California motorists.

Routes classed as east and west will be given even numbers and north and south routes odd numbers. In order to avoid duplication, state numbers will not be given U. S. numbered routes. Having a triangular shape with black figures on white background, the new sign is easily read.

Southern counties will be posted by the Automobile Club of Southern California and northern counties by the California State Automobile association, under existing agreements which provide that the state purchase all materials at its own expense and the automobile clubs pay the cost of transportation of signs, labor and equipment.

Following is a list of the numbered routes which are of vital interest to Orange county:

Route 6—Santa Monica to Junction Route 39 near Fullerton.

Route 10 — Junction Route 3 south of Venice to Junction U. S. 101 at Santa Ana, via Manchester avenue and Santa Ana boulevard.

Route 14—Hermosa Beach to Junction Route 18 near Olive, via Artesia avenue.

Route 39—Junction Route 3 near Huntington Beach to Junction Route 2 near Valyermo, via Covina.

MORE ADEQUATE CONTROL OF LIQUOR HELD MAJOR ISSUE BEFORE SOUTHLAND CITIES

More adequate control of the liquor situation and increased regulatory power for cities of California was cited as one of the three major issues before California cities today by Bernard Brennan, city attorney of Glendale, who spoke on legislative problems at the monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in Laguna Beach last night.

Brennan is chairman of the legislative policy committee of the California League of Municipalities and discussed in detail the many matters that are being proposed for recommendation at the state convention next month in September. He pointed out that the League could not hope to have the state legislature remedy all the laws at one session and only the most pressing would be urged by the League.

Probably the three most important problems are liquor control, more returns from the state gasoline tax and the elimination of the sales tax on municipal purchases, Brennan said.

"There are many suggestions to give cities increased liquor control," Brennan said. "It is generally agreed that zoning should be left to cities and is purely a local problem. Many say that the cities should be allowed to regulate closing hours and have jurisdiction on other normal police functions.

"With needed reforms, even if a city could not rid itself of the liquor traffic, it could impose reasonable limitations on the traffic," Brennan said. "Many cities also ask for the right to license liquor establishments for revenue purposes. Others favor the revenue but not licensing for regulation, since the two are closely allied.

"The suggested increase in the state tax on liquor establishments would tend to increase revenue to cities but would make a corresponding decrease in the number of stores and eliminate the unstable merchant. Another suggested remedy is to ask for a decrease in the percentage of the license money retained by the state. The cities now receive 60 per cent after the expenses of administering the laws are deducted, which often leave the municipality with little or no revenue."

Brennan treated about 15 other important legislative matters being discussed by his committee. One suggestion was to have the legislature pass an enabling act to permit cities to get control of public utilities, without floating a bond issue or increasing bonded indebtedness. One method would be to allow the city to build up a reserve fund from tax payments or to create a special sinking fund for acquiring the utilities over a period of time.

"Public utilities should also be required to keep intelligible books so that cities can tell the correct amount to be received from the utility from franchise taxes. At present, the utility statement has to be accepted when it is generally known that the city is not receiving sufficient revenue," Brennan said.

Limitation of municipal liability by requiring notice of defective streets, property, and other matters before judgments will be paid, was cited. The need for separate tax bills for special assessment bonds and regular city expenses was urged as a means of reducing delinquencies.

Brennan said that printing of delinquent tax lists was a moot question, because the method of posting copies was nearly as expensive as printing in newspapers, since added copies had to be prepared for the use of the public.

Touching on needed relief for special assessment bonds, he said that constitutional change should be made to relieve cities of entire liability for delinquencies. Reduction of interest on city bank deposits, the need of a state league headquarters in Sacramento to guide legislation through governmental channels, need for cooperation on the various issues, and a request for advice from the county league were touched upon by Brennan.

Rubber mileposts that are pushed out of the way when struck by an automobile, and then rebound into position, have been installed along some German highways.

Property owners and voters of the Fifth Supervisorial District are demanding a change in their representation on the County Board of Supervisors. They want a "New Deal" right here at home. We have hired the same man over and over again for the past twelve years—and the most of us have seen this employee just four times during that period; once when he was first asking for the job, again when he came around for "One more term," then when he was after the third term, and during this campaign when he wants another four years' job.

We maintain, that isn't good business; no successful person would follow such practice in his private business, and it cannot be followed successfully in public matters. The administration of our county affairs is most important, and the public employee who functions to the best interest of the taxpayers should of necessity keep in close and constant touch with his constituency—the people for whom he is working.

LOGICAL MAN FOR SUPERVISOR

With Water Conservation, Flood Control and Harbor Development major issues before the County, it is most important that we elect John Sauers to the Board of Supervisors, a man who is a life-long friend of Secretary of War George Dern, in charge of Federal Rivers and Harbors development. With the assurance of friendly consideration from the start, the advantage of Mr. Sauers in best serving the people in these major issues is at once apparent, if he is elected to the County's governing body.

Emphasizing the splendid handling of the milk strike situation at Los Alamitos, storm center of the attempted invasion of Orange county, Manager Joseph W. Smoot, of the Thompson and Main dairy, said:

"Everything is going smoothly at the dairy, thanks to the sheriff's office. We were very much impressed with the way Sheriff Jackson handled the strike situation in our neighborhood. The prompt action saved us a lot of serious trouble."

(From Cypress Enterprise)

"Orange County does not propose to be annoyed by strikes led by agitators from Los Angeles . . . Sheriff Logan Jackson has utilized the slogan of "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure," and thus far his program has worked splendidly."

(Orange News)

Referring, editorially, to the danger of the milk strike crippling industry, the Orange Daily News on January 10, 1934, said:

". . . . It is, however, if allowed to develop, capable of causing serious difficulty to local industry, and as such, ought to be handled with firmness by local authority.

"It is being so handled. Instructed by the experience of other sections of the state, where unnecessary bloodshed occurred largely through the neglect of local authority, Sheriff Jackson has taken vigorous measures to control the opportunities of agitators to resort to violence. The sheriff has acted in a sane and intelligent manner and has merited the approval of the people of Orange County."

(Anaheim Bulletin)

"Following a day of quiet along the milk strike front in Orange County, authorities today expressed belief that serious trouble probably had been averted and the strike movement was on the wane. Continued watchfulness was maintained, however, by Sheriff Logan Jackson, who still was providing armed escorts for milk trucks.

"The county supervisors today assured Sheriff Jackson that they stood squarely behind him in 'whatever measures are necessary to protect the county.'

The sheriff appeared before the board to advise them of his action in employing a number of special deputies from the ranks of the unemployed, to cover the strike emergency."

—1933 County Grand Jury

LOGAN JACKSON CLUBS

Of Orange County

JUDGE J. B. TUCKER

(Fullerton News-Tribune)

"A tense situation today confronted law enforcement officials of Orange County with the Southern California milkers strike threatening to spread among 100 or more dairies in the western part of the county, affecting upward of 1000 men.

"Sheriff Logan Jackson prepared stringent measures to maintain law and order, and was ready to mobilize "as many men as needed" to meet the situation adequately."

(Orange News)

With deputy sheriffs patrolling the citrus areas last night, protecting the fumigating crews that had, for the most part returned to work after being forced off their jobs by a large band of strikers the preceding night, the attempt to force a walk-out of fumigation workers in Orange county apparently had collapsed as promptly as the recent milk strike was crushed."

(From the La Habra Star)

"Incidentally, the forces of law and order will add to their equipment a powerful weapon when the new Orange County radio station goes on the air in March. It will be one of the most up-to-date stations of its kind on the Pacific Coast . . . Sheriff Jackson is given credit for proposing the station on a county-wide basis and later developments brought in most of the cities."

(From Placentia Courier)

Before the public was aware of the latent danger involved in the milk strike, Sheriff Logan Jackson had assembled a strong group of deputies, mounted some of them in fast cars and sent them cruising on the lookout for bad spots.

Other deputies were encamped on the borders of Orange county in the vicinity of Los Alamitos. Camp fires glowing, and a group of burly, two-fisted deputies around them, warned scouts of the riot inciters that Orange county was not a healthful place to pull their rough stuff. As a result of these precautionary measures, Orange county had no riots or bloodshed.

In the event of citrus troubles, the same forearmed tactics will be employed by the sheriff's office.

KEEP CITIZENS INFORMED, SAYS CLUB REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Keeping the public constantly informed about what is going on in the legislature during and between sessions is highly important, in the opinion of the Commonwealth club of California.

Evidence of a year's study by this group, in cooperation with the American Legislators' association and other agencies, shows, however, that the citizen's knowledge of what the legislature is doing is sketchy on any but the most important questions.

Shortness ot time between the introduction of bills and their passage, lack of space in the newspapers, the expense of printing copies of bills, the inadequate system of indexing bills pending and the desire for secrecy are among reasons.

The Commonwealth club includes the following recommendations:

Lengthen the recess between the two parts of the regular legislative session from 30 days to six weeks. This would give citizens more time to learn what bills are pending and to communicate with their representatives about them if they wished.

Abolish skeleton or "high jacked" bills which have titles so vague that they can be made to cover everything from hairpins to elephants.

Print an adequate number of copies of bills pending and bills being amended, so that clerks of counties and cities, public libraries an dinterested individuals may be sppplied.

OLD AGE PENSION COSTS $1892 PER MONTH IN COUNTY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 24.—(UP)—More than 4000 persons have been added to Old Age Security rolls in California during the past year, according to a report of the department of social welfare.

The state now is spending $176,878 per month to aid 17,694 elderly people. A year ago, only $145,170 was needed for 13,432 perons.

563 Service And Amusement Places In Orange County

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—Californians liked to be served and amused.

This is the only deduction possible as a result of a survey report filed with the state by the federal government showing there were 32,474 service establishments and places of amusement in operation in California, last year.

The California service establishments and places of amusement reported total receipts for the year of $195,760,472, the report revealed. The total payroll aggregated $48,317,980.

Orange county reported 563 service establishments and places of amusement with receipts totaling $2,130,225.

For purposes of classification "service establishments" included places of business performing personal service for the public such as barber shops, beauty parlors, laundry agencies and similar esamusement serving the public such as theaters, amusement parks, shooting galleries and dance halls were included in the survey.

A dog show under the auspices of the American Kennel club will be a new feature at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona this year. While the fair will last from Sept. 15 to 30, the dog show will occupy the last three days only.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

SPEAKER

The House Office Building here showed signs of almost coming to life today. Some of the more important House members made a bee-line to Washington from Speaker Henry T. Rainey's funeral at Carrollton, Ill., despite their individual campaigns for reelection, and huddles were in progress in several offices.

Selection of a successor to Rainey is giving the boys plenty to think about. The White House is extremely interested in the matter—but how much influence the big mansion can exert is problematical.

As reported generally, Rep. Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, looks to be the best bet to step up from his present job as Majority Floor Leader. The question is, how much opposition will he have and who will be Floor Leader?

* * *

When the House was last organized, Rep. John McDuffie, of Alabama, ran against Rainey for the Speakership. He was supported by Reps. Will Bankhead, of Alabama, and Sam Rayburn, of Texas. McDuffie was soundly defeated as a result of a trade between Rainey and Byrns whereby the latter gave up his aspirations to the chair and ran instead for floor leadership.

A community of interest should exist between Speaker and Leader. House Democrats are busy trying to find out who Byrns will support for the leader's post—or whether Byrns will run for Speaker without commitments in that respect.

The North and West are demanding again that if the Speaker comes from the South the Leader should come from one of the other two directions. Astute politicians predict that this time both jobs will go south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

* * *

The Bankhead-Rayburn-McDuffie combination will be in the thick of the fight when the Democrats caucus next December but they are having trouble lining up their ticket.

McDuffie is expected to defer this time to Bankhead in the matter of seeking additional honor, Bankhead having done that for him last time.

Their problem is whether to run Bankhead for Speaker and Rayburn for Leader or vice versa.

* * *

Bankhead is the only one of the three who would be fairly acceptable to Byrns as Leader. Also, he probably could muster greater strength than Rayburn in a contest against Byrns for the Speakership. Still another angle is Bankhead's health, which hasn't been of the best recently.

Some of the close observers are betting that Bankhead will run for speaker and Rayburn for Leader. The boys who are taking these bets think Rayburn would weaken Bankhead too much if they ran as an entry. Rayburn has demonstrated his ability but many insist he is not sufficiently popular with his House colleagues.

Sentiment is being sounded out at this moment as to Rayburn's chances. If the answer doesn't sound hopeful there is a good chance Bankhead will seek a deal with Byrns whereby they would run for Leader and Speaker respectively and Rayburn would step aside.

Before the jockeying for position is over, both factions will have to promise plenty in the way of committee chairmanships and House patronage.

SHIFT

Reorganizing NRA from Hyde Park is among the less joyous jobs the President took with him.

Whether Donald Richberg steps into General Johnson's shoes openly or not, insiders say he will be pulling the strings at NRA very shortly. That much appears to have been decided. How to bow Johnson out and Richberg in is the poser.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't want it to appear that Johnson is being kicked out. Over and above his appreciation of the General's early organization efforts, the President can't afford to. It would be too much of an admission that NRA hadn't been overly successful.

On the other hand, industry has turned a definite thumb down on the fiery General. Labor doesn't regard him as the friend they first thought him to be. The White House can hardly afford to permit Johnson to dictate the nature of NRA'S reorganization—which he has been trying to do as a means of easing the pain of his own exit.

Some of those closest to the inside mechanism think a new advisory policy board will be established with Johnson as its head. This would be announced with plenty of favorable publicity for Johnson—and the advisory board could die quietly behind a screen of inattention. Meanwhile, Richberg or someone else would be designated to run the mechanics and gradually ease into the center of the saddle.

Just now the New Deal publicity setup is doing its best to keep Johnson and NRA out of the headlines long enough to make the president's announcement come very gently.

SAVED

Washington hears, despite all preliminary denials, that a deal is on whereby Rep. Jack Cochrane, of St. Louis, is going to run for his House seat again this fall regardless of having stepped out to take a bad shot at the Senate.

While Cochrane was jousting against the Senatorial nominations of Boss Tom Prendergast of Kansas City and Senator Bennett Clark, a gentleman named Joseph Lennon copped the Democratic Congressional nomination in the St. Louis district. Prior to the senatorial primary, which the Prendergast machine won, Senator Clark charged that Lennon was merely keeping Cochrane's seat warm in case t he Congressman lost out.

Cochrane denied this at the time but word comes back to Washington that Lennon is getting ready to step aside. Rep. Clarence Cannon of Mo. already has set the stage with a statement Cochrane is too valuable a member of congress to be lost to his constituents.

HOOVER

General Frank T. Hines, who has served as Veterans' administrator for some years, was in California recently and took occasion to visit his old boss, Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Hoover has just acquired a farm near his Palo Alto home and was showing it proudly to Hines.

DRUNK DRIVING SURVEY SHOWS NEED FOR LAWS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—In many states it is legally possible today for a motorist convicted of driving while drunk to escape with a fine of as little as one cent or one day in jail.

This is one of the high lights of a comprehensive report by the American Automobile association on the penalties provided in the laws of the 48 states and the District of Columbia for the offense of driving while under the influence of liquor.

"Drunken driving is a factor in the increasing toll of highway accident and one over which we must and can secure a greater measure of control by providing more uniform, adequate, reasonable and rigidly enforced penalties," Thomas P. Henry, president of the national motoring body, declared.

The A. A. A. survey, among other things, shows:

Penalties that may be legally imposed for first offense convictions range from one cent to $5000.

Jail sentences provided by law range from one day to five years.

Seven states, namely, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon and West Virginia, make jail sentences mandatory for first convictions. Three states, New Hampshire, Virginia and Rhode Island, have definitely provided by law that sentences for second convictions cannot be suspended. Suspension or revocation of driving permits is mandatory for first offenses in 31 states.

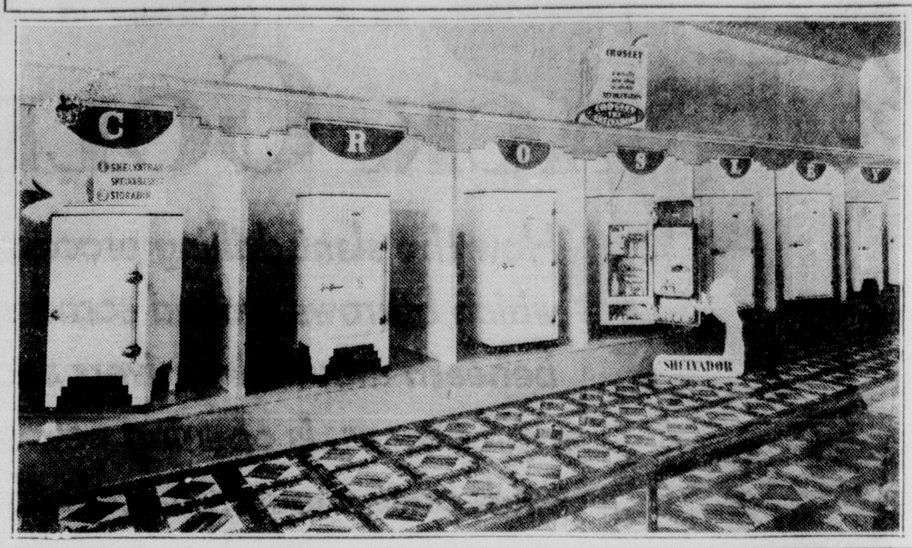

Commenting on the findings, Henry said in part:

"The penalties under the laws of many states are wholly inadequate and ineffective in practice. In other states they are unduly severe, with the result that convictions are difficult to secure.

"A reasonable standard for the treatment of this class of highway offender is furnished in the Uniform Motor Vehicle Code as recently amended by the Fourth National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. For first convictions it prescribes a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1000, or a jail sentence of not less than 10 days and not more than one year, or both. For second offenses, it prescribes a minimum mandatory jail sentence of 90 days, with an additional fine in the discretion of the court."

EXCEPTIONAL REFRIGERATOR DISPLAY

Court Notes

Jose Gutierrez, charged with failure to pay wages, had charges dismissed in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday when it was shown that he had made settlement out of court to the complaining witness.

Arthur Kerr, serving a 7½ day jail term for drunkenness, paid the $6 balance of his $15 fine and was released yesterday.

Roy E. Cartwright was given a 10 day suspended jail sentence on vagrancy charges by Judge J. G. Mitchell in police court yesterday.

Two Stolen Cars Recovered Here

Two stolen cars were recovered in Santa Ana yesterday and last night, one by the owner and one by police.

J. A. Smith, Register employe, living at 926 West Camille street, had his machine stolen from Third and Sycamore streets about midnight. While being taken home by another motorist, he saw his car parked at South Flower and Pine streets and drove it home.

The stolen car of Clyde Hopewell, 1006 1-2 West Fourth street, taken Wednesday night from the Municipal Bowl, was found by police yesterday on West Tenth street.

"CIRCUS CLOWN" WEST COAST TODAY

Filmed in the glamorous environment of the circus, "The Circus Clown," starring the noted comedian, Joe E. Brown in the title role, comes to the screen of the West Coast theater today. The picture will show for a week.

The comedian is perfectly at home in the picture, inasmuch as he was part of the circus life for many years. He is at his hilarious best in the picture as a "prop" man who becomes the leading clown of the circus after a series of thrilling incidents and uproarious situations. Patricia Ellis, Dorothy Burgess and Donald Dilloway have important parts.

Short subject include Ruth Etting in a musical revue, "Song of Fame," an oddity, "Dad Minds the Baby," a Terrytoon cartoon, "Busted Blossoms," and World News events.

Picnics and Reunions

JEWELL COUNTY

Annual mid-summer picnic reunion of former residents of Jewell county, Kansas, will be held Sunday, September 2, at South Park, Los Angeles, Avalon boulevard and East Fifty-first street, it was announced by E. A. Gildner, Los Angeles, president of the group.

NEW DIX FILM AT BROADWAY TODAY

Problems of the family triangle provide stirring drama in the picture. After the couple has been divorced, the father's love impels him to break prison bars to go to the aid of his daughter, who is in trouble. Edith Fellows and Dorothy Wilson are featured players.

The program of short subjects includes an Ernest Truex comedy, "Wrong Bottle," a Betty Boop cartoon, "Life Guard," a Magic Carpet travelogue in color, "Paradise of the Pacific," and Register World News events.

Troy Hazleton was made president, Jimmie Carlin, vice president; Pauline Birdwell, treasurer; Wesly Goodrough, secretary, and Joanna Lewis, chairman of the Lookout committee.

The society planned on making articles to go as gifts to the hospitals.

HAND MADE RUG DISPLAY NOW BEING SHOWN

Displaying a remarkable ability and ingenuity, coupled with hundreds of hours of tedious work, five hand-hooked rugs identical with the type used in the early American period, hand-made by Mrs. Tressa Sabin of Costa Mesa, now are on display at the Chandler Furniture store, Third and Main streets.

It took Mrs. Sabin six months, working a full eight hours each day, to make even one of the 9x12 hooked rugs. There are two rugs of this size, each of different design and of different materials.

One of the 9x12 rugs is made of silk, and is valued at $150, while the other is made of wool and is valued at $250. There are three other smaller throw rugs, each of them about 3x6 feet in size.

James N. Harding, manager of Chandler's, spoke highly of the quality of work in the rugs, declaring that they are the best and most attractive hand-hooked rugs he has ever seen in many years of experience in the furniture business. Choice of design and the manner in which color combinations are colored out is remarkable, he said.

In harmony with the display of the rugs, the window display has been arranged to include furniture of the early Colonial period. Included in the exhibition is a spinning wheel which is usable, and a coffee table which is a cobbler's bench. An old Boston rocker, which Harding said is coming back into favor, and a Cape Cod chair, are features of the display, with other early American period furniture.

"Shooting Benders" for Black Gold

How the slant drilling process, which burrows around corners, beneath mountains, rivers and even oceans, is opening new oil fields once thought inaccessible

The "upstairs man" sets the clamp for surveying-in a string of pipe preparatory to slant-drilling in a new direction.

This sketch shows how the slant-drilling method enables men to send pipe down around rock strata or other obstacles to strike a new oil pool.

By Andrew R. Boone

NEARLY a mile straight down, as the crow might fly were it able to penetrate the earth's crust, an oil well in southern California extended toward the black gold known to exist in a rich sand. Then it turned abruptly, much as an automobile angles around a street corner, slid off sideways 400 feet, and continued vertically again until it finally reached the underground reservoir.

At no point during the long descent were the drillers "lost." Through photographs they knew every hundred feet exactly where the drill swung, how far and in what direction the hole was being drilled off vertical.

Similar miracles are being wrought around the world with oil wells. Expert surveyors are "shooting benders" as they burrow at an angle under mountains, rivers, swamps and even the ocean. They now can open a window through the wall of a hole at any depth and send their drill off at any angle, sometimes drifting a potential well as far as a mile.

With removable whipstocks, knucklejoints which bend in the middle and bore through steel, concrete and rock to open new routes, and marvelously precise cameras which record both the angle and direction the holes are taking, drillers today can overcome any barriers set up by nature and find oil no matter where it may exist.

To the world this means that vast new fields are being opened under the famous salt domes of Texas, beneath the Pacific Ocean, under the broad Louisiana marshes, below tropical rivers, beneath Persian mountains.

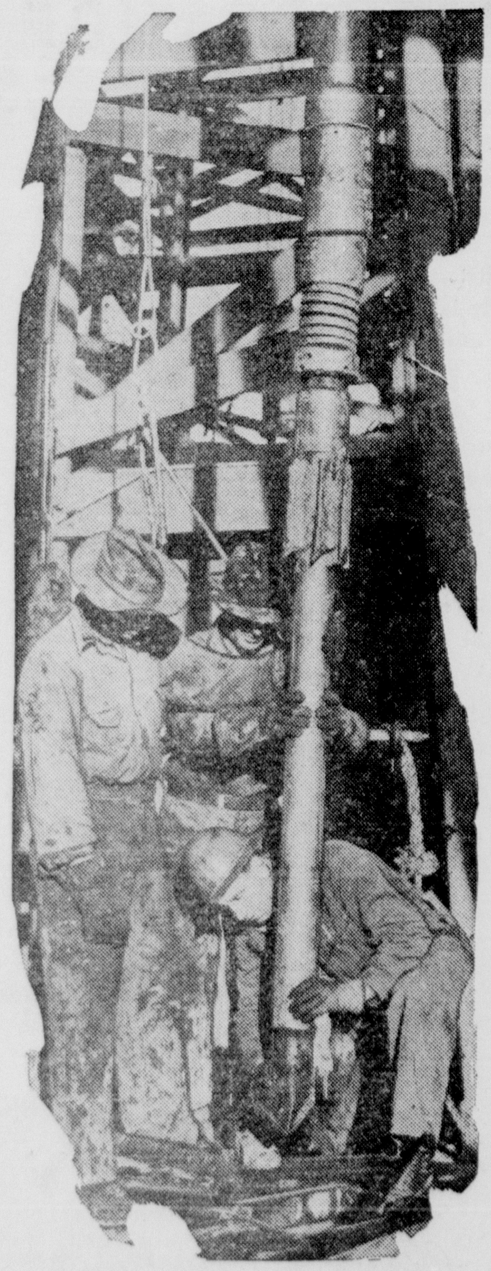

NOT until H. John Eastman, an oil well surveyor of Long Beach, Calif., commenced "slanting" holes sideways in quest of oil when it failed to flow through holes drilled straight down from the rigs, did the oil industry realize that new sources were being opened.

Yet Eastman in recent months has demonstrated that he can send holes down vertically or on a slant, at any desired angle, throwing the bit within a small circle a mile or farther underground—and show the drillers every morning with a drawing exactly where the drill is hanging! He has drifted holes as far sideways as 1100 feet while going down 4000 feet!

While the drillers run in stand after stand of pipe, surveyors measure accurately the depth and direction each stand faces. Sounds complicated, yet in a few hours these wizards of the oil fields can survey a well, start it in a new direction and leave the old hole to its own devices.

Accurate? You'd be surprised. On one recent occasion a surveyor drifted a hole 400 feet toward a Texas gasser, struck the gasser a thousand feet underground—then calmly shut off the gushing gas by pumping mud into the hole far below!

Suppose we join the surveyors and learn how they operate. We stand for the moment on the floor of an oil-bespattered derrick near Long Beach. Mr. Eastman directs proceedings. Fifty feet above our heads sits the "upstairs man," at ease in a boatswain's chair as his legs grasp the drill pipe. Before us stands the "downstairs" man with his transit.

Eastman turns to the "downstairs" man and shouts a question:

"Can you see that pepper tree about a hundred feet northwest?"

"Yes, sir."

"Upstairs?"

"I can see it."

"Okay. Use the tree as your reference."

The "downstairs" man adjusts his instrument on the tree. As he completes his "fix" he waves his arm to the man above. In a few seconds the "upstairs" surveyor screws tightly to the upper end of the pipe the bracket holding his transit, centers it on the same tree and shouts "okay" down to his co-worker.

QUICKLY the stand is lowered down the hole until the upper bracket reaches the ground level. Again the "downstairs" man fixes his instrument to the bracket, sights on the tree, notes in a book the angle and direction the pipe has turned—if any—and calls for another stand to be screwed in place. Fifty times they repeat the procedure.

But what is happening down there?

Unfortunately we cannot carry you down an oil well—but we can rely on Mr. Eastman, whose scientific instruments bring up precise pictures of feats of magic being performed down below, for an explanation.

"Unless the surveyors are accurate," he explains, as the rig shakes under the heavy load, "we are completely lost. These boys"—indicating the "upstairs" and "downstairs" men—"first face the knuckle joint or whipstock in the direction the well is to take. Then as they run in each section of pipe by checking on the same reference point they determine in which direction and how far the lowest stand has turned by the time they have run in 50 stands.

"It then is a simple matter to apply the correction and turn the entire string of drill pipe until the deflecting instrument faces in the proper direction.

"The knuckle joint, being fitted with a spring, forces the pipe at that point against the side of the hole. This throws the diamond drill against the opposite side. Thus when the pipe begins to turn, the spring and the tremendous weight of the pipe above forces the drill to bite its way out the side of the hole. That simple!

"UNDER some conditions the removable whipstock is the answer. The whipstock is a deflecting wedge fitted with a collar which is smaller than the bit, but slightly larger than the drill pipe."

Until Mr. Eastman brought out this invention, the expensive whipstocks were left permanently in the holes.

When ready to "slant" a well with this device, the crew plugs the hole with concrete, then lowers the whipstock suspended from the bit. Again, its direction is oriented as with the knuckle joint.

"The whipstock," Mr. Eastman explains, "rests its weight—as much as 3000 pounds, depending upon the size—on the plug, but the bit slides down its tapered steel face and eats its way out through the side of the hole. After it has started the hole 30 feet or so in the new direction, we pull it up, and as it re-enters the original hole it strikes the collar and hauls the deflector back to the surface."

Once the hole is deflected, how far may it be continued aslant, and how do the surveyors know where it is going?

Again—simple, to believe Mr. Eastman.

He recently perfected a movie camera which will take a picture every 90 seconds for a day or longer. Instead of actually looking at the open hole, the lens points toward a plumb bob and magnetic compass. Let's lower a camera down the hole and see what happens.

FROM a thin piano wire the delicate instrument is suspended. Every hundred feet it is halted long enough for a picture to be taken. An hour later it is hauled to the surface. Mr. Eastman interprets the invisible scene for us:

"On the tiny film registers a picture revealing not only how far in degrees the bob is hanging from vertical, but also in what direction. By matching pictures taken every 100 feet, we determine in a few minutes the exact course the hole is taking, and you can tell to the foot how far, and whether north or south, east or west, it has 'slanted' from vertical."

Mr. Eastman first produced his devices to cure crooked holes. He has restored many wandering wells back to vertical. Then he discovered he could slant a straight hole as easily as restore a crooked one.

The widest application for this sensational new system is found in Texas and Louisiana. Already 112 salt domes have been explored for oil in those states. On one dome alone—Barbar's Hill—92 holes have been drilled through the overhanging salt.

Frequently the bits were left swinging in the caverns dissolved away by water and mud. But the oil is known to be there and already preparations are being made to slant through solid rock and hard earth around the sides, thus missing the salt entirely.

IN Texas and elsewhere we see a strange mixture of modern science and ancient divining rods at work finding oil where, a few years ago, it was thought not to exist.

With counterparts of "witch sticks," which Cicero and Tacitus centuries ago mentioned as a way to see under the earth, geologists now look deep beneath the surface. Artificial earthquake waves measured by seismographs, torsion balances, magnetic dip needles and instruments measuring electrical resistance may locate oil, but the slanting devices produce it in case some natural obstacle interferes.

Differences in resistance tell them often where oil occurs. It may be beneath a river or a mountain, or under a salt dome. Dr. Ludger Mintrop, an eminent German geophysicist, brought the method to the United States several years ago and recently through it immensely valuable new oil sources have been found.

Dr. Mintrop began the manufacture of earthquakes with dynamite As the vibrations raced down and through solid earth assistants plotted from their stations, spread fan-like around the point of explosion, the location, depth, shape and inclination of buried geological structures.

Celebration To Mark Start Of Work On Jetties

CIVIC GROUPS OF PORT AREA TO PARTICIPATE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 24.—A special celebration making the start of extension work on the harbor jetties was insured as the board of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce undertook plans for the event at yesterday's meeting of the group. All civic groups of the vicinity will be asked to participate in celebrating the arrival of the first load of rock for the project, which is expected about September 15. A committee will be announced the first of next week.

Possibility of a joint Orange county entry in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena was discussed. Following receipt of a letter from the Pasadena group asking that a float be entered, the directors voted to contact the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, the Orange County Coast association and civic groups in Santa Ana and nearby towns to attempt to obtain united action on the matter.

Stating that through a joint action a more pretentious float would be possible, A. B. Rousselle, president of the chamber, plans to name a committee to undertake this work in the near future.

The chamber budget for the year, consisting of $4880, was filed. The budget, as allowed by the city council, sets $1000 for the office, $1200 for advertising, $250 for Coast association advertising, $1500 for the Tournament of Lights, radio fishing reports, $150; Boy and Sea Scouts, $600, and $180 for the baseball club.

Lew H. Wallace was appointed as a member of a joint committee from the Orange County Coast association and the Associated Chambers of Commerce to investigate fishing problems in the vicinity, and to arrange if possible for appropriate legislation restricting harmful activities of commercial fishermen.

ROAD GROUP CALLS OFF AUGUST DINNER

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 24.—The August dinner meeting of the Imperial Highway association has been postponed and the next meeting is scheduled for September 29 at Warner's Hot Springs, according to announcement made today by George Kellogg, secretary of the association.

The October meeting will be held at Brea on the 27th, when the fifth anniversary of the founding of the association will be celebrated.

PAINTERS AT WORK

BREA, Aug. 24.—C. O. Harvey, principal of the Brea-Olinda Union High school, states that an extensive SERA project is being carried on throughout the high school plant with the painting of all window and door sashes. Four painters are being employed, furnished by the SERA, and the work will be completed before the opening of school on September 10. The project, Harvey states, represents about 600 man days.

BALBOA ISLAND GROUP READY FOR PROGRAM SATURDAY EVE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 24.—With the addition of several musical groups and the alignment of stops to be made by serenading floats, plans for the third Venetian Nights carnival sponsored by the Balboa Island Water Carnival association were completed yesterday, according to announcement made by J. A. Beek, secretary of the group. The carnival is slated for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in conjunction with the aquatic program of Newport-Balboa.

Headlining the list of entertainers will be several Los Angeles organizations, notably the Hawaiian singers, a group of artists specializing in melodies of the south seas, and a cornet duo. A group of minstrels will occupy one of the floats under the direction of Clarence G. White of Newport Beach.

Old favorites will be back with the serenading parade. The Elinor Beckwith Trio, with Ontonia Melilo and the Terwilliger Trio, will occupy one of the gaily decorated floats. The boathouse quartet, well known group of island musicians, will make an appearance in the parade. A xylophone novelty featuring Ray Graybill has been announced.

The floats will stare from the Balboa Island bridge at 8 p. m. sharp, and will make nine stops in the evening, presenting a continuous two-hour program of music from the water. Serenading points will be at the Balboa Yacht club, the south ends of Marin, Coral, Collins, Opal and Emerald avenues and the north end of Garnet and Saphire avenues. One extra stop will be made on the mainland, at East Newport, at the pier of Clerence G. White.

MAY ASK STATE HELP ON TAXES IN BEACH AREA

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 24.—Speculation was rife today here as to what will be the reaction on the part of affected property owners, and as to what steps, if any, they may invoke to arrest the collection of the almost confiscatory assessment levies placed against them in connection with the financing of the Broadway and the Sleepy Hollow improvement districts.

Coupled with these observations, it was hinted that the property owners may take up the matter with candidates for the legislature, which body, it was learned, may be asked to enact necessary relief legislation. The improvements were ordered under the arbitrary provisions of the Mattoon act, repealed at the last session of the state legislature.

Distribution of assessed valuations, amounts required to be raised to meet deficits and current obligations, and levy rates, in each zone of the Broadway improvement district, as adopted by resolution at the council meeting held Wednesday night, are shown in the following figures: Zone A, assessed valuation, $20,490; to raise $3967.17, rate, $19.38; Zone B, valuation, $15,355; raise $8644.05; rate, $56.36; Zone C, valuation, $4085; raise $4276.53; rate, $104.68 (more money to be raised on special levy tax than its assessed valuation); Zone D, valuation, $3795; raise $181.98; rate, $4.79; Zone E, valuation, $18,390; raise $873.33; rate, $3.66; Zone F, valuation, $5220; raise $218.38; rate, $4.18; and Zone G, assessed valuation, $7310; to raise $236.57, rate, $3.23. Altogether current requirements for the present fiscal year total $10,521.47. To this sum must be added a deficit of $7676.54, remaining from the fiscal year of 1933-34.

The Sleepy Hollow improvement district calls for $5068.53 for the current fiscal year and $3917.99 to cover deficits remaining from the preceding fiscal year. The total assessed valuation of the district is $20,825 with a levy rate of $43.16 on each $100 of assessed valuation.

SCHOOL FACTS PRESENTED AT LIONS SESSION

BREA, Aug. 24.—Speaking on school problems from the angle of finances and taxation, Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, addressed the Brea Lions at their weekly luncheon Thursday in the Masonic hall, R. E. Barnes presiding.

Adkinson deplored the fact that more than 30,000 qualified teachers are unemployed in the United States and that 3,000,000 children in America during the past year had been denied the privilege of attending school because of financial conditions which either curtailed or entirely eliminated the maintenance of schools. The speaker was presented by Louis Papillo, program chairman.

Frank Pierce, of Santa Ana, favored with three baritone solos, being accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong of the same city.

E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, deputy governor of district No. 4, spoke of the 1935 convention in San Diego. Joe Neuls reported on the game between Brea and San Diego Lions Saturday, the score being 6 to 1, and stated that a return game is scheduled for the evening of September 1 on the Brea field. C. O. Harvey reported on the county council meeting in San Diego.

Guests present were Sheriff Logan Jackson, County Auditor W. T. Lambert, Harold Yost, candidate for recorder, all of Santa Ana, and William Rogers of the Birch Oil company.

PLAN LODGE SOCIAL

BREA, Aug. 24.—Plans for holding a district friendship night were discussed at Wednesday night's meeting of Trinity Rebekah lodge, with Noble Grand Effie Law presiding. The date has been tentatively set for September 30 and a box social will be one of the features of the evening. Mrs. Law will head the committee on arrangements.

150-ACRE H. B. TRACT LEASED; DOME OIL WELL DOWN 4030 FEET

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 24.—The east side well of the Dome Oil company on the Newland-Borchard tract will set casing at 4030 feet. Hamilton and Milburn of the Dome Oil company have arranged for a string of three-inch drill pipe and will go into the sand 300 or 400 feet to ascertain to some extent its depth before setting casing.

Mrs. Mary J. Newland has leased her 150-acre tract near the Dome Oil company well, across Hampshire avenue to the east of the well, for six months to a private individual whose name has not been divulged, the lessee paying a cash bonus of several hundred dollars for the lease. Some of the major companies are now scouting the east side for leases and the Standard Oil company will shortly erect a derrick and drill a new well offsetting the Dome well, the state permit having been issued some time ago.

Scouts who have worked the Dome cores over and kept tab on the well are making enthusiastic reports back to the lease departments of their companies, predicting a much stronger well on the Dome lease than oil men had expected, according to reports today.

The formation showed four or five hundred feet of sandy shale, then a hardening of the shale into hard shale, suitable for cap rock, and then a thoroughly saturated oil sand. Into this sand will go the smaller hole for 200 feet or 400 feet. The drill crew and geologists think they can set their eight-inch on the hard shale and get a good water shutoff and then take a test of the oil sand below.

LAGUNA GRADE SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 17

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 24.—In order to facilitate the seating of both high school and grammar school pupils at the opening of the Laguna city schools next month, the date for the opening of the grammar school, originally set for September 10, has been changed to September 17, inquiries at the office of City Superintendent of Schools L. T. Simmons revealed today. The high school classes, however, will begin on September 10, as originally planned.

It also was announced that all high school students residing in the Laguna Beach high school district must attend the local school unless given written permission and that such permission will be limited to present members of the senior classes due to graduate in June, next year.

Frank P. Gowan, local civil engineer, has been employed temporarily as superintendent of construction in connection with erection of the new temporary four-classroom building to be located in the rear of the auditorium and used for housing high school students.

The ways and means committee will comprise Mrs. Naomi Nash, Veva Holland, Ella Stumbo, Ruth Templeman and Mildred Shoff.

Florence Mathews reported on the condition of Hazel White, a member of the unit, who is recovering from an illness and is now at Balboa. She also reported on the county council convention held at Huntington Beach on August 21 and stated the next council meeting will be held in Anaheim Park September 11, with a potluck dinner to be served at noon. Cecile Finch and Vivian Nicodemus also attended the council meeting, the latter reporting the presentation of a gift from the Brea unit to Mrs. Florence Smith, recent fifth area president, as a token of gratitude for her assistance during the past year.

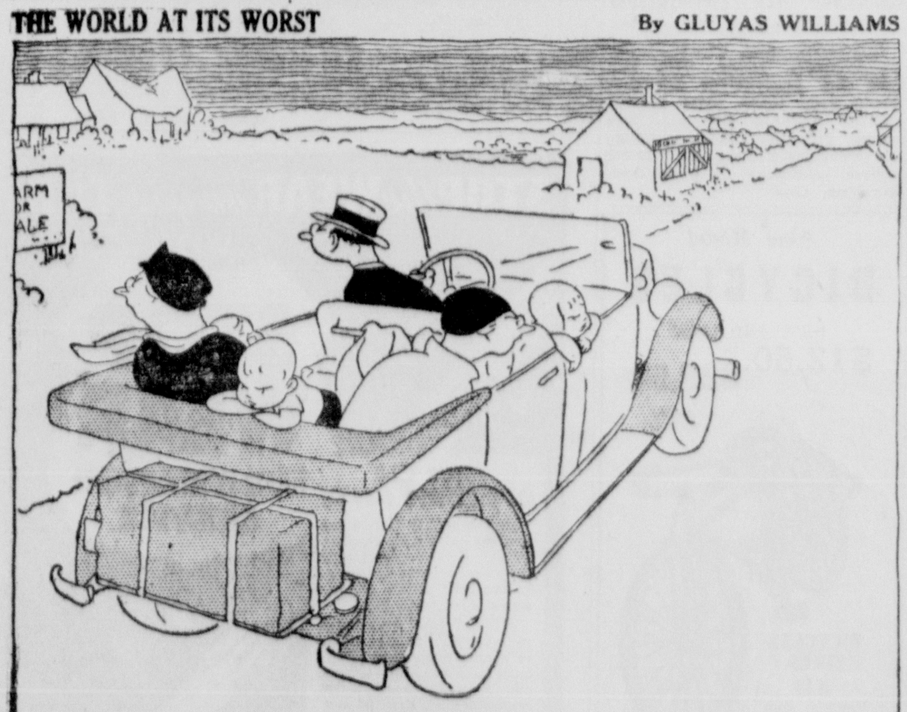

Mrs. Nicodemus gave high lights from the state convention at which she and Mrs. Bernice Curtis were delegates from the Brea unit. Mrs. Craig stated that meetings of the baby clinic will be resumed on September 6.

Lands 178-Pound Fish Off Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 25.—A 178-pound black sea bass was landed by Capt. Charles Abrams, 325 Legion street, while fishing off his boat "La Vearne" near Dana Point this week. After a battle that lasted nearly five hours, during which at times Abrams was nearly dragged from the stern of his boat, the big fish was finally landed.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monnie O'Dare, young and beautiful, sails for Europe as the companion of Miss Anstice Gorey, an old friend. Monnie is going to forget Dan Cardigan, believing he has jilted her for Sandra Lawrence. Sandra, pretending to be Monnie's friend, has been trying to win him from her. Dan's parents who look down upon Monnie because the O'Dares are poor favor the match with Sandra.

In London, Arthur Mackenzie, rich, middle-aged New Yorker, asks Monnie to marry him. Before she has given him her answer she receives a letter from Dan explaining his neglect and begging her to forgive him. Monnie decides to return home, taking the first boat. Mackenzie, who has been called back to New York on business, sails at the same time.

Meanwhile in Belvedere, Monnie's home town, it is reported that Sandra and Dan are engaged.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

The train slowed. Monnie, marshalling her forces and making certain her bags were all in order, felt a curious surge of excitement. She was home! Home! Home at last after the long ocean voyage, the dash across New York to make the morning train to Belvedere. Arthur Mackenzie had been everything that was kind and thoughtful. Monnie had felt, on leaving him, a pang of compunction. It seemed unfair that she should be able to give him nothing in return.

"Write me," he had said, holding her hand, on parting. "If anythinq goes wrong—if things don't fall out as you expect." And Monnie had promised lightly. Why should anything go wrong now? She and Dan would be reconciled. They would be married directly after Christmas when his uncle's legacy set him free. She had no fears now. All the way seemed to be clear for her. The trip already seemed like an agreeable dream.

No one knew she was coming. She had not wired—she had thought she would surprise them all. It was strange, arriving on the platform with no one to greet her. Strange and exciting, too. Old Marley Brockway who drove the "Rapid Fire Taxi" took her bags, looking at her a bit curiously, she thought.

"Been away, I see." That was old Marley, always. As if you'd be getting off the train otherwise, Monnie said yes.

"Folks know you was comin'?"

She shook her head.

The ancient automobile rattled along Main street. Monnie felt self-conscious, riding alone. How strange to see the town exactly as she had left it five weeks ago! Nothing had changed. What should she say to her mother—to Kay—about her sudden return? They would think it extremely odd. Well, she was in for that now, for all the explanations. They would be glad to see her and so perhaps would not ask too many questions. After she had satisfied them she would let Dan know she was back. Dan! Every man on the street, walking in her direction, might be Dan!

* * *

"Big excitement in town last night."

"There was?" Monnie wasn't really listening. She knew Marley and his "big excitements." Probably a dog fight.

"Yes, sir! Accident on the river road. People all bunged up." Marley clucked dolefully.

"Really." Monnie was thinking of her mother—what she would say to her.

"Took 'em to the hospital," the cabmen related with relish. "Hurt bad, I guess."

She listened with her thoughts far away. Once as the car took a corner cautiously she thought she saw a little group staring at her curiously. It was the usual crowd of ne'er-do-wells who hung around the fire engine house. Monnie shrugged her shoulders. The news of her return would soon be all about town.

"Mebbe you know 'em. Fact is, I'm sure you do," old Marley was droning on. "They was—"

Who the victims of the accident were the girl was destined not to know just then, as a milk wagon, drawn by a nervous horse, dashed across the path of the cab and Marley was too upset by the incident to chatter further. In another minute Monnie alighted at her own door.

She tried the knob, found the door locked and used the knocker vigorously. After an instant steps sounded and her mother appeared. Her eyes widened.

"Monnie! What on earth—? You are not sick?"

"Never that." Monnie embraced the small figure with vigor. "I'm fine and I've had a wonderful time! But I thought I'd loafed long enough—"

"But Miss Anstice?" Mrs. O'Dare's brow wrinkled anxiously.

"She found those old friends of hers in London and is going to see lots of them. She didn't mind."

It wasn't many mothers, Monnie reflected, who would ask so few questions as hers. Mrs. O'Dare appeared satisfied with the vague explanation though no doubt she was thinking her own thoughts.

"We've got a pick-up supper," she worried. "Nothing like what I would have had if I'd known you were coming."

* * *

The girl laughed joyously. This was getting home—having mother worry about what you ate and how you looked. She had missed it—oh, how she had missed it! The shabby little house, warm and cozy, the deep chairs, the books under the lamp. How familiar and yet how strange it all looked after the salons and cafes! Monnie wondered fleetingly what Arthur Mackenzie would have thought of her home. Then she tossed her head!

"Kay will be here soon," Mrs. O'Dare told her. "Mark's working at the Boston store. I told you that when I wrote, didn't I? He runs errands after school. He's saving his money for Christmas."

"And Bill?" Monnie was almost afraid to ask about Bill. Maybe he had gone off and married Angie while she'd been away.

"Bill is like a different person these days," said Monnie mother. Her face lightened. "He's—Monnie, I must tell you! It's all off between him and Angie."

"Not really?" Monnie was incredulous. The mother nodded.

"Yes. Angie went back to her husband two weeks ago. She'd been acting rather queerly lately. When Bill called her she was never in. Do you know, Monnie, I really think she cared about Bill and that she decided this was the best way out for them all? She knows Stan—that's her husband's name—has a vicious temper and that he'd make trouble for her. He never wanted to let her go, really, and had threatened Bill. You don't know how relieved I am about it all, although I'm sorry for the poor little thing! Angie really has some fine qualities."

"So that's one more mountain turned into a molehill," Monnie murmured, fluffing her hair before the hall mirror. "How I worried about that situation all summer, thinking Bill's life would be spoiled by such a marriage! You say he's taking it all right?"

"Yes, I think he's really relieved, deep down," the mother explained. "He was infatuated with Angie at first. She is pretty. And then the excitement of knowing she was forbidden fruit, another man's wife, kept up the feeling. You know how Bill is! Stubborn as a mule. He got the idea Angie was being mistreated and that he was her champion. When we accepted her—what else could we do.—the thrill wore off. He wasn't really in love with her and seeing her all the time quite casually rubbed off the bloom."

"You're a wise woman," Monnie marveled. "You see through all of us."

* * *

Kay burst in, interrupting this colloquoy. Kay in a brown suit with a green beret set saucily on the side of her bright curls. How pretty she was! Prettier than anyone Monnie had seen since she'd been away.

"You wretch!" Kay was exclaiming. "Barging in like this without letting us know!"

"I thought you liked surprises." Monnie avoided Kay's penetrating glance.

Kay's eyes flew to her mother's. "Has she heard?"

Monnie saw the quick frown and shake of the head her mother gave in return. Curiosity rose in a tide.

"Heard what? What have you been keeping from me."

"It's nothing." Her mather spoke almost apologetically. "Nothing you ought to be greeted with on your arrival home at any rate."

"Bad news?" Monnie's heart began to beat fast.

"She might as well know," Kay informed her mother gravely. Then she turned to Monnie. "Dan Cardigan was hurt in a motor accident last night," she said. "He's in the hospital."

Monnie got to her feet a bit unsteadily. "I—there must be something I can do! Can I see him?"

"I don't think so," Kay said, slowly. "It's serious. Internal injuries—and they're afraid of concussion. This morning when I talked to someone in the office there was a report they might operate."

Monnie clenched her hands at her sides. "I've got to see him," she said slowly, painfully. "He wrote me — I got the letter in London. Mother, you may as well know it. Dan is the only one I have ever loved. I came home to marry him."

"Marry—?" Mrs. O'Dare flashed again that signal glance to Kay. "Tell her," she said quietly.

Kay looked away compassionately. "Dan and Sandra Lawrence were married by a justice of the peace last night," she said tonelessly. "Half an hour before the accident."

STARS, OILERS PLAY FOR TITLE

By HARRY GRAYSON

When a pitcher is not as fast as he once was, it isn't advisable for him to go around stirring up the hitters.

"If I say one team is going to finish in front all I do is create a lot of trouble for myself," explains Grimes, who on Aug. 18 celebrated his 41st birthday as a member of the Pittsburgh club, with which he launched his major league career 18 years ago.

"A couple of other outfits probably won't agree with me, and the next time I work against them they'll say to themselves, 'So this is the guy who thinks we're out of the race, eh?' Then they'll bear down on me a little bit extra, and the next thing I know they'll be hitting the shirt off me.

"I have definite ideas about most things in this game, but it's bad business for an active player—and I'm not through with baseball yet although baseball may think it's through with me—to express opinions. I know what hitter is easiest for me to get out, but do you believe I'd tell him? If I did, he'd probably become the hardest. 'So Grimes thinks I'm easy, eh?' Wham!

* * *

Dean Eats His Words

"I'll give you an example of what talking out of turn can do to a man, and Dizzy Dean is only 23. All Dizzy had to do to lick the Cubs was scale his glove onto the field. In July, of last year, the Oklahoman struck out 17 of them.

"So the night before his next start against them, he publicly invited the fans to come out to the park and watch him stand the Cubs on their heads. That made the Cubs mad. They thumped the daylight out of him, and he's been unable to finish a game against them since. They chased him three times before the final gong called them off him last fall, and have trimmed him in three of the five games he has lost this year.

"The average pitcher is at his best for from three to seven years. He doesn't learn much during that time. He's just firing the ball and they're not hitting him to any great extent. For a while he can pitch high and outside to a certain hitter, and make him fly out. Then there comes a time when that hitter starts cracking high outside balls.

"The trouble with most pitchers is that they do not realize that the time has come to do something else.

* * *

BASE-RUNNERS BOTHERSOME

A lot of pretty good pitchers of the present day will have trouble if base running ever comes back. It's one thing to pitch when you know the man on first is going to remain there, and another when you suspect he's going to steal.

"Age doesn't mean everything," goes on Grimes. "One day a man has it. The next day he hasn't.

Grimes recently pitched six-hit ball for eight innings to take a tough battle from the great Hubbell and the Giants, and on his birthday held the Dodgers to a single scratch hit for seven and two-thirds innings before faltering, being driven away from there and beaten in the ninth.

How the old boy hates to bow out!

BANKERS CINCH CITY LEAGUE'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Completing a record-breaking run through the second-half schedule and the subsequent playoff series, the Commercial National bank's baseball team today owned the Santa Ana City league championship.

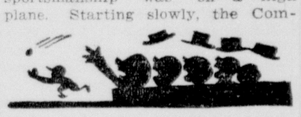

The Bankers made it three straight over the Union Oil company, first-half champion, at the Municipal Bowl last night. The score was 3-1. The Commercials won the first two starts of a best score of 5-2.

Powerful pitching by Roy Stout, and a couple of fourth-inning home runs by Rod Smiley and Baldy Foltz decided the issue.

Stout gave up his only run in the first inning which Lloyd Kneeland opened with a single. Marvin Johnston forced him at second, and scored on Clark's fielder's choice and McCullough's single. The Union Oilers were blanked from this point, although they threatened in the eighth when Pitts doubled and Johnston walked, and again in the ninth when Lichtenwalter led off with a double only to die on third.

Lichtenwalter hurled hitless ball for three innings but Smiley, first up in the fourth, smote a home run which tied the score. After Stout struck out, Foltz followed with another homer, putting the Bankers out in front, 2-1. The new champions got their third and final marker in the fifth when Ritner doubled, took third on a passed ball and scored when Lichtenwelter fumbled Allen's grounder.

The contest closed a highly successful City league season in which both competitors and sportsmanship was on a high plane. Starting slowly, the Commercial Nationals picked up power as the race unfolded and was admittedly the strongest squad in the race at the end.

Outstanding City league players, including Stout and Foltz of the Commercial National bank, now will concentrate on the impending Southern California championship softball tournament in Los Angeles, beginning September 6. A tentative all-star club, sponsored by the Santa Ana 20-30 club, dropped an abbreviated game, 4-0, to Wayne Garlock's Stars last night.

WARMING UP FOR SANTA ANA'S FINAL ROUND--THEY HOPE

Here's an action picture of Marjorie Lauderbach of Santa Ana and Charles ("Chuck") Otis of Pasadena, two of the outstanding players in the Santa Ana Open tennis tournament, now being conducted on the courts at Frances Willard junior high school. Miss Lauderbach is confining her activity to junior singles and mixed doubles, her partner in the latter event being another Santa Anan, Lewis Wetherell. Otis, captain of Stanford University's net team, is a potential finalist in men's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. His partner in mixed doubles is Melva Roquet of Anaheim.

Saving the best for the last, Santa Ana and Huntington Beach finish their schedule tonight with the championship of the National Night Ball league hinging on the outcome.

The clubs clash at 8:15, at Huntington Beach. Both sides are primed for their greatest effort of the season.

If Huntington Beach wins, the Oilers will have completed a feat never before accomplished in the conference, that of capturing both halves of the split season. If Santa Ana wins, the Stars go into a tie for first place with Huntington Beach and Westminster, the latter being conceded a victory over Long Beach, and a round-robin series between the trio will be necessary.

Concede S. A. Even Chance

Observers believe Santa Ana has an even chance of breaking through, although Huntington Beach holds three successive victories over the home guard—2-0, 5-3 and 1-0. The Stars picked "Chico" Sabella for 11 hits the last time they faced him, yet couldn't produce a run. Those who lean to Santa Ana's chances point to the team's improved hitting of the past two weeks, and its continued brilliant pitching and fielding. The latter factors have made the squad a contender all year.

Jim Coates will hurl for the Stars with Sabella again his rival. "Eeny" Wilcox will do the Santa Ana catching. Otie Manness, called from retirement when Merv Lower was stricken with appendicitis, will be back of the plate for the Oilers.

Manager Bill Cole picks Ed Daley, George Preble, Tommy Young and Francis Conrad to start as usual in the Star infield, with Tom Denney, Rod Ballard and "Chub" Sears manning the outfield.

Westminster Cinch Winner

Manager Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach will have Bob Smith at first base, "Hen" Thiery at second and Bill McKinley third, operating at short himself. Either George Murray or Charley Zaby will patrol left field, with Orville Schuchardt in center and Pete Osborn right.

Only the greatest kind of an upset will keep Westminster from winning on its home plot from Long Beach, a team that has failed to score a victory all season. The tailenders have extended their "row" to 27 now. The Aviators will take no chances, propose to pitch "Fuzzy" Errington as usual and present their No. 1 lineup.

Fullerton, which has thrashed Anaheim three times, will try to make a grand slam of the '34 series at Anaheim. Earl Morrill will work against Al Bushman.

* * *

Olive closed its 1934 night ball season with an easy 9-1 decision over Torrance last night, the victory assuring the Packers of fourth-place money in the National division. Olive made two runs in the first inning, four in the fifth and three in the eighth. Eva Pusich, Torrance gunner, was wild and ineffective.

The defeat was the seventh out of nine starts since Louie Neva "jumped" the Torrance club to pitch for Visalia. When Neva left, Torrance had won four straight and was leading the second-half.

ROCKEY WHIPS WILLIAMS AT COUNTY ARENA

Featuring a card notable for the fact that there wasn't a substitution in any of the important spots, Jack Rockey of Long Beach, "uncrowned champion" of Southern California's amateur lightweights, scored a convincing victory over Morrie Williams, Los Angeles, at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

The battle went the distance of five rounds, and Williams, a newcomer from Indianapolis, put up a stubborn defense, but Rockey had the advantage in nearly every frame. Rockey also had the edge in weight and reach and, apparently, experience. He outgeneraled Williams continually.

Bill Robinson, Long Beach heavyweight, proved anew his superiority over Orange's huge Ray Garrison by scoring a knockout in the fourth round of their semi-windup. Garrison's blows hurt Robinson when they connected, but that wasn't often. A good prospect, Garrison lacks chiefly experience.

Indicating his readiness for a main event, or at worst, a semi-final assignment, Art Arroya of Westminster knocked out Tony Cruiz in the second round. He had Cruiz down for nine previously. Cruiz's handlers claim he never had been kayoed before.

Jesse Sanchez made Louie Flyer fly out the window in the first round. Flyer complained to Referee Benny Whitman that he had a pain in the heart.

In a close contest, "Baby Face" Romeriz shaded Mural Mesa in four rounds.

Appearing in the preliminaries for the first time in months, Paddy Quillen won a snappy decision over Benny Sparza after putting Sparza on his back in the first.

Referee Whitman was a bit hasty in stopping the Tino Munoz-Jack Knaub bout, awarding Munoz a technical knockout in the second. Knaub was a bit confused by Munoz's punches but seemed capable of taking care of himself.

Bill Morillo stopped Carlo Merrick in three, Whitman stopping it. Merrick made a real fight of it while he lasted. Two novices, Tony Santillo and Elmer Swanson, opened the show. Swanson got the verdict.

KOZELUH, NUSSLEIN WIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia, and Hans Nusslein, Germany, today were in the semi-finals of the National professional tennis championships. In the quarter-finals yesterday Kozeluh defeated Bruce Barnes, St. Louis, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3, and Nusslein trimmed Emmett Pare, Memphis, Tenn., 0-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

Play Semi-Finals In S. A. Net Tournament

They were getting down to cases today in Santa Ana Open tennis tournament.

Quarter-final matches were coming up this afternoon in several events, and semi-finals are scheduled in all divisions tomorrow afternoon when fans will see all the seeded stars "bearing down" on the Frances Willard courts.

The tournament thus far has proceeded without a single major upset, speaking well for the tournament committee, although Mildred Ward, Santa Ana's No. 1 singles player in the women's division in the absence of Josephine Cruickshank, was eliminated yesterday by Peggy Kerr of Long Beach, 6-3, 6-4. Mrs. Ward was seeded third and Miss Kerr was unplaced.

Lieut. Dolph Muehleisen of March Field, No. 1 in men's singles, moved into the third round on a bye but he and his doubles partner, David Gillam of Pasadena, were hard pressed to win from Art Zerbe and Vernhe Hughes of Long Beach, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Dr. Ben Parks and Carl Bartlett of Long Beach, defending champions in doubles, won under wraps from Art Stoefen and Caskey of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2. Stoefen, a six-four giant, is a cousin of Lester Stoefen.

Yesterday's results in full:

Men's singles—B. Spiers def. B. Peacock, 6-4, 6-2; Bill Grafton def. Jack Viggars, 6-1, 6-3; Charles Otis def. Verne Hughes, 6-4, 6-3; E. White def. F. Joyer, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2; Charles Carr def. Monday's Games (Final)

Irvine at Orange; Fullerton at Anaheim; Brea at Huntington Beach.

No matter what happens Monday night, when postponed games of July 16 are written off the books, Irvine's Beanpickers are assured of at least a tie for the second-half championship of the Orange County Night Ball league.

Irvine last night went into undisputed possession of first place by defeating Fullerton, 1-0, in 11 innings at Fullerton. Singles by

Monday's concluding contests send Irvine to Orange, and Fullerton against Anaheim. Even if Irvine loses and Fullerton wins, Irvine will finish the season tied for the title. If Irvine wins or Fullerton loses, Irvine will be "in" and a series with Brea for the 1934 championship will be in order. Brea won the first-half.

Orange won easily from Olive, 18-11, making merry after scoring 10 runs in the first inning. Anaheim beat Huntington Beach, 12-7.

WALSH MARKETS GRID HISTORY

Book Describes Princeton-Rutgers Contest In 1869

WAR CRY 'ENLIVENED' CONTEST

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—We have at hand a volume by one Christy Walsh, a fellow who makes his living by getting people like Babe Ruth and Glenn Scoby Warner, the football professor, to sign articles about the sports in which they play or coach, but do not always write about.

Mr. Walsh calls his book "Intercollegiate Football—1869 to 1934." There is everything you would want to know about football in this book, and a lot of things you probably won't.

There is the statement that "Princeton met Rutgers at New Brunswick, November 6, 1869, in the first game of intercollegiate football played in the world."

On that memorable day, "the visitors' 25 players, accompanied by 50 followers, arrived during the morning and were at once taken in charge by their acquaintances, who entertained them with the hospitalities of the city, in which the game of billards predominated."

The game was called at three in the afternoon. The spectators upon arrival appropriated seats on top of the rail fence which partly surrounded the field. There was no admission fee—an omission which certainly served to distinguish that day from the present.

The princeton boys "suddenly electrified the spectators with their newly invented war whoop, or yell. Then Rutgers rooters, not to be outdone, "in full force and somewhat musical," entertained with such numbers as "Old Rosen, the Beau" and "Oh, Susannah!"

The game began and Rutgers took the kickoff "like hounds, driving it by short kicks and dribbles, not premitting a Princeton man to get near it." They got the ball down to Old Nassau's goals and kicked it through "amid great applause from fence-top and vicinity," for the first touchdown on record.

Princton went into a huddle, and elected Michael, or "Big Mike," as he was known, to break up this dribbling business. Big Mike did as he was told, "scattering players like bundles of sticks" until. In no time at all, Princeton had tied the score.

Things went on for some time. On one occasion, Big Mike and a fellow named Large, who played for Rutgers and apparently was very much like his name, went after the ball together when it rolled out of bounds and "unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact struck the fence, which gave way with a crash, and over went a load of yelling students to the ground."

The Rev. Leggett, captain of Rutgers, and the head of the Princeton side decided six goals was enough for any team, so that constituted a win. The game got along to four each, and Rutgers resorted to craft. The boys got down on their hunkers and nosed the ball along as in a peanut race. By these strategems two more goals were scored and Rutgers emerged triumphant, 6 to 4.

You may be sure there were great doings in New Brunswick that night.

YANKEE LIKELY TO OPPOSE ENDEAVOUR

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Yankee, the sailorman's lugger from Boston, needs only to beat Frederick H. Prince's Weetamoe today to be the public's choice to defend the America's Cup against T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger, Endeavour.

After the decisive beating Yankee, weathered heroine of the 1930 cup trials, administered to the Vanderbilt syndicate Rainbow in yesterday's test race, the general sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of Yankee.

The Boston sloop, lacking trick booms and fancy double-clewed working jibs such as the scientific Rainbow possesses, outsailed and outmaneuvered Harold S. Vanderbilt's craft over a 30-mile course, winning by 6 minutes and 20 seconds.

Weetamoe lost to Rainbow Saturday, and a victory for her today would throw the tests into a three-way tie.

STATE DOVE SEASON OPENS SEPTEMBER 1

Opening of the 1934 dove season is scheduled for September 1 in all districts of the state. The season will be for one month only, except in Districts 4, 4 1-2 and 4 3-4. In these districts, comprising Southern California counties, the season will be open two months, closing October 31.

The bag limit is 15 doves a day, but not more than 30 may be killed during a week by each hunter. The possession limit is 15 birds.

Reports to the state fish and game commission indicate there will be a good supply of these game birds this year.

Warden W. L. Hare of Orange county reports that cooling weather has caused doves to move on, but says many are still to be seen

Reports from other game wardens:

C. L. Savage, San Bernardino and eastern Los Angeles county—Many doves seen in western Chino valley, in Lytle creek area in San Bernardino county, and on desert side of range. Looks like good dove season generally.

J. H. Gyger, Perris, Riverside county—Doves holding on splendidly, seem to thrive in our warm weather.

J. W. Harbuck, Imperial valley—Dove season will be good.

T. R. Jolley, Riverside—Temecula valley, south Hemet and Elsinore have good crop of doves. Not so good at Winchester as water is scarce and no grain.

MISSION WORK OUTLINED WHEN SOCIETY MEETS

FULLERTON, Aug. 24. — Mrs. John G. Klene, a friend of Mrs. Clara Kerr, yesterday brought an interesting and inspirational talk to the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, which met with Mrs. Joseph E. Donaldson, of Sunset Beach.

Outlining the work of missions, her first description was that of opening of the work among Negroes of the Southland. She said it began when a woman tried to find the grave of her husband, killed in the Civil war. In her search she found in the south a large group of people, hungry to learn. She told of the work of Lucy Laney, Negro, who was educated in the university, and taught the children of the Negro race. Mrs. Klene said at present, under the economic stress, many schools are closed, for both white and Negro children, in the South.

A great missionary work in China was started by a Chinese woman whose child was cared for by a hospital, according to the speaker, while among the Negro, Chinese and all other races, the spirit of helpfulness is the open door for missionary work.

Mrs. Ben Switzler led in the devotional service, reading the 17th chapter of St. John; Miss Suzanne Dean reported on a prayer group; Mrs. Mabel Dalessi told of the work of the Presbyterian Guild.

Attending were Mrs. Eliza Barrows, Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. W. T. Brown, Mrs. Klene, Mrs. Mary Sterrett, Mrs. Ruth Holcroft, Miss Nellie Rumsey, Mrs. Grace Davis, Mrs. Alice McCrea, Mrs. J. P. LaRue and daughter, Josephine; Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Munford, Mrs. F. Gobar, Miss Kennedy, Miss Edna Munford, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, Mrs. A. C. Terrill, Clarke Terrill and Carolyn Terrill, and Mrs. S. C. Elder.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mrs. Switzler, Mrs. Harry May, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boyer, Miss Minnie Morse, Miss Dean, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Margery Waterman, Miss Anita Shepherdson, Mrs. Thomas McCart, Mrs. E. M. Cooper, Mrs. C. R. Allen, Virginia Allen, Ruth Moll, Eleanor Dalessi, Mrs. Dalessi, Mrs. Harold Gobar, Ruth and Janice Gobar, Mrs. C. F. W. Young Thompson was coasting down the steep hill on Ford avenue, west of Brookdale, and collided with a car being driven by Glenn Wright jr., 14, of Fullerton. DAVIS TELLS BENEFITS OF BOURBON PLANS

The nineteenth congressional district, comprising Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, has already benefitted to the extent of more than $18,000,000 from the Roosevelt recovery program, according to James L. Davis, Santa Ana attorney and orange grower, who is a Democratic candidate for congress, addressing a large crowd at Birch park last night following the band concert.

Orange county has received nearly six million rollars in federal funds, Riverside five and half millions, and San Bernardino more than seven millions, the speaker declared. This money came in the form of direct relief, home and farm loans, CWA, public works loans and grants, and the SERA, he declared, with $45,000 per month coming in at the present time for labor alone.

One-fourth of the unemployed were put back to work the first year under Roosevelt, according to Secretary of Labor Perkins, the speaker said.

A Republican majority in the house of representatives, Davis said, would endanger the Roosevelt program, and it is vitally necessary for all who would help the Roosevelt program to continue to aid in the election of Democratic congressmen.

"Unless the majority of the 435 congressmen to be elected this fall are Democratic, the same as Roosevelt, the president's program is gone, and we will return to the conditions of April 1, 1933, when every bank in the country was clased and business at a standstill," Davis declared. He was applauded on his statement that the primary was designed to permit each party to name its candidates, and it is not fair for a Republican or Progressive to also seek the nomination of the Democratic party, to which he does not belong. This remark referred, it was believed, to the fact that R. C. Stroup, a registered Progressive, and Sam Collins, a registered Republican, are also seeking the Democratic nomination for congress on the Democratic ballot.

Supports Old Age Plan

The Townsend old age revolving pension plan was endorsed by Davis as a means of removing ten million people over 60 years of age from competition for jobs and providing work for that number of younger men and women now jobless. This, he said, would solve the unemployment problem and at the some time largely solve the crime situation which is due, he held, to widespread unemployment and idleness.

"I want to see the Townsend pension plan introduced in congress and made a law," Davis declared. "I signed the petition in April and I said then, and have repeated it many times since, that if elected to congress, I will be glad to introduce a bill embodying the Townsend plan in congress and do all that I can to see it become a law."

He upheld the Roosevelt program, declaring his belief that the "future of the country depends on the success of that program." He scored a statement by Chairman Fletcher of the Republican national committee that the price of ten billion dillars for recovery is too high.

"This country spent 42 billion dollars during the war for killing and destroying," he said. "If we could spend 42 billions for such a purpose, certainly we are justified in spending ten billions for the saving of this country and its people."

Davis was introduced to the large crowd remaining after the band concert by Mrs. M. E. Geeting, who paid tribute to his honesty, his integrity and his ability to represent Orange county and the nineteenth district in the national congress.

STATE CONTROLLER

Who is a Candidate to Succeed Himself at the 1934 August Primary.

His public service in California began as City Trustee, Colton, for four years; County Supervisor, San Bernardino County, for six years.

Appointed by Gov. Stephens as State Water Commissioner, 1918; first Real Estate Commissioner, 1919; in 1922 he was appointed State Controller and was elected to that office in the same year. He has been returned to this office by an overwhelming plurality at each election. In 1930 he received 937,492 votes, defeating his opponent by 686,017 majority.

He has always taken an active interest in the tax problem and is nationally recognized by being elected as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Tax Association.

During his administration of the office of Controller antiquated bookkeeping has been replaced by modern cost accounting and reporting in consonance with the Federal reporting system, and in 1924, for the first time in seventy-five years the people of California knew to a penny the cost of State government for the prior year.

Ray L. Riley has been a fearless and courageous "watch dog" of state funds. His refusal to honor state warrants drawn in defiance of the edicts of the legislature and in violation of the law regarding state contracts has saved the taxpayers of California thousands of dollars. He sponsored the law limiting the annual increase in the expenditure of state and county funds to 5 per cent of the previous year which has saved local taxpayers a vast amount of money. He has steadfastly opposed increasing the ad valorem tax on real estate and has strenuously endeavored to equalize the burden of taxation.

No breath of scandal has ever marked his private or public career and he has always held the unbounded respect of his constituents.

DENIES GUILT ON DRIVING CHARGE

Joe Tornevacca, charged with driving a car while his operator's license was suspended, will have a trial in the Santa Ana justice court on August 29 at 9 a. m., having pleaded not guilty to the charge before Acting Justice Chris P. Pann. Bail was fixed at $250, which he has not posted.

Tornevacca was arrested for drunken driving and the license violation on Monday night following the wrecking of his car, but no action is being taken at present on the liquor law violation. He was paroled from the county jail on another drunken driving charge in June and had his license suspended at that time.

Special Benefit Concert To Be Given at Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—The climax of a brilliant closing week of Hollywood Bowl's 1934 season of Symphonies under the Stars will be the extra concert Wednesday night August 29 with Jese Iturbi playing two piano concertos and conducting the orchestra from the piano.

Iturbi is donating his services to the orchestra musicians for the benefit of their sick and relief fund. The entire proceeds of the concert will go to this fund which was used at the beginning of the season in order to start the Bowl season. The Iturbi concert will enable them to reestablish the fund.

No season tickets will be honored at this special concert, the management announces.

In the final week of the season an array of outstanding artists is being presented, Ossip Gabrilowitsch will conduct three concerts. Rudolph Ganz will appear as piano soloist on the Thursday night program. Alexander Kisselburgh, baritone, and Miriam Solovieff, violinist, will be the soloists on the last Saturday night.

A program arranged especially for children is planned for Friday night when Maria Gambarelli, celebrated ballerina from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, will dance the delightful fantasy, "Red Riding Hood Ballet."

The music of this exquisite ballet was written by Albert Hay Malotte. There will be several novelties on the program that will appeal to children of all ages. R. A. Shepherd will conduct the Bowl orchestra of 100 musicians. Compositions having special appeal to children have been arranged to precede the ballet section of the concert.

'BUGGY' WINDSHIELD GONE ON CHRYSLER

One of the greatest annoyances with which the motorist has had to contend in summer driving has been entirely eliminated by the Chrysler Airflow design, namely the collecting of dead insects on the windshield, according to O. R. Haan of the Cadillac Garage company.

In a conventional car, whenever one is driving in the country, the car hits all manner of insects and crushes them on the windshield, making an unsightly mess and eventually seriously interfering with the vision of the driver and passengers. Almost every motorist knows that it is necessary to make frequent stops to clean these insects from the windshield and that there seems to be some extremely adhesive substance in their bodies that makes it hard to dislodge the debris from the glass.

The air currents set up by the Chrysler Airflow design are such, however, that the insects are carried up and over the windshield without touching it. Very rarely indeed does one lodge on the glass.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS POSE FOR FIRST INDIVIDUAL PORTRAITS

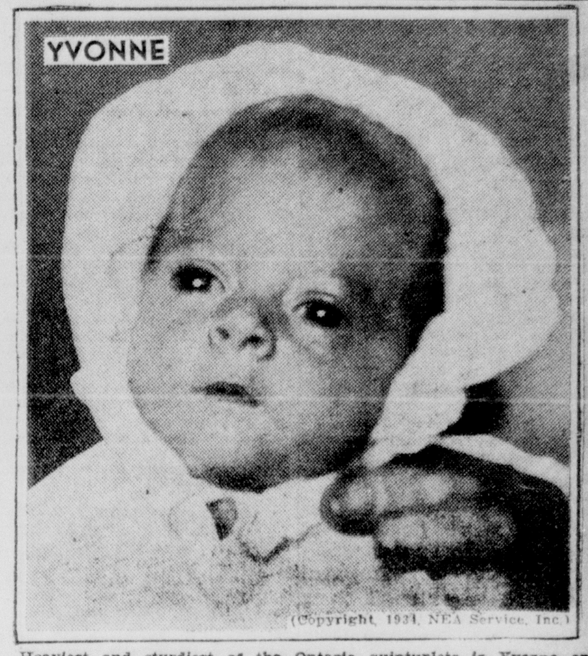

Least imperious of the five little Dionnes is Emilie, demure, self-contained, last to cry at mealtime, a plain little creature with tilted nose and narrow chin, but with a charm all her own. When the nurses who guard her so carefully look at her, they say, "Likely she'll be a nun."

Grave and circumspect, Cecile is one of the quietest of the quintuplets, joining only mildly in the clamor that goes up as mealtime approaches in the Dionne nursery. Of the unworried type that takes things as they come, one could imagine her a nurse when she reaches womanhood.

Peaceable, steady-nerved and calm—that's Annette, second in size of the Dionne infant quintet. She just takes life in her stride and the nurses vision her as a typical farm woman, hard-working and uncomplaining as they are in the Ontario bush, but with a spark of temper.

Heaviest and sturdiest of the Ontario quintuplets is Yvonne and already she seems to "know her strength." A self-assured child, she expresses herself forcibly and demands her right when feeding time rolls around. She's the kind of baby who should grow up to be a strong farm wife.

Personality palm among the Dionne quintuplets goes to Marie—prettiest, smallest, liveliest of the world's most famous babies. Pert is the word for Marie. She's the type that will grow up to be an actress, say her nurses, who already are guessing at careers for the quintet.

FINE PROGRAM MARKS END OF CITY BAND CONCERT SEASON; PLAN CONTINUANCE NEXT YEAR

By MRS. RUSSEL ROWLAND

The Santa Ana Municipal band closed the summer series of concerts in Birch Park last night with a program of outstanding merit. The occasion featured Lieut. Harold William Roberts of Los Angeles, famous director of the U. S. C. Trojan band, as guest conductor, and had planned also to present as trumpet soloist, Benjamin Klatzin, of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, who proved so popular here at a July concert. However, due to being detained on a movie set, where he is working at present, Mr. Klatzin was unable to appear.

The final program which was composed of request numbers opened vividly with "Purple Carnival," a modern symphonic march by Alford. Lassen's "Festival" delightfully displayed the charm of its folksong origin. This was followed by Kaine's arrangement of "Dutch Waltzes" which were especially entertaining in their novelty and variety.

The fifth number was "The Lost Continent' ' or "Atlantis" by Safranek, which had the fragrance of a long lost continent. Played with exceptional understanding, it proved popular with the audience.

Lieut. Roberts then took the baton and forcefully directed the great favorite, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." Lieut. Roberts received a tremendous ovation.

Director Leland Auer resumed his directing with the "Barcarolle" from "'The Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach. That charming selection was contrasted by the next number, "Serenade" from Drigo's "Les Millions d'Arlequin." After that was heard "Columbus," a fantasy by Herman, which tells the story of the discovery of America in a succession of interesting scenes. "In a Persian Market," by Ketelby, a composition full of colorful effects, followed. This particular work was the one receiving the largest number of requests. Succeeding that was the popular "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakow.

For the tenth number, the band gave a dramatic presentation of Ravel's thrilling "Bolero." The "Bolero" proved exceedingly popular here when it was given in a July concert.

Chabrier's colorful "Espana" followed. Full of native folk tunes collected on the composer's travels through Spain, the "Espana" is a brilliant fantasy. It was executed with considerable animation by Director Leland Auer and the members of the band. The last number on the program as a favorite march "Washington Greys" by Grafulla.

Extend Congratulations

Lieut. Roberts of Trojan band fame spoke to the audience. He congratulated the citizens of Santa Ana on having such a fine young conductor for their municipal band, told of his popularity and success in Los Angeles and at the University of Southern California.

Harry Hanson business manager of the band, also addressed the crowd. He extended thanks to the numerous individuals who have cooperated to make the band concert season a success, including the Santa Ana Register. While these congratulations were being so freely passed around, we hope that Mr. Hanson was also thanked for his splendid managerial ability and assistance to Director Auer in planning and carrying out of the finest band season yet held in Santa Ana, and also for their consideration of their audience in obtaining outstanding artists to come to Santa Ana as soloists with the civic band.

Mr. Hanson also said that plans are under way for a continuation of the concerts next summer, and that the band members will begin practicing next week for the following year.

EDISON FRIEND TELLS DETAILS OF HIS CAREER

Intimate glimpses of the late Thomas A. Edison, electrical wizard, gained in 14 years' association with him, were related to members of the Santa Ana Lions club yesterday noon at James cafe by George C. Silzer of Los Angeles.

He was presented through the J. C. Horton company, local distributors of G-E refrigerators, with Chet Horton, a member of the club, acting as program chairman for the day.

'Edison was the greatest man the world ever produced," Silzer declared, in his talk which reviewed briefly the life and career of the man who invented the phonograph, electric light, electric motor, the stock ticker, motion pictures and many other marvels, and who assisted Alexander Graham Bell in perfecting the telephone.

The speaker praised Edison's generosity, his persistence, and his humanness, and related intimate details of his life and work. The speaker also showed various letters written to him by Edison during their business association.

At the time of his death, Edison owned more than 3000 patents, Silzer said, besides having sold many of his patents outright. One of these was the electric light, which he sold to the Edison lamp works for five million dollars. He was working on the development of synthetic rubber when he died, the speaker said, and also had visions of using cement in the making of fine furniture, some examples of which are now in the Edison laboratory.

Edison perfected the carbon transmitter which enabled Bell to use his telephone invention commercially, Silzer said. He also invented an attachment which brought each picture in a movie to a dead stop, thus eliminating flicker, and the Edison estate collects a royalty on each moving picture projector sold, he said.

The speaker told how Edison was considered underprivileged, coming from a very poor family, and how he was taken out of school because school authorities said his mentality was under par; of how he fought his way up and even at the age of 31 was regarded as a genius. He was an approachable man, liked humorous stories, was simple in his tastes, and at times was very stubborn, the speaker said.

Prior to the address of the day, Dr. E. H. Rowland reported on the recent International convention in Grand Rapids, and Dr. H. B. Nail told of the recent district council at San Diego. Rowland said the next year's International convention would be held in Mexico City, and delegates would be guests of the Mexican government on a tour of the country. A large attendance of Lions and their wives from California and Texas especially is anticipated at this session, Rowland said.

HARRY D. RILEY BACK ON KREG THIS EVENING

Complying with several requests Harry D. Riley, candidate for sheriff of Orange county, returns to the air via KREG this evening at 8:30. At this time Mr. Riley will give additional information on his platform as requested by listeners. According to Mr. Riley, who has been a business man in Orange county for the past sixteen years, it is his intention, if elected to the office of sheriff to bring business principles and business practices into the operation of this office. As this broadcast was arranged for at a late date Mr. Riley urges the voters to tune their radio sets to KREG this evening at 8:30.

BUICK, PONTIAC SALES SHOW GAIN

The most successful month of sales in two years was enjoyed during July by the Reid Motor company, Orange county Buick and Pontiac distributors, as part of the achievement of the Buick company in establishing a five-year record for the same month over the nation.

Eight Buicks were sold in the county during July while nine Pontiacs were placed. Buick buyers were J. E. Swanke and A. W. Aylor, Santa Ana; Mrs. Augusta M. Bartow, San Clemente; John E. Brown and Henry C. Landon, Fullerton; J. H. Marion, Huntington Beach; E. H. Day, Balboa, and E. N. Martin, Laguna Beach.

New Pontiac owners are Leslie B. Harrison, George R. Wells, Clarence Safley, Adelbert C. Britcher, Mrs. Cora L. Bower, H. L. Silver and John A. Meiss, Santa Ana; H. Woodington, Huntington Beach, and E. A. Rogers, Anaheim.

Word from the Pontiac company reveals that projections covering retail deliveries for the third quarter have just resulted in an increase of 2000 units to the September manufacturing schedule. This is the fourth time since the first of July that the schedule has been stepped up.

Foremost stables throughout the country will be represented at the brilliant night horse show the first eight nights at the combined Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange County Fair in Pomona, Sept. 15 to 30.

WILKIE TALKS THIS EVENING ON CANDIDACY

Speaking on the subject "What I Would Do As Sheriff," Capt. Don Wilkie, former United States secret service expert and Orange county's non-political candidate for the chief law enforcement office, will again address the voters of the county over KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Tonight's broadcast, coming almost on the eve of the primary election when the voters of Orange county will nominate a sheriff, will be particularly interesting, especially since Captain Wilkie will give a general idea of the program he would follow, as sheriff, to increase the efficiency of the office and at the same time reduce the cost of operation materially.

The non-political candidate, among other things, is scheduled to explain his views on the bid system of purchasing, his ideas, based on 30 years of world wide experience in law enforcement, of roving mobile units and sheriff's sub-stations combined, his plans for the organization of an auxiliary to meet at intervals with the sheriff and the coordination of policing units within and outside the county. Captain Wilkie also will explain his unique military plan of county protecton in case of emergency and will outline his method of bottling up the county within 10 minutes against the entrance or escape of criminals. He also is expected to show conclusively how he would, if elected sheriff, employ United States Department of Justice and secret service methods in the operation of the sheriff's office. These methods, the best in the world, can be carried out when politics play no part in the operations of the office, the candidate will declare.

Captain Wilkie will be heard twice on Monday night, at 7:30 and at 10:45 o'clock in final appeals to the voters of Orange county to free the sheriff's office of politics.

The theme song of Wallace Beery's "Viva Villa" will be a highlight of the "California Melodies" program heard over KHJ from 5 to 5:30 this evening. The number will be presented by the concert orchestra under the direction of Raymond Paige.

Two seldom-heard light operas by Lionel Monckton, "Quaker Girl" and "The Arcadians," will be presented in miniature versions by the Caswell Carollers under Emil J. Polak's direction during the concert over an NBC network including KFI at 8 tonight.

Melodies ranging in type from a classic symphonic movement by Haydn to a popular song by Ray Noble will be heard in another Melody Masquerade during the NBC-KGO network broadcast over KGO and KECA at 9 tonight. Playing under Meredith Willson's baton, a large concert orchestra will be heard in special arrangements of six compositions, beginning with Rubinstein's beloved "Melody in F".

SATURDAY

A complete review of the operation of the Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage Moratorium Act will be given on the monthly program of the Farmers' Union over the coast-to-coast NBC network including KFI in a broadcast at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, by Edward E. Kenney, national secretary of the Farmers' Union. "Over-Production and Under-Consumption" will be discussed by E. H. Everson, national president of the organization.

Bernard M. Campbell, chess expert and a director of the International Chess Congress, will describe the highlights of the final matches in the International Chess Congress Masters' tournament in Syracuse, N. Y., from 11:15 to 11:30 a. m. Saturday, over the Columbia network including KHJ. Competitors from nearly every country on the globe have entered the tourney.

Ted Husing, Columbia sports announcer, will discuss yachting, track and horse racing in his "Believe You Me" broadcast from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m. Saturday over KHJ.

SHARPLESS WALKER ON KREG TONIGHT

Sharpless Walker, Santa Ana attorney, will speak this evening over radio station KREG at 7 o'clock in the intereste of the candidacy of S. B. Kaufman for district attorney.

Walker, former assistant United States attorney for the Southern district of California, came to Santa Ana in 1925 from Miles City, Montana, and has practiced law here, with the exception of the time he was in the government service.

Mr. Walker will talk on the district attorney contest, and it is reported, will dispute the charges of a large profitable civil practice in the district attorney's office, and will dissect another candidate's promises to "take the initiative in getting evidence," and "to put a punch into the prosecution of crime."

MANAGER OF SHOE COMPANY ON KREG

R. A. Bradford, popular manager of Dr. Reed's Shoe company in Santa Ana, reports that their new service of free advice via radio to people suffering from foot troubles has been very favorably received by the public. This evening at 7:45 the Dr. Reed Shoe company will present Dr. A. P. Brown, well known foot specialist, who is going to give a talk on one of the most prevalent foot troubles, "The Bunion". Each week during the broadcast, this company offers a free foot examination to any person in Orange county, as part of their service to the public.

FRANK DRUMM TO SPEAK FOR LOGAN JACKSON

"Cold facts about the sheriff's office," will be the subject of a radio address to be presented this evening by Judge Frank C. Drumm on behalf of Sheriff Logan Jackson, who is a candidate for re-election. Judge Drumm will speak over KREG at 8 p. m.

This will be the first opportunity for a radio audience to get the real truth of how the sheriff's office has been administered, its brilliant achievement in general law enforcement and particularly the sheriff's success in driving the gambling interests out of the county, it was pointed out.

The splendid economy record of Sheriff Jackson also will be shown, together with his demonstration of organizing and executive ability, that has built up a well-equipped, highly trained personel of criminal hunters.

The staunch defense of Orange county's farming industry against labor agitators, which kept Orange county an oasis of safety and peace while trouble and bloodshed ran riot on all sides, will be detailed.

The further protection of the farming industry against thievery, as shown in the Calavo Growers report of an 85 per cent decrease in losses in two years, likewise stands out among the facts to be related tonight.

London's foggiest spot is the city hall, Westminster. It recorded 104 days of smoke-haze between October, 1932, and March, 1933.

KREG NOTES

Front Page Drama to be presented this evening at 8:45 over KREG is entitled "NIGHT OF NIGHTS." This is a thrilling drama in which a spirit medium who took advantage of a modern scientific development to fool her followers, is cleverly exposed and a credulous devotee saved from ruin. The sketch this evening will feature Edward Reese, stage and radio star.

Sally Coe Mueller's program has been moved for this evening. She will present her program at 8:15 this evening instead of 8:00. Sally Coe Mueller has been a student of Horatio Cogswell, who heads the voice department of U. S. C., for the last five years. Sally still is invited to be guest soloist on the U. S. C. programs over KFI.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

"Let's Have a Picnic!"

You can be ready in a few minutes if you take advantage of picnic specials offered this week

In co-operation with the Best Foods, Inc. the grocers whose names appear below are prepared to supply you with everything for a well-stocked picnic shelf. Then when the family shouts, "Oh, can't we go on a picnic?" all you have to do is bustle things into a hamper and answer, "All right, let's go."

Items That Belong in Every Picnic Basket

Best Foods Mayonnaise
This all-purpose dressing should be used liberally when making sandwiches. Keeps them fresh and prevents them from drying out. And, of course, you will use it on the picnic salad.

Horseradish Mustard

Best Foods Relish Spred

Bread and Butter Pickles
The original fresh cucumber pickle, never soaked in brine. Picnics otherwise perfect have been almost ruined because the hostess forgot B&B Pickles. So put them at the head of your list.

Best Foods French Dressing
Perhaps your salad calls for French dressing. Here is one that we honestly think is better than homemade. And priced about half of what it used to cost.

Thousand Island Dressing
Does your menu call for a fish or egg salad? Ah, then by all means get a jar of this marvelous dressing. Also perfect as a cocktail sauce.

The REBELLION of Minnie Munch

"For nigh onto five years now," said Minnie Munch in a recent interview, "I have furnished milk for that tribe of young hootnannies—the Perkins children—the whole nine of them! There haven't been any N.R.A. hours for ME... Just cud-chewing, cud-chewing, cud-chewing far, far into the night. Well, I'm sick of it. From now on I'm working union hours like everybody else! There's no reason on earth why I should work myself to the bone, now that Weber's bread has succeeded in actually TRIPLING its content of vital elements found in milk. Calcium for building strong bones and teeth—iron oxide, phosphorus pentoxide . . . in fact the 8 vital elements my milk supplies, they'll find TREBLED in every slice of their favorite food —Weber's bread!"

The young Perkinses may be lackadaisical on the subject of calcium, but they certainly do a sensational disappearing act with Weber's bread, spread with fresh butter and jam! It's famous for . . .

. . . a good, wheat-y, sweet-as-a nut FLAVOR.

. . . a soft, fluffy, smooth-as-cream TEXTURE.

. . . a crust that fairly crackles with GOODNESS.

Weber's Bread has it! YOU'LL NOTICE THE DIFFERENCE

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Who can this funny old man be?" said Dotty. "It appears to me that he's having a nightmare. First he smiles and then he frowns.

"Just see his crazy looking clothes. They'd give me nightmares, goodness knows. You'd thing he bought all of the things he wears from circus clowns."

Just then a bird, up in a tree, chirped, "Listen, Tinymites, to me. I'll sing a song and it will make that man snore right in tune."

* * *

Real shrill notes shortly filled the air and Duncy cried, "Aw, that's not fair. A man can't snore as high as that. Can't you sing 'way down low?"

"Don't worry," said the little bird. And then all of the Tinies heard the man begin to snore in tune. Wee Scouty laughed, "Ho, ho!"

Said he, "That surely is a treat. I ne'er thought snoring could be sweet. Now, birdie, sing another tune, before you fly away."

"Oh, no," replied the little bird. "The pretty tune that you've just heard is all the old man knows. That ends our song for you today."

* * *

Then off the bird flew. Coppy said, "I think that we should go ahead and try to wake the man up. I will yell right in his ear."

"Hey, wait!" snapped Dotty. "That's not fair. 'Twould likely give him quite a scare. Get me a weed! I'll tickle him. Some sneezing you will hear."

The weed was picked. "Well, tots, here goes! Just watch him twitch his funny nose," said Dotty. "You can rest assured he'll wake up ere I'm through."

It wasn't very long until all of the Tinies got a thrill when the old man sat right up straight and loudly said, "Ka-choo!"

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A demand for release of 88 Russian citizens imprisoned in Manchukuo was made by the Russian consul at Harbin, it was announced today.

The demand, accompanied by a protest against Japanese-Manchukuoan activities in the Chinese Eastern railway zone, was made after the arrest of 16 more Russian employes of the railway.

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

So They Called Out the Cops to Protect the Militia

Here is a pictured variation of that sterling old gag, "Hey, officer, call a cop," with New Orleans policemen standing guard so Communists and jobless won't "harm" the state militia. Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, at war with Senator Huey P. Long and Governor O. K. Allen, because troops seized the city vote registration office, sank this cruel barb in his foes. Arming his police with gas grenades, tear gas guns, and revolvers, he rushed them to the scene of a demonstration near the registry office. Militiamen, highly chagrined, look from the windows at their "protectors."

Launching U. S. Housing Drive

FIRST housing problem to confront Housing Administrator James A. Moffett was that of finding Washington quarters large enough for his big-office staff. That accomplished, here he is at his desk as he launched the government's $1,500,000,000 home renovation drive to put 5,000,000 men to work and revive the building trades by encouraging and assisting bankers in extending liberal loans to American home owners.

Orthopaedic Hospital-School Serum Aids Infantile Paralysis Victims

Parisian? Wong!

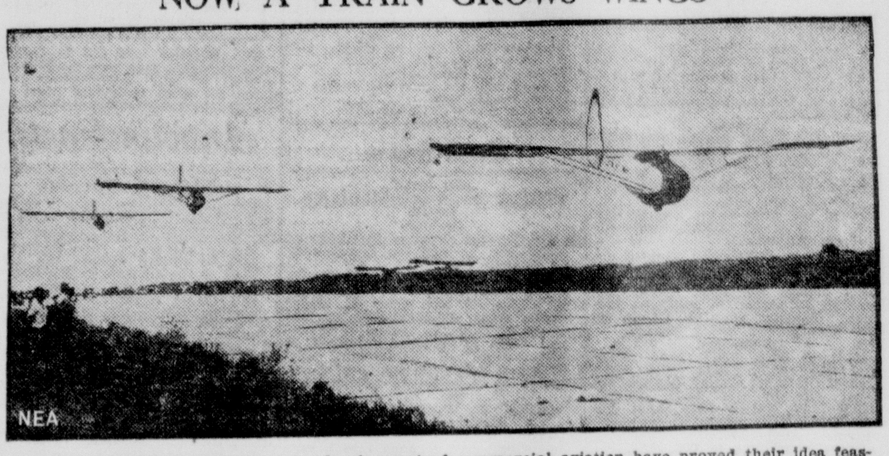

Clever — also stylish — the Chinese! Just to give you an idea, here's how pretty Anna May Wong, American-born Chinese actress, appeared on arriving in New York from England. She made several motion pictures there.

Albert of Belgium

Holding his chin up like the aristocrat that he is, here you see a new picture of the infant son of the King and Queen of the Belgians. Christened Albert after the late King, he will take the title of Prince Albert of Liege.

NOW A TRAIN GROWS WINGS

Roosevelts Get Time for Chat

'Baby' Aviator

This Breakfast Just Rattled With Merriment

It was a rattling good event, the annual breakfast of the Post-Mortem Club, pictured here in a Chicago hotel, with the toastmaster keeping up a clatter of merriment for the guests, doctors of naprapathy from all over the nation. Probably the first speechless toastmaster ever to sit at a festal board, J. M. McAdou, late of Florida, founder of the club, scored a tremendous hit with the merrymakers as he grinned out at them, cigaret dangling from his jaws. All members of the club signed a scroll bequeathing their skeletons to the organization, as had McAdou, the founder.

Swastika Flies Over Boys Camp

One Day Old--20 Pounds of Twins

The wish of Mrs. Velma Ray, 29, San Bruno, Calif., for "a large family because they are happiest," was gratified when twin girls, above, were born to her. The twins, held by Nurse Nina Shank, are Georgia, 9 pounds 15 ounces, and Geraldine, 9 pounds 7 ounces, their weight at birth. There already were five other children in the Ray home when the husky twins arrived.

SAVED FROM DROUTH DEATH ON RANGE TO FEED NEEDY

BOURBON CANDIDATE CALLS FOR MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(UP)—In a fresh attempt to bring harmony to the embattled ranks of Democratic gubernatorial candidates, Dr. Zachary Taylor Malaby, Pasadena, invited all candidates with the exception of Upton Sinclair to meet with him here this afternoon.

Purpose of the meeting as on a previous occasion that failed was to select one candidate whom the rest would support. The Pasadena candidate's invitation read in part:

"Our failure to consolidate our forces in the coming election will mean that the Democratic party is facing defeat in November.

"For the sake of the welfare of the people of California and the success of President Roosevelt's recovery program we must, one and all, bury personal animosities and consolidate our forces against the newcomer to our ranks.

"Our failure to do this places the defeat of the Democratic party squarely upon those who stand in the way of consolidation."

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Improvement in railroad, utility and packing shares imparted a firm tone to the stock market today without causing anypickup in volume of trading.

Utility shares gavea demonstration of strength in the morning. Next the packing issues came to life as hogs continued to mount. Near the close shorts covered in the rails and that group moved up easily. Other sections of the list firmed.

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES— The Market tone was firm in all quarters with broiler eceipts not equal to demand on light sizes. Leghorn fryer receipts were ample with dealers showing little interest in them. Colored fryers were clearing readily with foferings no more than ample to demand. The leghorn hen market showed strength this morning with lots reported purchased at 12 cents on all sizes. Colored hens showed a corresponding firmness, although no price changew as noted. Trading continued slow in all quarters.

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

A HAPPY SOLUTION

According to information presented last night to the Orange County League of Municipalities in session at Laguna Beach, a "way out" is offered city councilmen of Santa Ana in their delinquent bond dilemma.

Faced with a court ruling holding the entire city responsible for delinquent bonds in local improvement districts throughout the city instituted under the 1915 act, the council saw no way out except a bond issue or a ruinous tax rate of perhaps $1.40.

An added rate of $1.40, on top of city, school, and county taxes, would prove impossible of collection. The council took the alternative proposal and placed before the voters last Monday a bond issue of $250,000 to pay off the delinquent bonds.

Fear of a $1.40 added tax rate induced many of us to support the bond issue and it attained a majority, but not the necessary two-thirds majority required for adoption, and the question went back into the laps of the city council, with the requirement that the new tax rate be legally set next Monday night.

Opposition to the bond issue had been voiced by the Taxpayers' League, which held that economies could be made, and present surpluses utilized, to buy the delinquent bonds at present market values instead of adding to the bonded indebtedness and the tax burden of the city by paying full face value for the delinquent bonds through a new bond issue.

Now it appears this course can be pursued, with great benefit to the taxpayers. Experience in other cities faced with a similar problem as disclosed at the meeting last night, indicates that the extremities of the problem may be avoided and a middle course adopted.

An emergency exists. An added tax burden of $1.40 would be confiscatory and impossible of collection. Half a loaf is better than no loaf at all, and bondholders are human beings who recognize the exigencies of the situation and are willing to "play ball" while present conditions exist.

So it has been suggested that the city councilmen show their good intent to meet the obligation by levying a tax rate of, say 10 to 15 cents, for delinquent bonds and add to the fund a surplus of several thousand dollars now in the city water fund.

This amount, it is estimated, would be sufficient to buy all bonds which have been delinquent one and two years, at present values, and leave a small balance which can be used, with such additions as may be possible, during this and ensuing years to buy up other delinquent bonds of more recent date at values dictated by good business.

If this can be done, it appears to be a happy solution to the problem, for we will have avoided both the $1.40 tax rate and the $250,000 bond issue. The bond holders, while not entirely satisfied perhaps, will know that we are doing all that the situation permits, and the situation can be cleared up with maximum satisfaction to everybody.

We hope this can be brought about.

THE FEDERAL HOUSING PROGRAM

All the money necessary to repair, paint, decorate or improve the average home, farm building, or such other improved real estate, located in this county, can now be borrowed upon the borrower's own signature by applying to any of the local banks. No security other than the borrower's note is necessary.

The slogan of the government is literally "come and get it." The Federal Housing Administration is anxious that the funds, now accumulating in the banks, shall be put to use. It has established a fund of $200,000,000 to reimburse banks for any losses that may occur as the result of loaning money for the purposes described. Banks are, of course, admonished to use ordinary care and diligence in the making of these loans.

Amounts of $100 to $2,000 may be borrowed upon the following conditions. The property, upon which it is to be used, must be improved property, that is, no funds will be loaned to be used on vacant lots. Second, all taxes must have been paid, and interest due on mortgages or trust deeds must have been paid. If interest is in arrears, then the holder of such security must give his consent. Third, the income of the individual must be five times the amount he expects to pay off each year. The maximum an individual can borrow is 60 per cent of his yearly income.

The cost of such a loan is five dollars for every hundred dollars borrowed, payable in advance. This means that the borrower actually gets $95.00 out of every $100.00 borrowed, if the loan is for one year, and about $87.00 if the loan is for three years.

In order to secure a loan, all that is necessary is to apply to any of the cooperating banks and make out a statement of your net worth, such as banks have long been in the habit of requiring from their regular customers. If taxes and interest are not in arrears the borrower will receive his loan right then, if known to the bank, or in a few days if not known, and he is then free to use that money in the repair or improvement of his property as he sees fit. The money must be used in the repair of buildings and cannot be used for the repair of movable assets not generally considered a part of a building.

The borrower can do the work himself, he can hire a contractor, he can buy his own materials. The only restriction is that he must use it in the repair of a building or a group of buildings.

And lastly, the loan must be be repaid in not more than 36 equal monthly installments.

The experience table on loans of this character would indicate that 97 per cent of them are repaid in full, and that losses are incurred on the remainder. The housing program, which therefor will bring no profit to the government, is expected to increase employment to such an extent that people taken from relief rolls will more than offset the losses incurred by this project. The support that this measure has received from financial sources would indicate that bankers quite generally are in agreement with that viewpoint.

HOMER VAN METER SLAIN

Homer Van Meter, one of the most trusted of John Dillinger's lieutenants, was killed last night in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The city has achieved a reputation of being a city of refuge for gangsters, but it disproved this charge by being the scene of the "ironing out" of one of the most ruthless killers of the Dillinger gang.

Slowly but surely, one by one, these rebels against society and the law are being given their just deserts. As was said at the time Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were killed, "they lived by the gun, and they died by the gun." There is no other end which can befall them.

Van Meter had attempted to disguise himself by having his face "lifted" and his finger markings removed, but this ruse failed. In this endeavor he followed the example of his late chief, Dillinger, but neither succeeded.

The reports declare that his body was perforated by fifty slugs after he attempted to engage the police officers in a desperate effort to escape.

He was trapped, like his former gang leader, through a woman, who was jealous of his attentions toward another member of her sex. It is very indicative that the representatives of the law are following the old rule of the French police: "Cherchez la femme."

Society breathes easier as these despicable characters are "erased." And we might say that the respect of the people for the law is being raised very perceptibly by the work that has been done in these recent months in ridding the country of these fugitives from justice.

There are two other members of the Dillinger gang still at large, "Baby Face" Nelson and John Hamilton. When these Saint Paul heroes were asked about them, they are reported to have declared: "If they are here, they'll get the same medicine."

As the people get the true picture of these hoodlums and gangsters, they see them in their true perspective, as cowardly parasites, without a trace of anything decent or heroic about them, as the "scum of the earth" without a single iota of virtue to admire.

We all owe a debt of gratitude to these gallant police officers who risked their lives in this fashion. They are doing one of the most worth while deeds which it is possible to do in this present hour.

Langley Centenary

Oakland Tribune

In aeronautics today marks a centennial. It was one hundred years ago that Samuel Pierpont Langley was born.

Langley was famous for many things, including his studies of the sun and solar radiation, but his name to the many is associated with aviation. Following the course of many men who watched the soaring birds and dreamed of imitating them, Langley attacked the problem of the lift and resistance of rapidly moving bodies in the air. Before there was any such thing as an airplane he announced that "if in such aerial motion there could be given a plane of fixed size and weight, inclined at such an angle and moved forward at such a speed that it shall be sustained in horizontal flight, then the more rapid the motion is, the less will be the power required to advance it."

This was thought to be revolutionary and paradoxical. Langley was not the first to make a flight, but he declared that one was possible long before the successful experiment of the Wright brothers. A 13-foot steam-powered model of his design flew successfully but carried no passengers. His effort to carry a man into the air failed because of troubles on the launching ways.

What Langley lacked, as did the Wrights who followed him and accomplished the first human flight at Kitty Hawk on December 17, 1903, was an efficient motor. He possessed the practical idea of flying, however, and was a true pioneer. His centenary is being celebrated by the Smithsonian Institution of which he was the third secretary.

Chinese Have Troubles

Riverside Daily Press

Half a million people may starve to death this summer because of the drought.

Not in a century has there been a drought so severe. Crops have withered under a blazing sun which has kept the temperature at 115 degrees, day and night, for weeks. Rivers have dried up, springs have stopped flowing.

There is no food to be had at all, over wide areas; in scores of villages and towns even the supply of drinking water has become exhausted.

The federal government wants to do something to relieve suffering, but it is so weak, so overburdened with previous efforts to combat the drought and so short of funds that it is very doubtful that it will be able to do anything effective.

These few sentences present a living nightmare. They do not apply, of course, to the United States. They do aply, however, to China. They were taken from a recent news dispatch telling of the horrible crisis which China is facing this summer.

The Chinese drought is one of the worst in living memory. So is the one that has hit the United States. Indeed, the weather seems to have been about the same in each nation—much heat, no rain, a steady depletion of all water supplies, a burning and blistering of all growing things.

In the United States it has meant great financial loss for the farmers and higher prices for the city dwellers.

In China it is meaning nothing less than widespread starvation because there are no agencies of help.

Huey Long Is Cleaning Up New Orleans

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE CURE

Upon learning that the use of the piccolo tends to discourage the drink habit.

Long years ago my Uncle Zeke,
Who had small taste for water,
Would, every once or twice a week,
Embark upon a totter.
A rather trifling tide it was,
But trouble it foreboded
For his dear little wife, because
Zeke waxed quite rough when loaded.
No man is at his best, I think,
When partially submerged in drink.

At last his worried helpmeet heard,
When words were vainly bandied,
That men from drinking are deterred
Who play the fife, like Pan did.
Forthwith an instrument she bought
And on the bureau laid it
Where Uncle Zeke the same upcaught,
Drew in his breath and played it.
It made a shrill and stident sound
Which echoed half a mile around.

Day in, day out, he blew that fife
Instead of getting jingled;
His tunes, far sharper than a knife,
With lesser sounds commingled,
Till finally his pestered spouse
From such weird music shrinking,
Cried: "Take that fife outside the house,
It's worse, far worse, than drinking."
So now, my dear old Uncle Zeke
Gets loaded once or twice a week.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE THRESHOLD OF CHANCE

I am convinced that profound historic change impends in the life and enterprise of the United States.

I am not sure of the direction this change will take.

The blackening of the skies that began in 1929 may have heralded a permanent eclipse of our national genius.

It would not be the first time in history that a proud people has tumbled from its pinnacle of seeming triumph.

On the other hand, these may be but the grey hours before a social sunrise that will warm and illumine our lives where transient disaster has chilled and darkened them.

It would not be the first time in history that a great people has snatched victory from the threat of defeat.

When enough forces of change come together the people in whose civilization they assemble must pull itself together for a great choice.

The choice that must be made is whether these forces of change shall work themselves out as a guided reconstruction or as an unguided revolt.

A thousand and one forces of change, stemming from the development of physical science and industrial technology, are bursting through our old formulas of politics, economics and social organization.

These forces of change will profoundly alter our whole civilization. The alteration is inevitable; the only question is whether the alteration will be guilded or unguided.

Can any American read the two major volumes of the report of former President Hoover's research committee on recent social trends without realizing that the actual processes and problems of American life are today radically different from the processes and problems, in terms of which the fathers determined the major patterns and designed the major institutions of our political, social and economic life?

We are past the point at which beating the tom-tom for obsolete traditions of politics and economics will either satisfy the masses of Americans or bring recovery and stabilization to our national life.

As we stand on the threshold of historic change, it behooves us deliberately to readjust the old tools of government and industry that are obsolete to the new tasks of government and industry that are obvious.

A RAINY DAY BOOK

Dear Boys and Girls:

Have you a precious book hidden away for a rainy day? Those days come. The rain comes in sheets until the roads and walks are flooded. The trees drip. Little puddles gather in unexpected places. Dribbles run down the awnings giving you unexpected baths as they trickle along the backbone. There is nothing to do but retreat to the house and find something to do until it clears up. That's the time for the precious book.

Some day you may be laid up. The doctor says you must stay in the house for a few days to make certain. The other children go on about their business. School calls them. Their people send them here and there. Their pleasures go on as usual while you are closed in and you begin to feel resentful about the whole business. That's where the good old book comes in handy.

There are times when your mother says she wants you to stay within call. You are to keep quiet. Grandpa has fallen asleep and maybe, if he gets a good nap, he will be better when he awakens. If not, you must be on hand to call the doctor and do the errands. You are tied by the leg to your duty. You can't turn on the radio and you can't pick out that tune on the piano. Nor can you walk about. You're ordered to be still. And you know you must be still. Now is the time for that beloved book.

Each of us has his own troubles. You have yours. You planned to do something fine and you are disappointed. You couldn't go. Maybe you aren't feeling well. Maybe the one you were going with or to couldn't make the appointment. Anyway, here you are stranded and unhappy. You don't want to do anything but grieve. The book that you cherish will save you.

What is your favorite book? Isn't there one that you like to take out and reread? Sometimes the whole book is to be read over, sometimes you pick out the good parts, the high lights, and read those. The book will open to those places, if you just shake the covers open.

Some folk read their Bible, their Shakespeare, their favorite poet or storyteller. After long years of living and thinking and reading they have selected the book that offers them the most comfort. In times of idleness, in times of distress, they turn to their precious book. You are too young yet, maybe, to feel the need of this refuge as your elders do, but you are old enough to feel the ned of relief that the good book affords you. Pick out a good one and keep it by you.

How about Treasure Island, Pilgrim's Progress, Bible Stories, Tale of Two Cities, David Copperfield, (the storm chapter is, to me, one of the greatest bits of writing), Robinson Crusoe, Huck Finn, Tom Sawyer, Uncle Tom's Cabin, Hamlet, Idylls of King — — your own good book whatever it is, is the one for you.

By and by you will leave this one aside, perhaps, and adopt another. You change as you grow. But in the end there will be one good book for you. Be on the lookout for it. It is going to mean all the difference in the world to you by and by.

Yours, A. P.

PLANS NOT REJECTED

Ambassador Hopeful Of Acceptance Or Counter Proposals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, representing the Soviet Union, today submitted to the state department a proposal for settlement of the long pending Russian debt to the United States.

Troyanovsky said the offer contained several "very important concessions."

The proposals put forth by the ambassador were understood to be based on the latest instructions from Moscow in an effort to break the deadlock which halted the debt negotiations in Moscow and caused their removal to Washington.

Troyanovsky said his proposals had not been accepted immediately by the state department and referred inquiries as to the department's attitude to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Troyanovsky indicated, however, that the department had not flatly rejected the proposals and indicated a hope that they might inspire a counter proposal by the United States. Asked if he was hopeful for a settlement of the debts, Troyanovsky said:

"I am always optimistic."

He added that he expected further conferences on the debts which are estimated to amount to between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

CHEVALIER DENIES REPORT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Maurice Chevalier, French film star, today emphatically denied reports from Cannes, France, that he will marry Kay Francis, screen actress, on the Riviera sometime in September.

"It is utterly unso," the actor sputtered indignantly. "There is no truth in it whatever."

THE HEAD of the Orange County Church Brotherhood and various ministers of Orange county, including the president and secretary of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, as individuals, joined today in statements expressing confidence in B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, who was the object of a vicious last-minute campaign attack from sources obviously inspired by the liquor interests, working through a local minister-real estate dealer, C. D. Hicks.

The statements by the ministers and Scheel was accompanied by another statement, issued by McKinney, himself, branding the charges against him as false.

Following are the statements:

Ministers Rebuke Attacks

"There has been at this late hour in the campaign, too late for any thorough investigation, a statement made reflecting upon the habits and integrity of B. Z. McKinney.

"We want to call the attention of citizens to the fact that this statement is made upon hearsay evidence of two men who are unrevealed, and that if we were in the habit of taking such statements concerning candidates, there is no candidate who could be counted upon at all.

"We know Mr. B. Z. McKinney and have complete confidence in his integrity. We know that two years ago, because of his personal convictions, he took his stand as he did, upon the prohibition question.

"His personal or professional life has never been questioned, up to this hour, and now the only statement made concerning that, is that two men, unknown, told the man who wrote the statement above referred to; that they had had this experience with Mr. McKinney. The only other statements concerning Mr. McKinney, which reflect upon him, the gentlemen who wrote the letter says he bases his opinion upon what was told him by the liquor dealers and their friends.

"We do not believe that in the midst of a fight, comprising the issues that are on in Orange county, that at this hour, three days before election, the voters of Orange county, should be swerved from their conviction and their determination by statements of any man, whether he be minister or layman, which statements according to his own acknowledgment, are based upon what the liquor dealers told him.

Ralph J. Smedley, secretary Santa Ana Ministerial Ass'n.
Rev. G. E. Waddle, pastor Church of the Nazarene, Santa Ana.
Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor First M. E. church, Santa Ana.
Rev. Herman Meyer, St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Santa Ana.
Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor First M. E. church, Fullerton.
Rev. Russel C. Stroup, pastor Christ Church by the Sea, Newport Beach.
Rev. O. W. Reinius, pastor Richland Avenue M. E. church, Santa Ana.
Rev. James Edwin Dunning, pastor First M. E. church, Orange.

Says McKinney Record O. K.

"The men's brotherhood of the churches of Orange county have just completed and published a survey made of the attitude of candidates for various offices to be voted on in Orange county.

"We sent a searching questionnaire to the candidates for district attorney and for sheriff. To this questionnaire B. Z. McKinney, whom we all knew by reputation, replied with answers that certainly would satisfy the most exacting.

"District Attorney Kaufman did not extend to us the courtesy of a reply, and we concluded that when he learned the nature of our organization he did not expect or care for the support of those whom we represented."

Signed— LYMAN F. SCHEEL,

McKinney Brands Charges

"In these closing hours of my campaign for district attorney, the most unjust, unfair and even untruthful statement has been issued by C. D. Hicks, minister-real estate agent which is undoubtedly calculated to injure me.

"It will not accomplish its purpose, as its object must be obvious to all who read it.

"He accused me, without a hearing, and refused to divulge to me the source of his hearsay information. His statements regarding me personally are absolutely unfounded and untrue and were he not a minister, I possibly would use much stronger language.

"That his statement is based on hearsay information from persons unrevealed, and on the statement of liquor dealers, whose names he does not disclose, is sufficient answer, I think, to this attack, and I believe the people of Orange County, where I have lived for 10 years, gone through two political campaigns, without any charge whatever having at any time been made against my personal character and integrity, will realize this is a last-minute political trick of the lowest form."

Signed— B. Z. McKINNEY.

$50,000 TAKEN BY BANDITS IN TRUCK ROBBERY

Registered Mail Seized In Daylight Holdup Today In Pennsylvania

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Bandits in two automobiles forced a truck carrying registered mail to the curb here today and escaped with three sacks containing about $50,000.

The men appeared suddenly as M. C. Lackey was driving the truck through a downtown street enroute to nearby Lyndora. The truck contained three sacks of registered mail.

Two automobiles suddenly appeared alongside, Lackey said, and one of them forced him to the curb. He had no opportunity to use a revolver lying in the machine

"Lie down and don't move," one of the men warned Lackey. Lackey was uncertain whether there were three or four men pointing pistols at him.

He obeyed, and one of the men stepped behind the truck and removed the mail to the first bandit car. All the men then leaped aboard and sped westward, deserting the second machine.

The loot was largely federal reserve funds from Pittsburgh.

The bandits wore dark glasses. Lackey said they were between 35 and 40 years old. Witnesses, whose attention was called to the holdup by screaming brakes on the automobiles, said the holdup required less than a minute.

"By the time we got to the street," Mrs. H. D. Manning, who lives nearby, said, "the bandits were already speeding up the street."

The money was enroute to the Lyndora bank for use in making up payrolls of the American Rolling Mills and the Standard Car Corporation.

ATTACK MADE ON M'KINNEY IS BOOMERANG

THAT THE eleventh-hour campaign attack upon B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, made by C. D. Hicks, Santa Ana minister-real estate man, had turned itself into a boomerang, was indicated today when ministers and other moral leaders of the county denounced the attack, and voiced their complete confidence in McKinney. Liquor interests were shown, on the face of the attack, to be its source.

Lyman Scheel of Fullerton, as president of the Orange County Church Brotherhood, added his approval of McKinney to that of the ministers, in connection with a recent survey of candidates and their attitudes on various questions, including the use of liquor, conducted by the county brotherhood. Scheel's statement added that McKinney's attitude "would satisfy the most exacting," while District Attorney Kaufman had refused to reply, apparently not expecting or caring for the support of the brotherhood.

Flimsy Foundation

The group of ministers called attention to the palpably political character of the attack upon McKinney, and its flimsy foundation upon "hearsay" statements from unknown sources, and from the liquor dealers themselves.

Citizens of the county were urged by the ministers, "not to be swerved from their convictions and determinations" by a last-minute attack of this character.

The ministers clearly demonstrated their own disbelief in the charges made by Hicks, saying that if such attacks were customarily given credit, "there is no candidate who could be counted upon at all."

McKinney himself branded the Hicks' charges as false and denounced the means employed of accusing him without a hearing; also the refusal of Hicks to name the time or place concerned with his attack, or the names of his informants, so that McKinney might face them.

In his statement attacking McKinney, which was timed yesterday

NEW FOREST FIRES IN PLUMAS REGION

Fire fighters saved Camp Lyman, a summer resort near Sloat, by using water lifted from the Feather river, by portable pumps.

After the storm 17 separate fires broke out in various parts of the forest preserve. The crew of 300 men engaged in fighting a serious fire near Sloat was scattered over a wider area to combat the new fires.

DILLINGER PAL IS SHOT DOWN IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A tremendous drive to stamp out the last remnants of the John Dillinger gang was launched here today at the scene of the slaying of Homer Van Meter.

Elated by the success of an ambuscade in which Van Meter, deadly Dillinger machine gunner, was killed last night, federal agents and city police hoped to capture two more henchmen of the bold Indiana outlaw.

Their quarry was George (Baby Face) Nelson, the gunman who killed a federal agent in escaping from an ambush last spring near Spider Lake, Wis., and John Hamilton, believed by some to be already dead.

They thought Nelson was somewhere within the net of men and guns spread around the city. Every police agency was thrown into an attempt to chase him into the open.

Van Meter's death was a continuation of the disasters wreaked upon the Dillinger gang by love of a pretty face.

Maintaining close seclusion in a St. Paul hideout, Van Meter nevertheless found opportunity to go about with a young woman whom police refused to identify. He made a fatal mistake by choosing a girl whose parents notified police. With utmost caution they set their trap and Van Meter walked into it. He was given orders to surrender and was slain only when he fired two shots from his own gun and turned to flee.

Van Meter's association with Dillinger began in the Indiana state reformatory. Because of an unruly record both were transferred to the penitentiary at Michigan City. Later both were paroled. They met outside, planned and executed several robberies together. Van Meter collaborated in planning the escape of 12 former comrades from the penitentiary, then aided the 12 in rescuing Dillinger from jail at Lima, O.

Since that day six members of the gang have been killed. Sev-

SICILY IS SHAKEN BY EARTH QUAKES

MESSINA, Sicily, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sicily was shaken by a strong earth shock today, followed by two milder tremors, while Mt. Stromboli poured forth threatening clouds of smoke.

The volcano continued belching spasmodic streams of lava, but the molten waste streamed toward the sea along the northern slopes, which are neither inhabited nor cultivated. No losses have yet been reported.

Smoke clouds at the summit of the volcano are so dense that her fires are hidden, although at night an intense glare is visible.

Assurances Given To British Consul By Governor At Conference

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 24.—(UP)—British subjects, including Hindus, Irish and Scots, will be protected to the fullest extent of the law in the matter of the dispute over alien lease holders of farm lands in the Salt River valley, Gov. B. B. Moeur told British Consul Wentworth Gurney today.

The governor assured Gurney, who came here last night from Los Angeles, that everything within his power would be done to protect British subjects.

Gurney was the second representative of a foreign nation to visit Arizona since the trouble started last week. The Japanese vice consul spent several days here investigating conditions.

There were said to be about 40 Hindu families living here. Most of these have come from Punjab, in the northern part of India and have been here since 1930. The Irish, British and Scots are represented by about 10 families. None of these people are leasing or own the land, but are working the farms on a share proposition which is not a violation of the alien land laws of Arizona.

Threats of violence against the aliens by farmers of the valley have subsided since the arrest of several alleged violators of the land laws. The first hearing on these complaints will be held Aug. 31.

"I'm not here to discuss the legality or fairness of Arizona or United States land laws," Gurney told the governor, "I have come to investigate whether the British subjects are in the right or wrong and I am satisfied that the people of Arizona will see that the law is carried out and that there will be no violence."

Gurney will return to Los Angeles tonight, following a tour of the Salt River valley in company with a representative of the governor.

MID WEST STATES HIT BY COLD WAVE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—(UP)—A "cold wave" swept southeastward out of the Canadian Rockies today, bringing the lowest temperatures the southwest has known since last winter.

Mercury which a few days ago was fretting at the upper extremities of thermometers dwindled into the 40's and 50's. At Bismarck, N. D., it dipped to 32. To the northward in Canada sub-freezing marks were reported.

Wraps were taken out of moth balls and willows long open for a breath of cool air were closed when residents over a wide area awoke today. Blankets were in general demand last night.

The government weather bureau here said the cold wave would hold tonight and would push into Oklahoma. A duplication of this morning's minimum temperature of 51 was in prospect here.

BLUE EAGLE CHIEF TO GO ON VACATION

GENERAL IS CHEERFUL

Declines To Reveal What Transpired At Meeting But Seems Optimistic

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP) The whole question of NRA reorganization will be settled two weeks from Monday at Hyde Park, N. Y., Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said today after nearly an hour's conference with President Roosevelt.

Johnson, in a jovial mood, left the White House insisting that he was not resigning and that the only thing that brought him back was a "slight misunderstanding as to timing."

"The president decided that I should go off on a two weeks vacation and we will settle the matter in two weeks at Hyde Park."

Johnson insisted that "This thing is not serious at all." The Blue Eagle chieftain was referring to reports of sharp conflict with Donald R. Richberg, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins over reorganization policies.

Concerning questions as to reports of his possible divorce from recovery efforts, the administrator pointed out that he wanted to change his relationship to the program, adding that "I recommended that before I went away."

To questions as to whether that meant he was to become head of the board of directors of the NRA, Johnson refused to commit himself, declaring that that was a question for Mr. Roosevelt to decide.

Before he left the White House he had a short, but earnest conversation in the lobby with Richberg.

"I never had a disagreement with Richberg," Johnson said.

HUEY LONG CRASHES RECORDS AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sen. Huey Long crashed the records of the League of Nations today—as usual, in a controversial role.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, protesting allegations by Paraguay that the company was aiding Bolivia in the Gran Chaco war, wrote the league:

"It is to be hoped Paraguay in its reported protest will supply a copy of that part of the congressional record containing all that Senator Long said on the subject."

Ironically expressing fear that Paraguay would not cite the senator as authority, Teagle attached to his letter Long's statement which accused Standard of aiding Bolivia.

CASEY AT MUDVILLE! THREE STRIKES AND OUT! READ ABOUT THEM!

(AN EDITORIAL)

The tricks of the crowd of organized liquor dealers who held their gambling saturnalia over in Anaheim, unmolested, and raised a "defense fund" are interesting, curious and even amusing.

Unmolested in their law violations, they proceeded to hold a later meeting to endorse candidates. This they do in a supposed secret meeting, from which particularly The Register is barred, as they think.

But their endorsements are made and are published, and with them, "the fat is in the fire." They wanted to help their endorsees, and they found it was ruining them. They wanted to get them over, and they found they were getting them under.

What was the first move? The first move has not yet become public. It is being given here for the first time.

THEY FIRST ATTEMPTED TO DENY THAT THEY MADE ANY ENDORSEMENTS. THEY GATHERED SOME OF THEIR CROWD TOGETHER AND PROPOSED TO THEM THAT THEY MAKE A BLANKET DENIAL THAT THEY EVER MADE SUCH ENDORSEMENTS.

THEY FOUND THEY COULDN'T DO IT. THERE WERE TOO MANY THERE. THEY WOULD BE CONFRONTED WITH A FALSEHOOD AMONG THEIR OWN MEMBERS.

So that plan, that they didn't make the endorsement, had to be abandoned.

SECOND, THEY PROPOSED THAT THEY WOULD MAKE A PUBLIC STATEMENT THAT THE REGISTER AND ITS PUBLISHER INDUCED THEM TO MAKE THE ENDORSEMENT. THEY ACTUALLY PUBLISHED THIS STATEMENT. AND THEN THEY FOUND THAT NOBODY BELIEVED IT. IT JUST SIMPLY FELL OF ITS OWN WEIGHT.

Even the most intense crusaders for their own cause said that didn't go over; the public didn't swallow it. So they took the third proposition and, this for absurdity and ridiculousness, was certainly equal to the second.

They said, we will get some of the liquor men to go to a preacher and convince the preacher, not that The Register induced it, but that they did it themselves to hurt the district attorney and not to elect him—that they were for McKinney all the time.

While undoubtedly the more sober and sane advisors expressed doubt that they could find a preacher who would believe that: others insisted it was worth trying.

THE LIQUOR MEN, THE MEN WHO WERE AT THE MEETING, OF COURSE HAVING TO ADMIT THEY WERE LYING BEFORE, WHEN THEY BLAMED IT ON THE REGISTER, NOW SAID TO THIS PREACHER: "WE WERE JUST FOOLING WHEN WE SAID THE REGISTER DID IT. WE REALLY DID THIS THING TO HURT THE MAN WE WERE ENDORSING." THIS WAS DONE, OF COURSE, TO GET THE PREACHER TO GIVE IT TO THE WORLD, FOR WHAT?

WHY TO HELP THEIR FRIEND, THE ONE WHOM THEY ENDORSED ORIGINALLY. THE PREACHER SWALLOWED IT, HOOK, LINE AND SINKER. BUT THEY WILL FIND THEY CANNOT FOOL THE VOTERS AS EASILY AS THAT.

The voters know the conditions that are on in Orange county. They know who is responsible for them.

They have watched this farce of the liquor men trying to help their friend by going through these various devious gyrations and the last one, as it reaches the height of absurdity.

Read the statement of well known and outstanding ministers of this county concerning B. Z. McKinney and this action.

Read Mr. McKinney's statement itself!

Read the statement of the president of the church brotherhood!

Reflect upon the various statements that the liquor crowd has made concerning this episode, and judge in the light of it all, and then answer the law defying group that is endeavoring to ramrod itself into complete control in Orange county by voting for the man whose reputation is without a blemish and whose professional career stands unsullied.

Rebuke the slanderers of reputation who would spread broadcast stories told by men who are protected securely by the concealment of their names, which probably was the inducement made to them to tell the falsehoods in the beginning, if indeed there are any such men!

ATTACK MADE ON M'KINNEY IS BOOMERANG

to reach the candidate too late for a reply in the press, and which was followed immediately by publication of Hick's endorsement of McKinney's opponent, in a morning weekly supporting the opponent, the minister-real estate man said he had been told that two years ago McKinney was seen to take a drink of liquor at a meeting, in response to a toast that he "was politically dry but personally wet."

He refused to divulge the names of two men he said had given him the information; also refused to name the time and place.

His statement said further that liquor dealers had told him they really preferred McKinney to his opponent, Kaufman, and that when they endorsed Kaufman and Howard at Laguna Beach a few days ago, they really did it in order to defeat Kaufman. They had meant to endorse some other sheriff candidate, in order to defeat him, but Howard's friends in the meeting, not apprised of the design, had pushed through his endorsement. One who attended the meeting gave him this information, Hicks said. Hicks apparently believed what the liquor dealers told him.

Hicks claimed he made an investigation before making the attack upon McKinney, but his statement, it was pointed out, shows on its face that his only investigation had to do with the liquor dealers themselves, and the two unnamed men.

No Investigation

As to the choice of the liquor dealers for district attorney, Hicks made no investigation as to the accuracy or proof of the report of the Laguna Beach endorsement meeting that appeared in The Register, showing that the liquor interests had endorsed Kaufman and Howard.

The report of this meeting published by The Register was completely corroborated today by another newspaper representative, Noel Sands, of the Harbor Outlook, Balboa, who attended the meeting. Sands and the Register representative were the only newspapermen present, and were the only ones present who were not members of the liquor organization, except one Newport Beach man, who was, however, a liquor dealer, according to Sands.

Consequently, any informant of Hicks who attended the endorsement meeting must have been a liquor dealer, it was shown.

The account of the meeting stated in The Register was correct in every detail and there was no indication at the meeting that the endorsements were anything other than spontaneous selections of candidates, said Sands. He also said a careful canvass was made of sentiment before motions were introduced and unanimously adopted endorsing Kaufman and Howard, and that there was no semblance of railroading or forcing any endorsement.

McKinney's well known dry record, and his open fight for the dry cause two years ago when he was a candidate for congress, which stand admittedly cost him much support in his own party, was regarded today as making the Hicks charges ridiculous and their purpose apparent.

NON STOP FLIGHT PLANS MADE PUBLIC

WILL ROGERS says:

CHITA, Siberia, Aug. 24.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Been waiting to reach a town American readers could pronounce. Chita, that's an old American word. Came up through Korea, then the length and breadth of Manchuria. Was two days on the Chinese Eastern Railway. That's the one Japan is trying to buy, but take this tip: Russia won't sell. She is just kidding them.

Tell you sometime about all the military preparations on both sides. I said some time I would tell you. This is the heart of Eastern Siberia. All a beautiful prairie, not a tree, not a fence. Just grass up to your stirrups. Tomorrow we pass around beautiful Lake Baikal.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ABSOLVE TRAIN CREW OF DEATH

Exoneration of the train crew in the death of Robert Kenney, 54, who was killed near Buena Park last Friday when struck by a Southern Pacific train, was given yesterday by a coroner's jury at the inquest from the O. A. Stone funeral home in Buena Park.

It was testified that Kenney had fallen asleep on the tracks while walking to his home on the Boisseranc ranch. Engineer J. W. Higley and Fireman J. Braunger both testified, with Braunger reporting that he saw the man on the tracks just as he raised his head and was struck by the engine.

Kenney had lived in Orange county about three years and had no known survivors.

ALLEGES SINCLAIR COMMUNIST FRIEND

WOODLAND, Cal., Aug. 24. —(UP)—A letter found in an allegedly Communist hideout in Broderick referred to "Sinclair" reputedly meaning Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for governor, as a sympathizer, Sheriff J. W. Monroe announced today.

Monroe said he found the letter in the pocket of a vest that had been tossed on a rubbish heap. It was overlooked when deputies raided the hangout several days ago. It was addressed to "Al" and signed "J. H. K." and was undated. The sheriff had no idea who the two persons may be, whether the letter was authentic, or whether it was planted there by interests opposed to the candidacy of Sinclair.

YOUTH, GIRL HELD

Confessing that they stayed all night in a Santa Ana hotel posing as man and wife, Carlos Ponce, 19, San Diego, and a 16-year-old San Diego girl were arrested this morning by police. Ponce was taken to the county jail on a statutory charge while the girl is being held in the juvenile detention home, pending negotiations with San Diego police.

DILLINGER PAL IS SHOT DOWN IN MINNESOTA

Joseph Jenkins, one of the men who escaped from Michigan City, was shot soon after the break. Herbert Youngblood, negro who bluffed his way out of Crown Point jail with Dillinger, was shot in Michigan. Eugene Green was shot in Chicago in April by federal agents and Tommy Carroll was killed in a battle at Waterloo, Ia., June 7. Dillinger was the last of the gang to die prior to last night.

Nelson is rated as national public enemy No. 1 since Dillinger's death. He is particularly wanted for slaying Federal Officer Baum in escaping from a raid on a gang hideout at Little Bohemia lodge near Spider Lake.

MISS CRUICKSHANK REINJURES SHOULDER

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Aug. 24. —(UP)—Kay Stammers and Fred James, of England, won the Germantown Cricket club women's invitation doubles championship today without lifting a racquet when the American team of Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia and Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., defaulted.

It was understood that a shoulder injury which Miss Cruickshank sustained at Wimbledon this year when playing as a member of the Wightman Cup team was responsible for the default. Miss Cruickshank today carried her arm in a sling.

TEXAS GIRLS SEEK ENDURANCE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Too "thrilled and happy" to sleep, two Texas girls droned back and forth across Curtis-Reynolds airport today in their second attempt at a refueling endurance flight record.

The girls, Jean La Rene, Dallas, and Mary Owens, Forth Worth, took off at 7:13 P. M. (CST) with a remodeled Curtiss Thrush plane. Their first attempt ended when Miss Le Rene was saturated with gasoline in their first refueling. The girls landed to have their gas tank moved to a more accessible position.

The women's record is held by Helen Richey and the late Frances Marsalis, who stayed up 9 days, 21 hours, 42 minutes.

U. S. C. OF C. HEAD OPPOSES WALLACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP) —Henry I. Harriman, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, ranged himself today against Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in a dispute over the American merchant marine.

Harriman declared surveys by the chamber indicated the present "merchant shipping services in the aggregate are moderate." This was in answer to recent remarks by Wallace that he felt American capital could be put to better use by utilizing it to develop natural resources rather than shipping.

Harriman expressed confidence further study by public officials would convince them that the merchant marine is already at the lowest practical ebb.

LONG BEACH SLAYER GRANTED REPRIEVE

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Saved from the gallows by a last-minute executive reprieve, Leo Dwight Murphy Long Beach, slayer, went back to a cell on "condemned man's row" instead of through the little green door of San Quentin's execution room today.

Murphy was waiting alone in the death cage in the rear of the gallows when word came Gov Frank F. Merriam had issued a 90-day reprieve, postponing the hanging set for this morning.

The governor acted following representations by Attorney John Ehlen, San Francisco, that he had additional evidence to prove Murphy was insane when he killed his first wife in their honeymoon cottage eight years ago.

Sunset Beach

SUNSET BEACH, Aug. 24. — Mrs. John Gill and daughter, Jessyiyn Hare, of Glendale, spent a week as guests of the former's sister, Mrs. George Stanley. The hostess and her daughter, Virginia, and guests motored to San Diego and Agua Caliente one day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorman and daughter, Jane Anne, of Sacramento, have left to return to their home after a month's vavation at 1561 Ocean Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson and family, of Los Angeles, are spending two weeks at 1341 Ocean avenue.

Taxation No Problem In This Village

FUNK, Neb., Aug. 24.—(UP)—There'll be no property tax in Funk this year, principally because it doesn't cost anything to conduct the municipal offices.

Funk (pop. 150) will have only a poll tax as a direct assessment. Taxes from a beer parlor, tobacco shop and a pipe line company carry the remainder of the operating burden.

THIEVES LOOT HOME AT CORONA DEL MAR

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 25.—Thieves who looted the summer home of Ralph Modjeska, son of the late Madame Helene Modjeska, and supervising engineer in charge of work on the Golden Gate bridge, had apparently made good their escape to day with everything movable in the house, according to police reports. Report of the looting was made by Felix Modjeska, grandson of the famous diva, and former city councilman.

The thieves had apparently backed a truck up to the house at 701 Goldenrod avenue in Corona Del Mar and set to their moving. A bathtub, wash basins, fixtures, stove, two bedroom suites, dressers, chairs, and tables were taken, leaving nothing but the shell of the house. Value of the stolen articles is estimated at several thousand dollars.

KIN OF PRESIDENTS COMMITS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(UP) —The death of Nicholas McCarthy Harrison, 33, descendant of Presidents William Henry Harrison and Benjamin Harrison and a grand-nephew of Gen. Lew Wallace, author, was pronounced a suicide today by police.

His socially-prominent wife, Virginia, found him unconscious with a bullet through the temple shortly after they returned home from a dinner engagement in Pasadena. He died a few hours later in a hospital.

Mrs. Harrison, hysterical and at the point of collapse, was unable to supply police a motive for her husband's act.

SOVIET RUSSIA SENDS PROTEST IN SHARP NOTE

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Soviet Russia holds Japan responsible for a month-long series of incidents in the Chinese Eastern railway zone of Manchukuo, it was revealed today with publication of a sharp protest note sent to Tokyo.

The note protested the arrests, over a period of many weeks, of 88 Russian employes of the railway, of which Russia owns a half share.

Diplomatically it was of importance because it ignored the repeated Japanese assertion that Manchukuo, the state it made out of Chinese Manchuria, is solely qualified to deal with incidents in its territory.

Russian Ambassador Constantin Yurenev at Tokyo, in making the protest to the Japanese foreign office, said:

"The Soviet government, believing Manchurian (Manchukuoan) authorities and the Japanese government responsible for the actions, has directed me to declare to you its protest."

Russia's long deferred direct protest to Japan came as the climax to an increasingly angry series of protests by Russian newspapers, under the government's close control, and representations of the Russian consul at Harbin, Manchukuo.

Blames Japan

The Russian note was in restrained terms, but its tone revealed that Russia blames Japan, not Manchukuo, for the incidents which Russians believe are a calculated effort to force Russia to sell, on sacrifice terms, its share of the important railway to Manchukuo. Negotiations for the sale broke down recently.

The note said the Japanese war office in an official communique August 17 made the "unheard of statement" that arrests of Russian citizens and attacks on the railroad were arranged by the Russian far eastern army, to which the war office assigned leadership of the bandit gangs which raid the road.

"These statements of the war office," said the protest, "are accompanied by declarations of an aggressive nature directed at the Soviet Union. The Japanese government can not but understand that such frequent statements of the Japanese war office, along with the activities in Manchuria, manifest the growth of aggressive intentions of certain official Japanese circles."

RETENTION OF JURISDICTION IN CASE URGED

Contending that gambling is an offense contrary to public welfare and that the eight Seal Beach men charged with conspiracy to evade the gambling laws should be tried on felony counts in the Santa Ana justice court, Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner filed an answer to the objection of the defendants in having their case tried in Santa Ana.

Judge Kenneth Morrison will give his opinion Monday on whether he shall have jurisdiction of the case. When the preliminary hearing came up Tuesday, defense counsel interposed the request for a change of venue on the grounds that the offense charged in the complaint was a misdemeanor.

Under Section 162 of the penal code, conspiracy in some cases is a misdemeanor and felonies in others. The defense is claiming that gambling is an offense contrary to public morals and therefore, conspiracy to commit gambling is a misdemeanor. Turner takes the opposite view that gambling is an offense against the public welfare, and thus a felony.

If Judge Morison grants the change of venue, through interpreting the alleged offense a misdemeanor, the case will be heard before a jury in the Seal Beach justic court. If not, the preliminary hearing will be held September 5 in Santa Ana. The defendants were arrested in Balard's Chip Parlor on July 26.

CHARGES CODES CURTAIL SOME FARM BUYING

Conducting a survey and investigation concerning alleged discriminations against cooperative organizations under terms of the AAA and NRA, J. J. Deuel, director of the law and utility department of the California Farm Bureau Federation, was in conference with memebrs of the ways and means committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau here today.

Under the various codes and agreements of the NRA and AAA, agricultural cooperative purchasing has been curtailed in some instances, according to R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm Bureau, particularly in regard to fertilizer and oil for spraying.

Oil companies, Flaherty declared, have cancelled all agreements with the agricultural cooperative organizations, for the purchase of oil sprays, an action which will cost citrus growers of Southern California thousands of dollars.

Deuel's department is making an investigation, and he was to report progress on the check to members of the committee at today's meeting. While oil companies have refused altogether to sell to the co-operative groups, it has been difficult to find a solution to the purchase of fertilizers in the same manner, it was said, because of technicalities in the NRA and AAA codes and agreements.

It was pointed out that President Roosevelt has said cooperative organizations shall not be discriminated against in making purchases.

SUGGEST WAY OUT OF HEAVY CITY TAX LEVY

Justifying action of the Taxpayers' league in opposing the $250,000 bond issue for the redemption of the delinquent 1915 Act special assessment bonds, information was presented last night in Laguna Beach before city officials to show that it will probably be necessary to levy the proposed $1.40 tax in addition to the regular city tax.

Mayor Harold Pomeroy of Southgate, field representative for the California League of Municipalities, described procedure being followed in other cities on the 1915 Act question and said that in virtually every case, it was held against public policy to levy a large tax and more advisable to show good faith by raising a small tax, and paying the bondholders over a period of years from funds secured by economy and governmental surpluses.

He suggested that the Santa Ana council levy a 10 or 15 cent tax per $100 of assessed valuation, take whatever surplus monies are in the treasury and pay off the oldest delinquencies. This can be repeated next year and indefinitely until the bonds are redeemed, he said.

Even though the bondholders resort to legal action to force the city to pay the bonds all at once, in compliance with a recent decision of the supreme court, it is doubtful if a judgment could be secured or even collected, Pomeroy said. He declared that in most instances, when other councils made reasonable attempts to meet obligations, bondholders were willing to cooperate and take their payments over a longer period of time.

This is exactly the method proposed by Councilman A. F. LeGaye and A. G. Diehl, chairman of the Taxpayers' League, in meeting the delinquencies on the bonds, which are now nearly $220,000. They said that if the bond issue had been passed and $250,000 made available, the bonds would have been redeemed near face value, whereas the securities can now be liquidated at a discount and effect a considerable saving to the taxpayers.

Both LeGaye and Diehl maintain there are considerable economies that can be effected in the city government, and surpluses that can be used, to help create funds with which to meet the delinquencies.

Following the adjournment of the League of Municipalities meeting last night, Pomeroy held a long discussion with the Santa Ana officials, who virtually agreed among themselves that Pomeroy's findings in other cities were applicable in Santa Ana. This would call for the levying of a 10 cent rate to raise about $15,000 on the 1934-35 assessed valuation, and the transferring of several thousand dollars from the water fund.

SEWAGE WATER RECLAMATION WORK STARTS

Two new SERA projects were placed in operation today, one of them the long-awaited sewage reclamation project, it was announced by W. J. Tway, manager of the works placement bureau of the Orange county SERA.

Seven men were placed to work on Myrtle street, Santa Ana, between Artesia and Sullivan, where the experimental sewage reclamation plant is to be located. While seven men were assigned to work today, the project calls for the use of four mechanics and five laborers.

The plant is to be operated for one year, and by that time it is expected to be determined whether or not the reclamation of sewage water for irrigation purposes is feasible in this county. Murray Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer, is in charge of the project, which is sponsored by the board of supervisors.

Construction work on the plant is mainly to erect a building to house the plant with its recording gauges and meters. The plant is expected to cost around $3000, of which the SERA will pay $1910 in labor and the balance of $890, for materials and supervision, has been subscribed by various political subdivisions and other organizations in the county interested in the water program. The Farm Bureau has long advocated the reclamation of sewage water as a conservation measure.

The other project started today was to copy and rearrange the city records in the city hall at Anaheim. This project will give two stenographers work.

MUNICIPALITY GROUP TALKS PLANS ON DIVISION OF GAS TAX FUNDS FOR CITY USE

Prospect of increased road building in Orange county in the near future was predicted last night in an exhaustive discussion and presentation of estimates concerning proposed municipal allocations from the state gasoline tax at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in the Laguna Beach hotel last night.

City Engineer J. L. McBride of Santa Ana, Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim, Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea and Mayor Harold Pomeroy of South Gate and the California League of Municipalities, were the chief speakers on the gas tax and told of efforts being made by the State League and allied groups to force a more equitable distribution of the state funds.

McBride, a member of the state league gas tax committee and Mann, a member of the state league advisory committee, opened the discussion with a report of a meeting in Los Angeles last Saturday. Action taken by the league officials at this meteing proposed that the state highway department should take over the maintenance and construction of state highways through cities, and that cities should receive one-half cent of the three-cent gasoline tax for use on streets in cities other than state highways.

McBride said that following further study of this plan and the program submitted by the Automobile Club of Southern California, he had discovered that for a county the size of Orange county, where cities constituted 65 per cent of the county population, the club plan would return about 59 per cent more money to the cities than the league plan. This finding was verfied by Pomeroy in a later talk, although neither cared to recommend or declare that any plan was to be adopted at once by the league.

At the present time, cities receive one-quarter cent of the tax with various restrictions and for use only on state highways. If proposed legislation can be effected this year under either of the plans, the money will be available for all types of street work.

McBride presented tentative schedules of money which would be received by Orange county cities under both plans, based on population and the present amount of the state tax. There would be $140,000 available for htis county from the auto club plan and only $90,000 from the so-called "State League plan," he said.

The table of cities is as follows, with the small figure denoting the league amount, and the larger total, the auto club estimate: Santa Ana, $35,760, $55,020; Fullerton, $12,803, $19,712; Anaheim, $12,965, $19,950; Orange, $9508, $14,616; Huntington Beach, $4349, $6692; Newport Beach, $2593, $3990; Tustin, $1089, $1680; Seal Beach, $1369, $2100; Brea, $2870 $4400; La Habra, $2079, $4102; Laguna Beach, $2327, $3570; Placentia, $1803, $2912; San Clemente, $789, $1204.

President A. C. Hasenjaeger, on approval of the county league appointed Mayor L. A. Hogue of Brea, Councilman Leo Sheridan of Anaheim and Councilman Willis Warner of Huntington Beach to confer with Mr.Bride, Mann and Pomeroy at the Green Cat cafe in Santa Ana Monday noon and riscuss the matter in detail and prepare a stand for the county league. This committee will report to the executive committee of the league and take its decision to the state convention.

Assemblyman Craig, who has been of considerable aid to cities in securing allocations from the gas tax, commended the league for the interest taken in the matter and urged that the final plan proposed be one that can be passed through the legislature. He traced the history of the gas tax movement and the work of certain men, including McBride, in working on the gas tax question.

Pomeroy explained the various plans being proposed and predicted that a change in present laws was almost assured at the next session of the legislature.

Tom Murphine, former mayor of San Clemente, was a visitor at the meeting and spoke briefly in commendation of the efforts of the league in securing further funds.

Others who were present and introduced by President Hasenjaeger were W. W. Hay of Brea, member of the county SERA committee, Raymond Best, city attorney of Riverside, and Fred C. Rowland, new city councilman of Santa Ana.

2000 MILES OF STATE ROUTES TO BE MARKED

Keeping abreast of modern traffic requirements, the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile association in the north, are now making surveys for the erection of approximately 6000 new number signs on 2000 miles of main state highways. The new plan adopted by the state is modeled upon the United States system of numbering national highways and is designed to aid touring visitors as well as California motorists.

Routes classed as east and west will be given even numbers and north and south routes odd numbers. In order to avoid duplication, state numbers will not be given U. S. numbered routes. Having a triangular shape with black figures on white background, the new sign is easily read.

Southern counties will be posted by the Automobile Club of Southern California and northern counties by the California State Automobile association, under existing agreements which provide that the state purchase all materials at its own expense and the automobile clubs pay the cost of transportation of signs, labor and equipment.

Following is a list of the numbered routes which are of vital interest to Orange county:

Route 6—Santa Monica to Junction Route 39 near Fullerton.

Route 10 — Junction Route 3 south of Venice to Junction U. S. 101 at Santa Ana, via Manchester avenue and Santa Ana boulevard.

Route 14—Hermosa Beach to Junction Route 18 near Olive, via Artesia avenue.

Route 39—Junction Route 3 near Huntington Beach to Junction Route 2 near Valyermo, via Covina.

Route 55—Junction Route 3 at Newport Beach to Junction Route 18 near Olive.

More adequate control of the liquor situation and increased regulatory power for cities of California was cited as one of the three major issues before California cities today by Bernard Brennan, city attorney of Glendale, who spoke on legislative problems at the monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in Laguna Beach last night.

Brennan is chairman of the legislative policy committee of the California League of Municipalities and discussed in detail the many matters that are being proposed for recommendation at the state convention next month in September. He pointed out that the League could not hope to have the state legislature remedy all the laws at one session and only the most pressing would be urged by the League.

Probably the three most important problems are liquor control, more returns from the state gasoline tax and the elimination of the sales tax on municipal purchases, Brennan said.

"There are many suggestions to give cities increased liquor control," Brennan said. "It is generally agreed that zoning should be left to cities and is purely a local problem. Many say that the cities should be allowed to regulate closing hours and have jurisdiction in other normal police functions.

"With needed reforms, even if a city could not rid itself of the liquor traffic, it could impose reasonable limitations on the traffic," Brennan said. "Many cities also ask for the right to license liquor establishments for revenue purposes. Others favor the revenue but not licensing for regulation, since the two are closely allied.

"The suggested increase in the state tax on liquor establishments would tend to increase revenue to cities but would make a corresponding decrease in the number of stores and eliminate the unstable merchant. Another suggested remedy is to ask for a decrease in the percentage of the license money retained by the state. The cities now receive 60 per cent after the expenses of administering the laws are deducted, which often leave the municipality with little or no revenue."

Brennan treated about 15 other important legislative matters being discussed by his committee. One suggestion was to have the legislature pass an enabling act to permit cities to get control of public utilities, without floating a bond issue or increasing bonded indebtedness. One method would be to allow the city to build up a reserve fund from tax payments or to create a special sinking fund for acquiring the utilities over a period of time.

"Public utilities should also be required to keep intelligible books so that cities can tell the correct amount to be received from the utility from franchise taxes. At present, the utility statement has to be accepted when it is generally known that the city is not receiving sufficient revenue," Brennan said.

Limitation of municipal liability by requiring notice of defective streets, property, and other matters before judgments will be paid, was cited. The need for separate tax bills for special assessment bonds and regular city expenses was urged as a means of reducing delinquencies.

Brennan said that printing of delinquent tax lists was a moot question, because the method of posting copies was nearly as expensive as printing in newspapers, since added copies had to be prepared for the use of the public.

Touching on needed relief for special assessment bonds, he said that constitutional change should be made to relieve cities of entire liability for delinquencies. Reduction of interest on city bank deposits, the need of a state league headquarters in Sacramento to guide legislation through governmental channels, need for cooperation on the various issues, and a request for advice from the county league were touched upon by Brennan.

Rubber mileposts that are pushed out of the way when struck by an automobile, and then rebound into position, have been installed along some German highways.

Expenses

Property owners and voters of the Fifth Supervisorial District are demanding a change in their representation on the County Board of Supervisors. They want a "New Deal" right here at home. We have hired the same man over and over again for the past twelve years—and the most of us have seen this employee just four times during that period; once when he was first asking for the job, again when he came around for "One more term," then when he was after the third term, and during this campaign when he wants another four years' job.

We maintain, that isn't good business; no successful person would follow such practice in his private business, and it cannot be followed successfully in public matters. The administration of our county affairs is most important, and the public employee who functions to the best interest of the taxpayers should of necessity keep in close and constant touch with his constituency—the people for whom he is working.

LOGICAL MAN FOR SUPERVISOR

With Water Conservation, Flood Control and Harbor Development major issues before the County, it is most important that we elect John Sauers to the Board of Supervisors, a man who is a life-long friend of Secretary of War George Dern, in charge of Federal Rivers and Harbors development. With the assurance of friendly consideration from the start, the advantage of Mr. Sauers in best serving the people in these major issues is at once apparent, if he is elected to the County's governing body.

(Santa Ana Register)

Emphasizing the splendid handling of the milk strike situation at Los Alamitos, storm center of the attempted invasion of Orange county, Manager Joseph W. Smoot, of the Thompson and Main dairy, said:

"Everything is going smoothly at the dairy, thanks to the sheriff's office. We were very much impressed with the way Sheriff Jackson handled the strike situation in our neighborhood. The prompt action saved us a lot of serious trouble."

(From Cypress Enterprise)

"Orange County does not propose to be annoyed by strikes led by agitators from Los Angeles . . . Sheriff Logan Jackson has utilized the slogan of "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure," and thus far his program has worked splendidly."

(Orange News)

Referring, editorially, to the danger of the milk strike crippling industry, the Orange Daily News on January 10, 1934, said:

". . . . It is, however, if allowed to develop, capable of causing serious difficulty to local industry, and as such, ought to be handled with firmness by local authority.

"It is being so handled. Instructed by the experience of other sections of the state, where unnecessary bloodshed occurred largely through the neglect of local authority, Sheriff Jackson has taken vigorous measures to control the opportunities of agitators to resort to violence. The sheriff has acted in a sane and intelligent manner and has merited the approval of the people of Orange County."

(Anaheim Bulletin)

"Following a day of quiet along the milk strike front in Orange County, authorities today expressed belief that serious trouble probably had been averted and the strike movement was on the wane. Continued watchfulness was maintained, however, by Sheriff Logan Jackson, who still was providing armed escorts for milk trucks.

"The county supervisors today assured Sheriff Jackson that they stood squarely behind him in 'whatever measures are necessary to protect the county.'

The sheriff appeared before the board to advise them of his action in employing a number of special deputies from the ranks of the unemployed, to cover the strike emergency."

—1933 County Grand Jury

LOGAN JACKSON CLUBS

Of Orange County

JUDGE J. B. TUCKER

(Fullerton News-Tribune)

"A tense situation today confronted law enforcement officials of Orange County with the Southern California milkers strike threatening to spread among 100 or more dairies in the western part of the county, affecting upward of 1000 men.

"Sheriff Logan Jackson prepared stringent measures to maintain law and order, and was ready to mobilize "as many men as needed" to meet the situation adequately."

(Orange News)

With deputy sheriffs patrolling the citrus areas last night, protecting the fumigating crews that had, for the most part returned to work after being forced off their jobs by a large band of strikers the preceding night, the attempt to force a walk-out of fumigation workers in Orange county apparently had collapsed as promptly as the recent milk strike was crushed."

(From the La Habra Star)

"Incidentally, the forces of law and order will add to their equipment a powerful weapon when the new Orange County radio station goes on the air in March. It will be one of the most up-to-date stations of its kind on the Pacific Coast . . . Sheriff Jackson is given credit for proposing the station on a county-wide basis and later developments brought in most of the cities."

(From Placentia Courier)

Before the public was aware of the latent danger involved in the milk strike, Sheriff Logan Jackson had assembled a strong group of deputies, mounted some of them in fast cars and sent them cruising on the lookout for bad spots.

Other deputies were encamped on the borders of Orange county in the vicinity of Los Alamitos. Camp fires glowing, and a group of burly, two-fisted deputies around them, warned scouts of the riot inciters that Orange county was not a healthful place to pull their rough stuff. As a result of these precautionary measures, Orange county had no riots or bloodshed.

In the event of citrus troubles, the same forearmed tactics will be employed by the sheriff's office.

KEEP CITIZENS INFORMED, SAYS CLUB REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Keeping the public constantly informed about what is going on in the legislature during and between sessions is highly important, in the opinion of the Commonwealth club of California.

Evidence of a year's study by this group, in cooperation with the American Legislators' association and other agencies, shows, however, that the citizen's knowledge of what the legislature is doing is sketchy on any but the most important questions.

Shortness ot time between the introduction of bills and their passage, lack of space in the newspapers, the expense of printing copies of bills, the inadequate system of indexing bills pending and the desire for secrecy are among reasons.

The Commonwealth club includes the following recommendations:

Lengthen the recess between the two parts of the regular legislative session from 30 days to six weeks. This would give citizens more time to learn what bills are pending and to communicate with their representatives about them if they wished.

Abolish skeleton or "high jacked" bills which have titles so vague that they can be made to cover everything from hairpins to elephants.

Print an adequate number of copies of bills pending and bills being amended, so that clerks of counties and cities, public libraries an dinterested individuals may be sppplied.

OLD AGE PENSION COSTS $1892 PER MONTH IN COUNTY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 24.—(UP)—More than 4000 persons have been added to Old Age Security rolls in California during the past year, according to a report of the department of social welfare.

The state now is spending $176,878 per month to aid 17,694 elderly people. A year ago, only $145,170 was needed for 13,432 perons.

563 Service And Amusement Places In Orange County

This is the only deduction possible as a result of a survey report filed with the state by the federal government showing there were 32,474 service establishments and places of amusement in operation in California, last year.

The California service establishments and places of amusement reported total receipts for the year of $195,760,472, the report revealed. The total payroll aggregated $48,317,980.

Orange county reported 563 service establishments and places of amusement with receipts totaling $2,130,225.

For purposes of classification "service establishments" included places of business performing personal service for the public such as barber shops, beauty parlors, laundry agencies and similar esamusement serving the public such as theaters, amusement parks, shooting galleries and dance halls were included in the survey.

A dog show under the auspices of the American Kennel club will be a new feature at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona this year. While the fair will last from Sept. 15 to 30, the dog show will occupy the last three days only.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

SPEAKER

The House Office Building here showed signs of almost coming to life today. Some of the more important House members made a bee-line to Washington from Speaker Henry T. Rainey's funeral at Carrollton, Ill., despite their individual campaigns for reelection, and huddles were in progress in several offices.

Selection of a successor to Rainey is giving the boys plenty to think about. The White House is extremely interested in the matter—but how much influence the big mansion can exert is problematical.

As reported generally, Rep. Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, looks to be the best bet to step up from his present job as Majority Floor Leader. The question is, how much opposition will he have and who will be Floor Leader?

* * *

When the House was last organized, Rep. John McDuffie, of Alabama, ran against Rainey for the Speakership. He was supported by Reps. Will Bankhead, of Alabama, and Sam Rayburn, of Texas. McDuffie was soundly defeated as a result of a trade between Rainey and Byrns whereby the latter gave up his aspirations to the chair and ran instead for floor leadership.

A community of interest should exist between Speaker and Leader. House Democrats are busy trying to find out who Byrns will support for the leader's post—or whether Byrns will run for Speaker without commitments in that respect.

The North and West are demanding again that if the Speaker comes from the South the Leader should come from one of the other two directions. Astute politicians predict that this time both jobs will go south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

* * *

The Bankhead-Rayburn-McDuffie combination will be in the thick of the fight when the Democrats caucus next December but they are having trouble lining up their ticket.

McDuffie is expected to defer this time to Bankhead in the matter of seeking additional honor, Bankhead having done that for him last time.

Their problem is whether to run Bankhead for Speaker and Rayburn for Leader or vice versa.

* * *

Bankhead is the only one of the three who would be fairly acceptable to Byrns as Leader. Also, he probably could muster greater strength than Rayburn in a contest against Byrns for the Speakership. Still another angle is Bankhead's health, which hasn't been of the best recently.

Some of the close observers are betting that Bankhead will run for speaker and Rayburn for Leader. The boys who are taking these bets think Rayburn would weaken Bankhead too much if they ran as an entry. Rayburn has demonstrated his ability but many insist he is not sufficiently popular with his House colleagues.

Sentiment is being sounded out at this moment as to Rayburn's chances. If the answer doesn't sound hopeful there is a good chance Bankhead will seek a deal with Byrns whereby they would run for Leader and Speaker respectively and Rayburn would step aside.

Before the jockeying for position is over, both factions will have to promise plenty in the way of committee chairmanships and House patronage.

SHIFT

Whether Donald Richberg steps into General Johnson's shoes openly or not, insiders say he will be pulling the strings at NRA very shortly. That much appears to have been decided. How to bow Johnson out and Richberg in is the poser.

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't want it to appear that Johnson is being kicked out. Over and above his appreciation of the General's early organization efforts, the President can't afford to. It would be too much of an admission that NRA hadn't been overly successful.

On the other hand, industry has turned a definite thumb down on the fiery General. Labor doesn't regard him as the friend they first thought him to be. The White House can hardly afford to permit Johnson to dictate the nature of NRA'S reorganization—which he has been trying to do as a means of easing the pain of his own exit.

Some of those closest to the inside mechanism think a new advisory policy board will be established with Johnson as its head. This would be announced with plenty of favorable publicity for Johnson—and the advisory board could die quietly behind a screen of inattention. Meanwhile, Richberg or someone else would be designated to run the mechanics and gradually ease into the center of the saddle.

Just now the New Deal publicity setup is doing its best to keep Johnson and NRA out of the headlines long enough to make the president's announcement come very gently.

* * *

SAVED

Washington hears, despite all preliminary denials, that a deal is on whereby Rep. Jack Cochrane, of St. Louis, is going to run for his House seat again this fall regardless of having stepped out to take a bad shot at the Senate.

While Cochrane was jousting against the Senatorial nominations of Boss Tom Prendergast of Kansas City and Senator Bennett Clark, a gentleman named Joseph Lennon copped the Democratic Congressional nomination in the St. Louis district. Prior to the senatorial primary, which the Prendergast machine won, Senator Clark charged that Lennon was merely keeping Cochrane's seat warm in case the Congressman lost out.

Cochrane denied this at the time but word comes back to Washington that Lennon is getting ready to step aside. Rep. Clarence Cannon of Mo. already has set the stage with a statement Cochrane is too valuable a member of congress to be lost to his constituents.

HOOVER

General Frank T. Hines, who has served as Veterans' administrator for some years, was in California recently and took occasion to visit his old boss, Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Hoover has just acquired a farm near his Palo Alto home and was showing it proudly to Hines.

DRUNK DRIVING SURVEY SHOWS NEED FOR LAWS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—In many states it is legally possible today for a motorist convicted of driving while drunk to escape with a fine of as little as one cent or one day in jail.

This is one of the high lights of a comprehensive report by the American Automobile association on the penalties provided in the laws of the 48 states and the District of Columbia for the offense of driving while under the influence of liquor.

"Drunken driving is a factor in the increasing toll of highway accident and one over which we must and can secure a greater measure of control by providing more uniform, adequate, reasonable and rigidly enforced penalties," Thomas P. Henry, president of the national motoring body, declared.

Penalties that may be legally imposed for first offense convictions range from one cent to $5000.

Seven states, namely, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon and West Virginia, make jail sentences mandatory for first convictions. Three states, New Hampshire, Virginia and Rhode Island, have definitely provided by law that sentences for second convictions cannot be suspended. Suspension or revocation of driving permits is mandatory for first offenses in 31 states.

Commenting on the findings, Henry said in part:

"The penalties under the laws of many states are wholly inadequate and ineffective in practice. In other states they are unduly severe, with the result that convictions are difficult to secure.

"A reasonable standard for the treatment of this class of highway offender is furnished in the Uniform Motor Vehicle Code as recently amended by the Fourth National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. For first convictions it prescribes a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1000, or a jail sentence of not less than 10 days and not more than one year, or both. For second offenses, it prescribes a minimum mandatory jail sentence of 90 days, with an additional fine in the discretion of the court."

EXCEPTIONAL REFRIGERATOR DISPLAY

Court Notes

Jose Gutierrez, charged with failure to pay wages, had charges dismissed in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday when it was shown that he had made settlement out of court to the complaining witness.

Arthur Kerr, serving a 7½ day jail term for drunkenness, paid the $6 balance of his $15 fine and was released yesterday.

Roy E. Cartwright was given a 10 day suspended jail sentence on vagrancy charges by Judge J. G. Mitchell in police court yesterday.

Two Stolen Cars Recovered Here

Two stolen cars were recovered in Santa Ana yesterday and last night, one by the owner and one by police.

J. A. Smith, Register employe, living at 926 West Camille street, had his machine stolen from Third and Sycamore streets about midnight. While being taken home by another motorist, he saw his car parked at South Flower and Pine streets and drove it home.

The stolen car of Clyde Hopewell, 1006 1-2 West Fourth street, taken Wednesday night from the Municipal Bowl, was found by police yesterday on West Tenth street.

"CIRCUS CLOWN" WEST COAST TODAY

Filmed in the glamorous environment of the circus, "The Circus Clown," starring the noted comedian, Joe E. Brown in the title role, comes to the screen of the West Coast theater today. The picture will show for a week.

The comedian is perfectly at home in the picture, inasmuch as he was part of the circus life for many years. He is at his hilarious best in the picture as a "prop" man who becomes the leading clown of the circus after a series of thrilling incidents and uproarious situations. Patricia Ellis, Dorothy Burgess and Donald Dilloway have important parts.

Short subject include Ruth Etting in a musical revue, "Song of Fame," an oddity, "Dad Minds the Baby," a Terrytoon cartoon, "Busted Blossoms," and World News events.

Picnics and Reunions

JEWELL COUNTY

Annual mid-summer picnic reunion of former residents of Jewell county, Kansas, will be held Sunday, September 2, at South Park, Los Angeles, Avalon boulevard and East Fifty-first street, it was announced by E. A. Gildner, Los Angeles, president of the group.

NEW DIX FILM AT BROADWAY TODAY

Problems of the family triangle provide stirring drama in the picture. After the couple has been divorced, the father's love impels him to break prison bars to go to the aid of his daughter, who is in trouble. Edith Fellows and Dorothy Wilson are featured players.

The program of short subjects includes an Ernest Truex comedy, "Wrong Bottle," a Betty Boop cartoon, "Life Guard," a Magic Carpet travelogue in color, "Paradise of the Pacific," and Register World News events.

HAND MADE RUG DISPLAY NOW BEING SHOWN

Displaying a remarkable ability and ingenuity, coupled with hundreds of hours of tedious work, five hand-hooked rugs identical with the type used in the early American period, hand-made by Mrs. Tressa Sabin of Costa Mesa, now are on display at the Chandler Furniture store, Third and Main streets.

It took Mrs. Sabin six months, working a full eight hours each day, to make even one of the 9x12 hooked rugs. There are two rugs of this size, each of different design and of different materials.

One of the 9x12 rugs is made of silk, and is valued at $150, while the other is made of wool and is valued at $250. There are three other smaller throw rugs, each of them about 3x6 feet in size.

James N. Harding, manager of Chandler's, spoke highly of the quality of work in the rugs, declaring that they are the best and most attractive hand-hooked rugs he has ever seen in many years of experience in the furniture business. Choice of design and the manner in which color combinations are colored out is remarkable, he said.

In harmony with the display of the rugs, the window display has been arranged to include furniture of the early Colonial period. Included in the exhibition is a spinning wheel which is usable, and a coffee table which is a cobbler's bench. An old Boston rocker, which Harding said is coming back into favor, and a Cape Cod chair, are features of the display, with other early American period furniture.

"Shooting Benders" for Black Gold

How the slant drilling process, which burrows around corners, beneath mountains, rivers and even oceans, is opening new oil fields once thought inaccessible

The "upstairs man" sets the clamp for surveying-in a string of pipe preparatory to slant-drilling in a new direction.

This sketch shows how the slant-drilling method enables men to send pipe down around rock strata or other obstacles to strike a new oil pool.

By Andrew R. Boone

NEARLY a mile straight down, as the crow might fly were it able to penetrate the earth's crust, an oil well in southern California extended toward the black gold known to exist in a rich sand. Then it turned abruptly, much as an automobile angles around a street corner, slid off sideways 400 feet, and continued vertically again until it finally reached the underground reservoir.

At no point during the long descent were the drillers "lost." Through photographs they knew every hundred feet exactly where the drill swung, how far and in what direction the hole was being drilled off vertical.

Similar miracles are being wrought around the world with oil wells. Expert surveyors are "shooting benders" as they burrow at an angle under mountains, rivers, swamps and even the ocean. They now can open a window through the wall of a hole at any depth and send their drill off at any angle, sometimes drifting a potential well as far as a mile.

With removable whipstocks, knucklejoints which bend in the middle and bore through steel, concrete and rock to open new routes, and marvelously precise cameras which record both the angle and direction the holes are taking, drillers today can overcome any barriers set up by nature and find oil no matter where it may exist.

To the world this means that vast new fields are being opened under the famous salt domes of Texas, beneath the Pacific Ocean, under the broad Louisiana marshes, below tropical rivers, beneath Persian mountains.

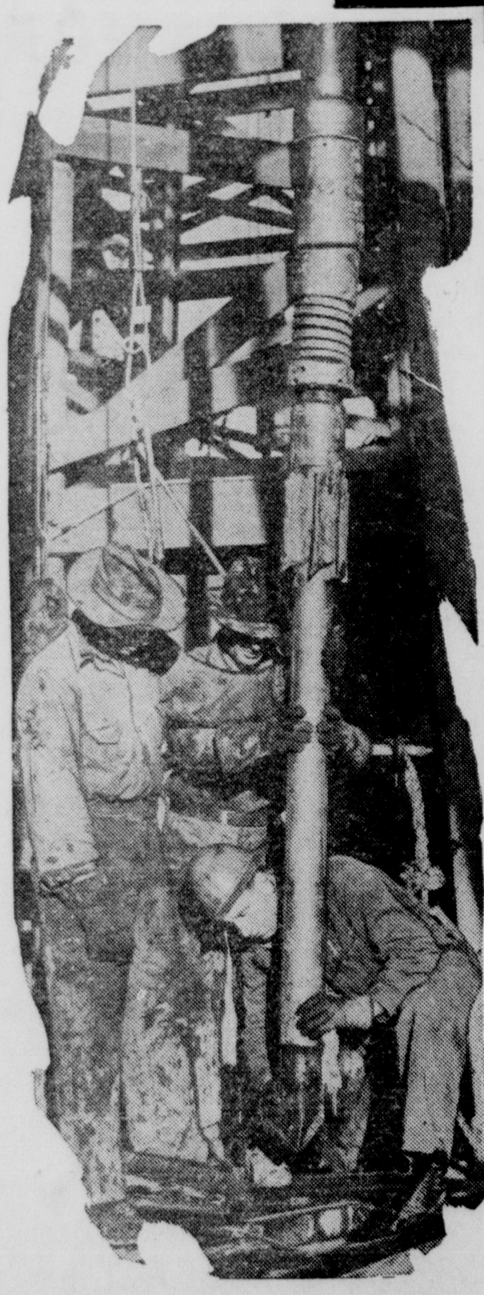

NOT until H. John Eastman, an oil well surveyor of Long Beach, Calif., commenced "slanting" holes sideways in quest of oil when it failed to flow through holes drilled straight down from the rigs, did the oil industry realize that new sources were being opened.

Yet Eastman in recent months has demonstrated that he can send holes down vertically or on a slant, at any desired angle, throwing the bit within a small circle a mile or farther underground—and show the drillers every morning with a drawing exactly where the drill is hanging! He has drifted holes as far sideways as 1100 feet while going down 4000 feet!

While the drillers run in stand after stand of pipe, surveyors measure accurately the depth and direction each stand faces. Sounds complicated, yet in a few hours these wizards of the oil fields can survey a well, start it in a new direction and leave the old hole to its own devices.

Accurate? You'd be surprised. On one recent occasion a surveyor drifted a hole 400 feet toward a Texas gasser, struck the gasser a thousand feet underground—then calmly shut off the gushing gas by pumping mud into the hole far below!

Suppose we join the surveyors and learn how they operate. We stand for the moment on the floor of an oil-bespattered derrick near Long Beach. Mr. Eastman directs proceedings. Fifty feet above our heads sits the "upstairs man," at ease in a boatswain's chair as his legs grasp the drill pipe. Before us stands the "downstairs" man with his transit.

Eastman turns to the "downstairs" man and shouts a question:

"Can you see that pepper tree about a hundred feet northwest?"

"Upstairs?"

"I can see it."

"Okay. Use the tree as your reference."

The "downstairs" man adjusts his instrument on the tree. As he completes his "fix" he waves his arm to the man above. In a few seconds the "upstairs" surveyor screws tightly to the upper end of the pipe the bracket holding his transit, centers it on the same tree and shouts "okay" down to his co-worker.

QUICKLY the stand is lowered down the hole until the upper bracket reaches the ground level. Again the "downstairs" man fixes his instrument to the bracket, sights on the tree, notes in a book the angle and direction the pipe has turned—if any—and calls for another stand to be screwed in place. Fifty times they repeat the procedure.

But what is happening down there?

Unfortunately we cannot carry you down an oil well—but we can rely on Mr. Eastman, whose scientific instruments bring up precise pictures of feats of magic being performed down below, for an explanation.

"Unless the surveyors are accurate," he explains, as the rig shakes under the heavy load, "we are completely lost. These boys"—indicating the "upstairs" and "downstairs" men—"first face the knuckle joint or whipstock in the direction the well is to take. Then as they run in each section of pipe by checking on the same reference point they determine in which direction and how far the lowest stand has turned by the time they have run in 50 stands.

"It then is a simple matter to apply the correction and turn the entire string of drill pipe until the deflecting instrument faces in the proper direction.

"The knuckle joint, being fitted with a spring, forces the pipe at that point against the side of the hole. This throws the diamond drill against the opposite side. Thus when the pipe begins to turn, the spring and the tremendous weight of the pipe above forces the drill to bite its way out the side of the hole. That simple!

"UNDER some conditions the removable whipstock is the answer. The whipstock is a deflecting wedge fitted with a collar which is smaller than the bit, but slightly larger than the drill pipe."

Until Mr. Eastman brought out this invention, the expensive whipstocks were left permanently in the holes.

When ready to "slant" a well with this device, the crew plugs the hole with concrete, then lowers the whipstock suspended from the bit. Again, its direction is oriented as with the knuckle joint.

"The whipstock," Mr. Eastman explains, "rests its weight—as much as 3000 pounds, depending upon the size—on the plug, but the bit slides down its tapered steel face and eats its way out through the side of the hole. After it has started the hole 30 feet or so in the new direction, we pull it up, and as it re-enters the original hole it strikes the collar and hauls the deflector back to the surface."

Once the hole is deflected, how far may it be continued aslant, and how do the surveyors know where it is going?

Again—simple, to believe Mr. Eastman.

He recently perfected a movie camera which will take a picture every 90 seconds for a day or longer. Instead of actually looking at the open hole, the lens points toward a plumb bob and magnetic compass. Let's lower a camera down the hole and see what happens.

FROM a thin piano wire the delicate instrument is suspended. Every hundred feet it is halted long enough for a picture to be taken. An hour later it is hauled to the surface. Mr. Eastman interprets the invisible scene for us:

"On the tiny film registers a picture revealing not only how far in degrees the bob is hanging from vertical, but also in what direction. By matching pictures taken every 100 feet, we determine in a few minutes the exact course the hole is taking, and you can tell to the foot how far, and whether north or south, east or west, it has 'slanted' from vertical."

Mr. Eastman first produced his devices to cure crooked holes. He has restored many wandering wells back to vertical. Then he discovered he could slant a straight hole as easily as restore a crooked one.

The widest application for this sensational new system is found in Texas and Louisiana. Already 112 salt domes have been explored for oil in those states. On one dome alone—Barbar's Hill—92 holes have been drilled through the overhanging salt.

Frequently the bits were left swinging in the caverns dissolved away by water and mud. But the oil is known to be there and already preparations are being made to slant through solid rock and hard earth around the sides, thus missing the salt entirely.

IN Texas and elsewhere we see a strange mixture of modern science and ancient divining rods at work finding oil where, a few years ago, it was thought not to exist.

With counterparts of "witch sticks," which Cicero and Tacitus centuries ago mentioned as a way to see under the earth, geologists now look deep beneath the surface. Artificial earthquake waves measured by seismographs, torsion balances, magnetic dip needles and instruments measuring electrical resistance may locate oil, but the slanting devices produce it in case some natural obstacle interferes.

Differences in resistance tell them often where oil occurs. It may be beneath a river or a mountain, or under a salt dome. Dr. Ludger Mintrop, an eminent German geophysicist, brought the method to the United States several years ago and recently through it immensely valuable new oil sources have been found.

Dr. Mintrop began the manufacture of earthquakes with dynamite As the vibrations raced down and through solid earth assistants plotted from their stations, spread fan-like around the point of explosion, the location, depth, shape and inclination of buried geological structures.

Celebration To Mark Start Of Work On Jetties

CIVIC GROUPS OF PORT AREA TO PARTICIPATE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 24.—A special celebration making the start of extension work on the harbor jetties was insured as the board of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce undertook plans for the event at yesterday's meeting of the group. All civic groups of the vicinity will be asked to participate in celebrating the arrival of the first load of rock for the project, which is expected about September 15. A committee will be announced the first of next week.

Possibility of a joint Orange county entry in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena was discussed. Following receipt of a letter from the Pasadena group asking that a float be entered, the directors voted to contact the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, the Orange County Coast association and civic groups in Santa Ana and nearby towns to attempt to obtain united action on the matter.

Stating that through a joint action a more pretentious float would be possible, A. B. Rousselle, president of the chamber, plans to name a committee to undertake this work in the near future.

The chamber budget for the year, consisting of $4880, was filed. The budget, as allowed by the city council, sets $1000 for the office, $1200 for advertising, $250 for Coast association advertising, $1500 for the Tournament of Lights, radio fishing reports, $150; Boy and Sea Scouts, $600, and $180 for the baseball club.

Lew H. Wallace was appointed as a member of a joint committee from the Orange County Coast association and the Associated Chambers of Commerce to investigate fishing problems in the vicinity, and to arrange if possible for appropriate legislation restricting harmful activities of commercial fishermen.

BALBOA ISLAND GROUP READY FOR PROGRAM SATURDAY EVE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 24.—With the addition of several musical groups and the alignment of stops to be made by serenading floats, plans for the third Venetian Nights carnival sponsored by the Balboa Island Water Carnival association were completed yesterday, according to announcement made by J. A. Beek, secretary of the group. The carnival is slated for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in conjunction with the aquatic program of Newport-Balboa.

Headlining the list of entertainers will be several Los Angeles organizations, notably the Hawaiian singers, a group of artists specializing in melodies of the south seas, and a cornet duo. A group of minstrels will occupy one of the floats under the direction of Clarence G. White of Newport Beach.

Old favorites will be back with the serenading parade. The Elinor Beckwith Trio, with Ontonia Mellio and the Terwilliger Trio, will occupy one of the gaily decorated floats. The boathouse quartet, well known group of island musicians, will make an appearance in the parade. A xylophone novelty featuring Ray Graybill has been announced.

The floats will stare from the Balboa Island bridge at 8 p. m. sharp, and will make nine stops in the evening, presenting a continuous two-hour program of music from the water. Serenading points will be at the Balboa Yacht club, the south ends of Marin, Coral, Collins, Opal and Emerald avenues and the north end of Garnet and Saphire avenues. One extra stop will be made on the mainland, at East Newport, at the pier of Clerence G. White.

MAY ASK STATE HELP ON TAXES IN BEACH AREA

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 24.—Speculation was rife today here as to what will be the reaction on the part of affected property owners, and as to what steps, if any, they may invoke to arrest the collection of the almost confiscatory assessment levies placed against them in connection with the financing of the Broadway and the Sleepy Hollow improvement districts.

Coupled with these observations, it was hinted that the property owners may take up the matter with candidates for the legislature, which body, it was learned, may be asked to enact necessary relief legislation. The improvements were ordered under the arbitrary provisions of the Mattoon act, repealed at the last session of the state legislature.

Distribution of assessed valuations, amounts required to be raised to meet deficits and current obligations, and levy rates, in each zone of the Broadway improvement district, as adopted by resolution at the council meeting held Wednesday night, are shown in the following figures: Zone A, assessed valuation, $20,490; to raise $3967.17, rate, $19.38; Zone B, valuation, $15,355; raise $8644.05; rate, $56.36; Zone C, valuation, $4085; raise $4276.53; rate, $104.68 (more money to be raised on special levy tax than its assessed valuation); Zone D, valuation, $3795; raise $181.98; rate, $4.79; Zone E, valuation, $18,390; raise $873.33; rate, $3.66; Zone F, valuation, $5220; raise $218.38; rate, $4.18; and Zone G, assessed valuation, $7310; to raise $236.57, rate, $3.23. Altogether current requirements for the present fiscal year total $10,521.47. To this sum must be added a deficit of $7676.54, remaining from the fiscal year of 1933-34.

The Sleepy Hollow improvement district calls for $5068.53 for the current fiscal year and $3917.99 to cover deficits remaining from the preceding fiscal year. The total assessed valuation of the district is $20,825 with a levy rate of $43.16 on each $100 of assessed valuation.

SCHOOL FACTS PRESENTED AT LIONS SESSION

BREA, Aug. 24.—Speaking on school problems from the angle of finances and taxation, Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, addressed the Brea Lions at their weekly luncheon Thursday in the Masonic hall, R. E. Barnes presiding.

Adkinson deplored the fact that more than 30,000 qualified teachers are unemployed in the United States and that 3,000,000 children in America during the past year had been denied the privilege of attending school because of financial conditions which either curtailed or entirely eliminated the maintenance of schools. The speaker was presented by Louis Papillo, program chairman.

Frank Pierce, of Santa Ana, favored with three baritone solos, being accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong of the same city.

E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, deputy governor of district No. 4, spoke of the 1935 convention in San Diego. Joe Neuls reported on the game between Brea and San Diego Lions Saturday, the score being 6 to 1, and stated that a return game is scheduled for the evening of September 1 on the Brea field. C. O. Harvey reported on the county council meeting in San Diego.

Guests present were Sheriff Logan Jackson, County Auditor W. T. Lambert, Harold Yost, candidate for recorder, all of Santa Ana, and William Rogers of the Birch Oil company.

150-ACRE H. B. TRACT LEASED; DOME OIL WELL DOWN 4030 FEET

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 24.—The east side well of the Dome Oil company on the Newland-Borchard tract will set casing at 4030 feet. Hamilton and Milburn of the Dome Oil company have arranged for a string of three-inch drill pipe and will go into the sand 300 or 400 feet to ascertain to some extent its depth before setting casing.

Mrs. Mary J. Newland has leased her 150-acre tract near the Dome Oil company well, across Hampshire avenue to the east of the well, for six months to a private individual whose name has not been divulged, the lessee paying a cash bonus of several hundred dollars for the lease. Some of the major companies are now scouting the east side for leases and the Standard Oil company will shortly erect a derrick and drill a new well offsetting the Dome well, the state permit having been issued some time ago.

Scouts who have worked the Dome cores over and kept tab on the well are making enthusiastic reports back to the lease departments of their companies, predicting a much stronger well on the Dome lease than oil men had expected, according to reports today.

The formation showed four or five hundred feet of sandy shale, then a hardening of the shale into hard shale, suitable for cap rock, and then a thoroughly saturated oil sand. Into this sand will go the smaller hole for 200 feet or 400 feet. The drill crew and geologists think they can set their eight-inch on the hard shale and get a good water shutoff and then take a test of the oil sand below.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monnie O'Dare, young and beautiful, sails for Europe as the companion of Miss Anstice Corey, an old friend. Monnie is trying to forget Dan Cardigan, believing he has jilted her for Sandra Lawrence. Sandra, pretending to be Monnie's friend, has been trying to win him from her. Dan's parents who look down upon Monnie because the O'Dares are poor favor the match with Sandra.

In London, Arthur Mackenzie, rich, middle-aged New Yorker, asks Monnie to marry him. Before she has given him her answer she receives a letter from Dan explaining his neglect and begging her to forgive him. Monnie decides to return home, taking the first boat. Mackenzie, who has been called back to New York on business, sails at the same time.

Meanwhile in Belvedere, Monnie's home town, it is reported that Sandra and Dan are engaged.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

The train slowed. Monnie, marshalling her forces and making certain her bags were all in order, felt a curious surge of excitement. She was home! Home! Home at last after the long ocean voyage, the dash across New York to make the morning train to Belvedere. Arthur Mackenzie had been everything that was kind and thoughtful. Monnie had felt, on leaving him, a pang of compunction. It seemed unfair that she should be able to give him nothing in return.

"Write me," he had said, holding her hand, on parting. "If anythihng goes wrong—if things don't fall out as you expect." And Monnie had promised lightly. Why should anything go wrong now? She and Dan would be reconciled. They would be married directly after Christmas when his uncle's legacy set him free. She had no fears now. All the way seemed to be clear for her. The trip already seemed like an agreeable dream.

No one knew she was coming. She had not wired—she had thought she would surprise them all. It was strange, arriving on the platform with no one to greet her. Strange and exciting, too. Old Marley Brockway who drove the "Rapid Fire Taxi" took her bags, looking at her a bit curiously, she thought.

"Been away, I see." That was old Marley, always. As if you'd be getting off the train otherwise. Monnie said yes.

"Folks know you was comin'?"

She shook her head.

The ancient automobile rattled along Main street. Monnie felt self-conscious, riding alone. How strange to see the town exactly as she had left it five weeks ago! Nothing had changed. What should she say to her mother—to Kay—about her sudden return? They would think it extremely odd. Well, she was in for that now, for all the explanations. They would be glad to see her and so perhaps would not ask too many questions. After she had satisfied them she would let Dan know she was back. Dan! Every man on the street, walking in her direction, might be Dan!

* * *

"Big excitement in town last night."

"There was?" Monnie wasn't really listening. She knew Marley and his "big excitements." Probably a dog fight.

"Yes, sir! Accident on the river road. People all bunged up." Marley clucked dolefully.

"Really." Monnie was thinking of her mother—what she would say to her.

"Took 'em to the hospital," the cabmen related with relish. "Hurt bad, I guess."

She listened with her thoughts far away. Once as the car took a corner cautiously she thought she saw a little group staring at her curiously. It was the usual crowd of ne'er-do-wells who hung around the fire engine house. Monnie shrugged her shoulders. The news of her return would soon be all about town.

"Mebbe you know 'em. Fact is, I'm sure you do," old Marley was droning on. "They was—"

Who the victims of the accident were the girl was destined not to know just then, as a milk wagon, drawn by a nervous horse, dashed across the path of the cab and Marley was too upset by the incident to chatter further. In another minute Monnie alighted at her own door.

She tried the knob, found the door locked and used the knocker vigorously. After an instant steps sounded and her mother appeared. Her eyes widened.

"Monnie! What on earth—? You are not sick?"

"Never that." Monnie embraced the small figure with vigor. "I'm fine and I've had a wonderful time! But I thought I'd loafed long enough—"

"But Miss Anstice?" Mrs. O'Dare's brow wrinkled anxiously.

"She found those old friends of hers in London and is going to see lots of them. She didn't mind."

It wasn't many mothers, Monnie reflected, who would ask so few questions as hers. Mrs. O'Dare appeared satisfied with the vague explanation though no doubt she was thinking her own thoughts.

"We've got a pick-up supper," she worried. "Nothing like what I would have had if I'd known you were coming."

* * *

The girl laughed joyously. This was getting home—having mother worry about what you ate and how you looked. She had missed it—oh, how she had missed it! The shabby little house, warm and cozy, the deep chairs, the books under the lamp. How familiar and yet how strange it all looked after the salons and cafes! Monnie wondered fleetingly what Arthur Mackenzie would have thought of her home. Then she tossed her head!

"Kay will be here soon," Mrs. O'Dare told her. "Mark's working at the Boston store. I told you that when I wrote, didn't I? He runs errands after school. He's saving his money for Christmas."

"And Bill?" Monnie was almost afraid to ask about Bill. Maybe he had gone off and married Angie while she'd been away.

"Bill is like a different person these days," said Monnie mother. Her face lightened. "He's—Monnie, I must tell you! It's all off between him and Angie."

"Not really?" Monnie was incredulous. The mother nodded.

"Yes. Angie went back to her husband two weeks ago. She'd been acting rather queerly lately. When Bill called her she was never in. Do you know, Monnie, I really think she cared about Bill and that she decided this was the best way out for them all? She knows Stan—that's her husband's name—has a vicious temper and that he'd make trouble for her. He never wanted to let her go, really, and had threatened Bill. You don't know how relieved I am about it all, although I'm sorry for the poor little thing! Angie really has some fine qualities."

"So that's one more mountain turned into a molehill," Monnie murmured, fluffing her hair before the hall mirror. "How I worried about that situation all summer, thinking Bill's life would be spoiled by such a marriage! You say he's taking it all right?"

"Yes, I think he's really relieved, deep down," the mother explained. "He was infatuated with Angie at first. She is pretty. And then the excitement of knowing she was forbidden fruit, another man's wife, kept up the feeling. You know how Bill is! Stubborn as a mule. He got the idea Angie was being mistreated and that he was her champion. When we accepted her—what else could we do.—the thrill wore off. He wasn't really in love with her and seeing her all the time quite casually rubbed off the bloom."

"You're a wise woman," Monnie marveled. "You see through all of us."

* * *

Kay burst in, interrupting this colloquoy. Kay in a brown suit with a green beret set saucily on the side of her bright curls. How pretty she was! Prettier than anyone Monnie had seen sihce she'd been away.

"You wretch!" Kay was exclaiming. "Barging in like this without letting us know!"

Kay's eyes flew to her mother's. "Has she heard?"

Monnie saw the quick frown and shake of the head her mother gave in return. Curiosity rose in a tide.

"Heard what? What have you been keeping from me."

"It's nothing." Her mather spoke almost apologetically. "Nothing you ought to be greeted with on your arrival home at any rate."

"Bad news?" Monnie's heart began to beat fast.

"She might as well know," Kay informed her mother gravely. Then she turned to Monnie. "Dan Cardigan was hurt in a motor accident last night," she said. "He's in the hospital."

Monnie got to her feet a bit unsteadily. "I—there must be something I can do! Can I see him?"

"I don't think so," Kay said, slowly. "It's serious. Internal injuries—and they're afraid of concussion. This morning when I talked to someone in the office there was a report they might operate."

Monnie clenched her hands at her sides. "I've got to see him," she said slowly, painfully. "He wrote me — I got the letter in London. Mother, you may as well know it. Dan is the only one I have ever loved. I came home to marry him."

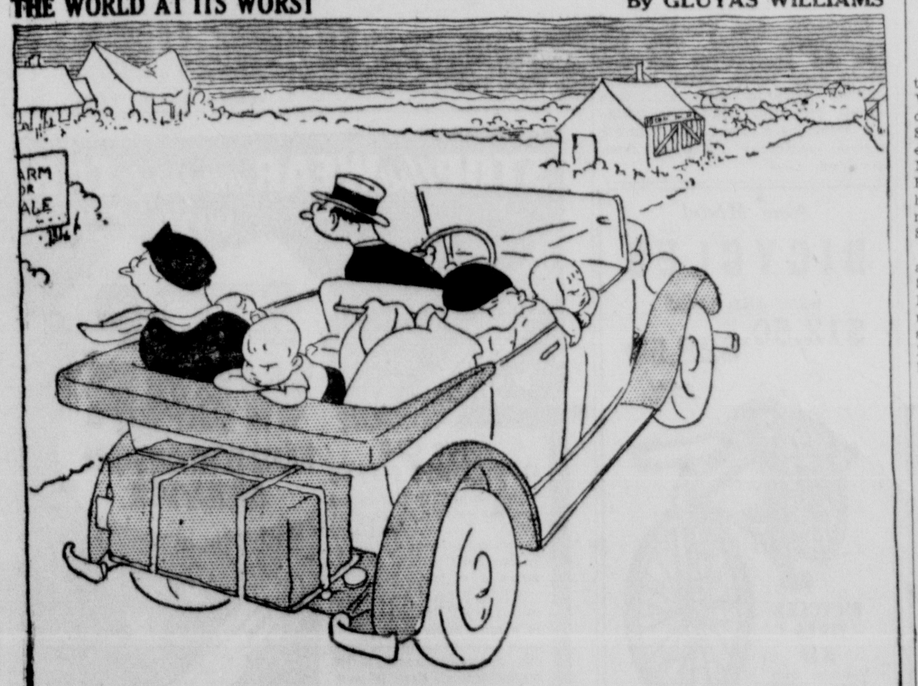

"Marry—?" Mrs. O'Dare flashed again that signal glance to Kay. "Tell her," she said quietly.

Kay looked away compassionately. "Dan and Sandra Lawrence were married by a justice of the peace last night," she said tonelessly. "Half an hour before the accident."

STARS, OILERS PLAY FOR TITLE

By Harry Grayson

When a pitcher is not as fast as he once was, it isn't advisable for him to go around stirring up the hitters.

"If I say one team is going to finish in front all I do is create a lot of trouble for myself," explaines Grimes, who on Aug. 18 celebrated his 41st birthday as a member of the Pittsburgh club, with which he launched his major league career 18 years ago.

"A couple of other outfits probably won't agree with me, and the next time I work against them they'll say to themselves, "So this is the guy who thinks we're out of the race, eh?" Then they'll bear down on me a little bit extra, and the next thing I know they'll be hitting the shirt off me.

"I have definite ideas about most things in this game, but it's bad business for an active player—and I'm not through with baseball yet although baseball may think it's through with me—to express opinions. I know what hitter is easiest for me to get out, but do you believe I'd tell him? If I did, he'd probably become the hardest. 'So Grimes thinks I'm easy, eh?' Whatn!

* * *

Dean Eats His Words

"I'll give you an example of what talking out of turn can do to a man, and Dizzy Dean is only 23. All Dizzy had to do to lick the Cubs was scale his glove onto the field. In July, of last year, the Oklahoman struck out 17 of them.

"So the night before his next start against them, he publicly invited the fans to come out to the park and watch him stand the Cubs on their heads. That made the Cubs mad. They thumped the daylight out of him, and he's been unable to finish a game against them since. They chased him three times before the final gong called them off him last fall, and have trimmed him in three of the five games he has lost this year.

"The average pitcher is at his best for from three to seven years. He doesn't learn much during that time. He's just firing the ball and they're not hitting him to any great extent. For a while he can pitch high and outside to a certain hitter, and make him fly out. Then there comes a time when that hitter starts cracking high outside balls.

"The trouble with most pitchers is that they do not realize that the time has come to do something else.

* * *

BASE-RUNNERS BOTHERSOME

A lot of pretty good pitchers of the present day will have trouble if base running ever comes back. It's one thing to pitch when you know the man on first is going to remain there, and another when you suspect he's going to steal.

"Age doesn't mean everything," goes on Grimes. "One day a man has it. The next day he hasn't.

Grimes recently pitched six-hit ball for eight innings to take a tough battle from the great Hubbell and the Giants, and on his birthday held the Dodgers to a single scratch hit for seven and two-thirds innings before faltering, being driven away from there and beaten in the ninth.

How the old boy hates to bow out!

BANKERS CINCH CITY LEAGUE'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Completing a record-breaking run through the second-half schedule and the subsequent play-off series, the Commercial National bank's baseball team today owned the Santa Ana City league championship.

The Bankers made it three straight over the Union Oil company, first-half champion, at the Municipal Bowl last night. The score was 3-1. The Commercials won the first two starts of a best score of 5-2.

Powerful pitching by Roy Stout, and a couple of fourth-inning home runs by Rod Smiley and Baldy Foltz decided the issue.

Stout gave up his only run in the first inning which Lloyd Kneeland opened with a single. Marvin Johnston forced him at second, and scored on Clark's fielder's choice and McCullough's single. The Union Oilers were blanked from this point, although they threatened in the eighth when Pitts doubled and Johnston walked, and again in the ninth when Lichtenwalter led off with a double only to die on third.

Lichtenwalter hurled hitless ball for three innings but Smiley, first up in the fourth, smote a home run which tied the score. After Stout struck out, Foltz followed with another homer, putting the Bankers out in front, 2-1. The new champions got their third and final marker in the fifth when Ritner doubled, took third on a passed ball and scored when Lichtenwelter fumbled Allen's grounder.

The contest closed a highly successful City league season in which both competitors and sportsmanship was on a high plane. Starting slowly, the Commercial Nationals picked up power as the race unfolded and was admittedly the strongest squad in the race at the end.

Outstanding City league players, including Stout and Foltz of the Commercial National bank, now will concentrate on the impending Southern California championship softball tournament in Los Angeles, beginning September 6. A tentative all-star club, sponsored by the Santa Ana 20-30 club, dropped an abbreviated game, 4-0, to Wayne Garlock's Stars last night.

WARMING UP FOR SANTA ANA'S FINAL ROUND--THEY HOPE

Here's an action picture of Marjorie Lauderbach of Santa Ana and Charles ("Chuck") Otis of Pasadena, two of the outstanding players in the Santa Ana Open tennis tournament, now being conducted on the courts at Frances Willard junior high school. Miss Lauderbach is confining her activity to junior singles and mixed doubles, her partner in the latter event being another Santa Anan, Lewis Wetherell. Otis, captain of Stanford University's net team, is a potential finalist in men's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. His partner in mixed doubles is Melva Roquet of Anaheim.

Fullerton	6	7	.462

Long Beach	0	13	.000

Saving the best for the last, Santa Ana and Huntington Beach finish their schedule tonight with the championship of the National Night Ball league hinging on the outcome.

The clubs clash at 8:15, at Huntington Beach. Both sides are primed for their greatest effort of the season.

If Huntington Beach wins, the Oilers will have completed a feat never before accomplished in the conference, that of capturing both halves of the split season. If Santa Ana wins, the Stars go into a tie for first place with Huntington Beach and Westminster, the latter being conceded a victory over Long Beach, and a round-robin series between the trio will be necessary.

Concede S. A. Even Chance

Observers believe Santa Ana has an even chance of breaking through, although Huntington Beach holds three successive victories over the home guard—2-0, 5-3 and 1-0. The Stars picked "Chico" Sabella for 11 hits the last time they faced him, yet couldn't produce a run. Those who lean to Santa Ana's chances point to the team's improved hitting of the past two weeks, and its continued brilliant pitching and fielding. The latter factors have made the squad a contender all year.

Jim Coates will hurl for the Stars with Sabella again his rival. "Eeny" Wilcox will do the Santa Ana catching. Otie Maness, called from retirement when Merv Lower was stricken with appendicitis, will be back of the plate for the Oilers.

Manager Bill Cole picks Ed Daley, George Preble, Tommy Young and Francis Conrad to start as usual in the Star infield, with Tom Denney, Rod Ballard and "Chub" Sears manning the outfield.

Westminster Cinch Winner

Only the greatest kind of an upset will keep Westminster from winning on its home plot from Long Beach, a team that has failed to score a victory all season. The tailenders have extended their "row" to 27 now. The Aviators will take no chances, propose to pitch "Fuzzy" Errington as usual and present their No. 1 lineup.

Fullerton, which has thrashed Anaheim three times, will try to make a grand slam of the '34 series at Anaheim. Earl Morrill will work against Al Bushman.

* * *

Olive closed its 1934 night ball season with an easy 9-1 decision over Torrance last night, the victory assuring the Packers of fourth-place money in the National division. Olive made two runs in the first inning, four in the fifth and three in the eighth. Eva Pusich, Torrance gunner, was wild and ineffective.

The defeat was the seventh out of nine starts since Louie Neva "jumped" the Torrance club to pitch for Visalia. When Neva left, Torrance had won four straight and was leading the second-half.

ROCKEY WHIPS WILLIAMS AT COUNTY ARENA

Featuring a card notable for the fact that there wasn't a substitution in any of the important spots, Jack Rockey of Long Beach, "uncrowned champion" of Southern California's amateur lightweights, scored a convincing victory over Morrie Williams, Los Angeles, at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

The battle went the distance of five rounds, and Williams, a newcomer from Indianapolis, put up a stubborn defense, but Rockey had the advantage in nearly every frame. Rockey also had the edge in weight and reach and, apparently, experience. He outgeneraled Williams continually.

Bill Robinson, Long Beach heavyweight, proved anew his superiority over Orange's huge Ray Garrison by scoring a knockout in the fourth round of their semi-windup. Garrison's blows hurt Robinson when they connected, but that wasn't often. A good prospect, Garrison lacks chiefly experience.

Indicating his readiness for a main event, or at worst, a semi-final assignment, Art Arroya of Westminster knocked out Tony Cruiz in the second round. He had Cruiz down for nine previously. Cruiz's handlers claim he never had been kayoed before.

Jesse Sanchez made Louie Flyer fly out the window in the first round. Flyer complained to Referee Benny Whitman that he had a pain in the heart.

In a close contest, "Baby Face" Romeriz shaded Mural Mesa in four rounds.

Appearing in the preliminaries for the first time in months, Paddy Quillen won a snappy decision over Benny Sparza after putting Sparza on his back in the first.

Referee Whitman was a bit hasty in stopping the Tino Munoz-Jack Knaub bout, awarding Munoz a technical knockout in the second. Knaub was a bit confused by Munoz's punches but seemed capable of taking care of himself.

Bill Morillo stopped Carlo Merrick in three, Whitman stopping it. Merrick made a real fight of it while he lasted. Two novices, Tony Santillo and Elmer Swanson, opened the show. Swanson got the verdict.

KOZELUH, NUSSLEIN WIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia, and Hans Nusslein, Germany, today were in the semi-finals of the National professional tennis championships. In the quarter-finals yesterday Kozeluh defeated Bruce Barnes, St. Louis, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3, and Nusslein trimmed Emmett Pare, Memphis, Tenn., 0-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

Play Semi-Finals In S. A. Net Tournament

They were getting down to cases today in Santa Ana Open tennis tournament.

Quarter-final matches were coming up this afternoon in several events, and semi-finals are scheduled in all divisions tomorrow afternoon when fans will see all the seeded stars "bearing down" on the Frances Willard courts.

The tournament thus far has proceeded without a single major upset, speaking well for the tournament committee, although Mildred Ward, Santa Ana's No. 1 singles player in the women's division in the absence of Josephine Cruickshank, was eliminated yesterday by Peggy Kerr of Long Beach, 6-3, 6-4. Mrs. Ward was seeded third and Miss Kerr was unplaced.

Lieut. Dolph Muehleisen of March Field, No. 1 in men's singles, moved into the third round on a bye but he and his doubles partner, David Gillam of Pasadena, were hard pressed to win from Art Zerbe and Vernhe Hughes of Long Beach, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Dr. Ben Parks and Carl Bartlett of Long Beach, defending champions in doubles, won under wraps from Art Stoefen and Caskey of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2. Stoefen, a six-four giant, is a cousin of Lester Stoefen.

Yesterday's results in full:

Monday's Games (Final)

Irvine at Orange; Fullerton at Anaheim; Brea at Huntington Beach.

No matter what happens Monday night, when postponed games of July 16 are written off the books, Irvine's Beanpickers are assured of at least a tie for the second-half championship of the Orange County Night Ball league.

Irvine last night went into undisputed possession of first place by defeating Fullerton, 1-0, in 11 innings at Fullerton. Singles by

Monday's concluding contests send Irvine to Orange, and Fullerton against Anaheim. Even if Irvine loses and Fullerton wins, Irvine will finish the season tied for the title. If Irvine wins or Fullerton loses, Irvine will be "in" and a series with Brea for the 1934 championship will be in order. Brea won the first-half.

Orange won easily from Olive, 18-11, making merry after scoring 10 runs in the first inning. Anaheim beat Huntington Beach, 12-7.

Book Describes Princeton-Rutgers Contest In 1869

WAR CRY 'ENLIVENED' CONTEST

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—We have at hand a volume by one Christy Walsh, a fellow who makes his living by getting people like Babe Ruth and Glenn Scoby Warner, the football professor, to sign articles about the sports in which they play or coach, but do not always write about.

Mr. Walsh calls his book "Intercollegiate Football—1869 to 1934." There is everything you would want to know about football in this book, and a lot of things you probably won't.

There is the statement that "Princeton met Rutgers at New Brunswick, November 6, 1869, in the first game of intercollegiate football played in the world."

On that memorable day, "the visitors' 25 players, accompanied by 50 followers, arrived during the morning and were at once taken in charge by their acquaintances, who entertained them with the hospitalities of the city, in which the game of billards predominated."

The game was called at three in the afternoon. The spectators upon arrival appropriated seats on top of the rail fence which partly surrounded the field. There was no admission fee—an omission which certainly served to distinguish that day from the present.

The princeton boys "suddenly electrified the spectators with their newly invented war whoop, or yell. Then Rutgers rooters, not to be outdone, "in full force and somewhat musical," entertained with such numbers as "Old Rosen, the Beau" and "Oh, Susannah!"

The game began and Rutgers took the kickoff "like hounds, driving it by short kicks and dribbles, not premitting a Princeton man to get near it." They got the ball down to Old Nassau's goals and kicked it through "amid great applause from fence-top and vicinity," for the first touchdown on record.

Princton went into a huddle, and elected Michael, or "Big Mike," as he was known, to break up this dribbling business. Big Mike did as he was told, "scattering players like bundles of sticks" until, in no time at all, Princeton had tied the score.

Things went on for some time. On one occasion, Big Mike and a fellow named Large, who played for Rutgers and apparently was very much like his name, went after the ball together when it rolled out of bounds and "unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact struck the fence, which gave way with a crash, and over went a load of yelling students to the ground."

The Rev. Leggett, captain of Rutgers, and the head of the Princeton side decided six goals was enough for any team, so that constituted a win. The game got along to four each, and Rutgers resorted to craft. The boys got down on their hunkers and nosed the ball along as in a peanut race. By these strategems two more goals were scored and Rutgers emerged triumphant, 6 to 4.

You may be sure there were great doings in New Brunswick that night.

YANKEE LIKELY TO OPPOSE ENDEAVOUR

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Yankee, the sailorman's lugger from Boston, needs only to beat Frederick H. Prince's Weetamoe today to be the public's choice to defend the America's Cup against T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger, Endeavour.

After the decisive beating Yankee, weathered heroine of the 1930 cup trials, administered to the Vanderbilt syndicate Rainbow in yesterday's test race, the general sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of Yankee.

The Boston sloop, lacking trick booms and fancy double-clewed working jibs such as the scientific Rainbow possesses, outsailed and outmaneuvered Harold S. Vanderbilt's craft over a 30-mile course, winning by 6 minutes and 20 seconds.

Seed Shields No. 1 For Rye Net Play

Frank Shields of New York heads the list, followed by Lester Stoffen of Los Angeles, Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., Berkeley Bell of New York, Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, George Lott of Chicago, Jack Tidball and Gene Mako of Los Angeles.

HEAR THOSE HUSKIES!

SEATTLE, Aug. 24.—The University of Washington will deck its football squad out in new uniforms this year. The jerseys will be green, numerals of dull gold, helmets bright gold and crossed with green stripes, pants bright gold, and stockings green.

STATE DOVE SEASON OPENS SEPTEMBER 1

Opening of the 1934 dove season is scheduled for September 1 in all districts of the state. The season will be for one month only, except in Districts 4, 4 1-2 and 4 3-4. In these districts, comprising Southern California counties, the season will be open two months, closing October 31.

The bag limit is 15 doves a day, but not more than 30 may be killed during a week by each hunter. The possession limit is 15 birds.

Reports to the state fish and game commission indicate there will be a good supply of these game birds this year.

Warden W. L. Hare of Orange county reports that cooling weather has caused doves to move on, but says many are still to be seen

Reports from other game wardens:

C. L. Savage, San Bernardino and eastern Los Angeles county—Many doves seen in western Chino valley, in Lytle creek area in San Bernardino county, and on desert side of range. Looks like good dove season generally.

J. H. Gyger, Perris, Riverside county—Doves holding on splendidly, seem to thrive in our warm weather.

J. W. Harbuck, Imperial valley—Dove season will be good.

T. R. Jolley, Riverside—Temecula valley, south Hemet and Elsinore have good crop of doves. Not so good at Winchester as water is scarce and no grain.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24. — (UP) — Lawson Little of San Francisco, British Amateur champion, is in dead earnest about adding the National amateur crown to his foreign laurels. In a tuneup match yesterday at Medinah Country club, Little shot a 35-32—67, three under par and a new low mark for the course. Jack Westland, Chicago, Walker Cup player, had a 72, and Johnny Dawson, Chicago, 74. Little plans to take several lessons from Tommy Armour during his stay in Chicago.

MISSION WORK OUTLINED WHEN SOCIETY MEETS

FULLERTON, Aug. 24. — Mrs. John G. Klene, a friend of Mrs. Clara Kerr, yesterday brought an interesting and inspirational talk to the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, which met with Mrs. Joseph E. Donaldson, of Sunset Beach.

Outlining the work of missions, her first description was that of opening of the work among Negroes of the Southland. She said it began when a woman tried to find the grave of her husband, killed in the Civil war. In her search she found in the south a large group of people, hungry to learn. She told of the work of Lucy Laney, Negro, who was educated in the university, and taught the children of the Negro race. Mrs. Klene said at present, under the economic stress, many schools are closed, for both white and Negro children, in the South.

A great missionary work in China was started by a Chinese woman whose child was cared for by a hospital, according to the speaker, while among the Negro, Chinese and all other races, the spirit of helpfulness is the open door for missionary work.

Mrs. Ben Switzler led in the devotional service, reading the 17th chapter of St. John; Miss Suzanne Dean reported on a prayer group; Mrs. Mabel Dalessi told of the work of the Presbyterian Guild.

Attending were Mrs. Eliza Barrows, Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. W. T. Brown, Mrs. Klene, Mrs. Mary Sterrett, Mrs. Ruth Holcroft, Miss Nellie Rumsey, Mrs. Grace Davis, Mrs. Alice McCrea, Mrs. J. P. LaRue and daughter, Josephine; Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Munford, Mrs. F. Gobar, Miss Kennedy, Miss Edna Munford, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, Mrs. A. C. Terrill, Clarke Terrill and Carolyn Terrill, and Mrs. S. C. Elder.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mrs. Switzler, Mrs. Harry May, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boyer, Miss Minnie Morse, Miss Dean, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Margery Waterman, Miss Anita Shepherdson, Mrs. Thomas McCart, Mrs. E. M. Cooper, Mrs. C. R. Allen, Virginia Allen, Ruth Moll, Eleanor Dalessi, Mrs. Dalessi, Mrs. Harold Gobar, Ruth and Janice Gobar, Mrs. C. F. W. Kohlenberger, Billie and David Kohlenberger, Mildred Gage and Mrs. Josephine Sheeley.

BOY HURT AS CAR, BICYCLE COLLIDE

FULLERTON, Aug. 24.—When two youths were involved in an automobile and bicycle accident at the intersection of Brookdale and Ford avenue yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. The bicyclist James Thompson, 13, of 320 Fifth street, Buena Park, sustained painful injuries about the head and face.

Young Thompson was coasting down the steep hill on Ford avenue, west of Brookdale, and collided with a car being driven by Glenn Wright jr., 14, of Fullerton. Wright reported to police station that the bicyclist appeared on his right, as he was going west on Brookdale. He turned to the left, trying to avoid a collision, but failed to do so, he reported. James was treated at the Fullerton General hospital.

Other business at the meeting included discussion of the budget for the coming year, which will be about the same as that of last year, Walter Muckenthaler, a director, told of a recent trip, covering nearly 8000 miles, through United States, during which time he visited Washington, D. DAVIS TELLS BENEFITS OF BOURBON PLANS

The nineteenth congressional district, comprising Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, has already benefitted to the extent of more than $18,000,000 from the Roosevelt recovery program, according to James L. Davis, Santa Ana attorney and orange grower, who is a Democratic candidate for congress, addressing a large crowd at Birch park last night following the band concert.

Orange county has received nearly six million rollars in federal funds, Riverside five and half millions, and San Bernardino more than seven millions, the speaker declared. This money came in the form of direct relief, home and farm loans, CWA, public works loans and grants, and the SERA, he declared, with $45,000 per month coming in at the present time for labor alone.

One-fourth of the unemployed were put back to work the first year under Roosevelt, according to Secretary of Labor Perkins, the speaker said.

A Republican majority in the house of representatives, Davis said, would endanger the Roosevelt program, and it is vitally necessary for all who would help the Roosevelt program to continue to aid in the election of Democratic congressmen.

"Unless the majority of the 435 congressmen to be elected this fall are Democratic, the same as Roosevelt, the president's program is gone, and we will return to the conditions of April 1, 1933, when every bank in the country was closed and business at a standstill," Davis declared. He was applauded on his statement that the primary was designed to permit each party to name its candidates, and it is not fair for a Republican or Progressive to also seek the nomination of the Democratic party, to which he does not belong. This remark referred, it was believed, to the fact that R. C. Stroup, a registered Progressive, and Sam Collins, a registered Republican, are also seeking the Democratic nomination for congress on the Democratic ballot.

Supports Old Age Plan

The Townsend old age revolving pension plan was endorsed by Davis as a means of removing ten million people over 60 years of age from competition for jobs and providing work for that number of younger men and women now jobless. This, he said, would solve the unemployment problem and at the some time largely solve the crime situation which is due, he held, to widespread unemployment and idleness.

"I want to see the Townsend pension plan introduced in congress and made a law," Davis declared. "I signed the petition in April and I said then, and have repeated it many times since, that if elected to congress, I will be glad to introduce a bill embodying the Townsend plan in congress and do all that I can to see it become a law."

He upheld the Roosevelt program, declaring his belief that the "future of the country depends on the success of that program." He scored a statement by Chairman Fletcher of the Republican national committee that the price of ten billion dillars for recovery is too high.

"This country spent 42 billion dollars during the war for killing and destroying," he said. "If we could spend 42 billions for such a purpose, certainly we are justified in spending ten billions for the saving of this country and its people."

Davis was introduced to the large crowd remaining after the band concert by Mrs. M. E. Geeting, who paid tribute to his honesty, his integrity and his ability to represent Orange county and the nineteenth district in the national congress.

STATE CONTROLLER

His public service in California began as City Trustee, Colton, for four years; County Supervisor, San Bernardino County, for six years.

Appointed by Gov. Stephens as State Water Commissioner, 1918; first Real Estate Commissioner, 1919; in 1922 he was appointed State Controller and was elected to that office in the same year. He has been returned to this office by an overwhelming plurality at each election. In 1930 he received 937,492 votes, defeating his opponent by 686,017 majority.

He has always taken an active interest in the tax problem and is nationally recognized by being elected as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Tax Association.

During his administration of the office of Controller antiquated bookkeeping has been replaced by modern cost accounting and reporting in consonance with the Federal reporting system, and in 1924, for the first time in seventy-five years the people of California knew to a penny the cost of State government for the prior year.

Ray L. Riley has been a fearless and courageous "watch dog" of state funds. His refusal to honor state warrants drawn in defiance of the edicts of the legislature and in violation of the law regarding state contracts has saved the taxpayers of California thousands of dollars. He sponsored the law limiting the annual increase in the expenditure of state and county funds to 5 per cent of the previous year which has saved local taxpayers a vast amount of money. He has steadfastly opposed increasing the ad valorem tax on real estate and has strenuously endeavored to equalize the burden of taxation.

No breath of scandal has ever marked his private or public career and he has always held the unbounded respect of his constituents.

M'COY IN THRILLER AT WALKER STATE

"Voice in the Night," a dramatic and thrilling story of danger and romance with Tim McCoy in the leading role, comes to Walker's State theater today for a two day run.

The background of the picture is a struggle for control of a small but important telephone system and McCoy battles storm, flood, politics and a band of desperate crooks. Billie Seward is his leading lady.

Other subjects on the program include a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline"; a news reel; "Lullaby Land," a cartoon; and "How'd Ya Like That?" a comedy.

DENIES GUILT ON DRIVING CHARGE

Joe Tornevacca, charged with driving a car while his operator's license was suspended, will have a trial in the Santa Ana justice court on August 29 at 9 a. m., having pleaded not guilty to the charge before Acting Justice Chris P. Fann. Bail was fixed at $250, which he has not posted.

Tornevacca was arrested for drunken driving and the license violation on Monday night following the wrecking of his car, but no action is being taken at present on the liquor law violation. He was paroled from the county jail on another drunken driving charge in June and had his license suspended at that time.

SOCIETY HOLDS DINNER

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 24.—The Happy Workers' society held a successful public dinner Wednesday at the Presbyterian church social hall. Women present for the afternoon meeting of the society worked on quilt blocks. A pledge of $30 on the church debt was paid off at this meeting.

Special Benefit Concert To Be Given at Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—The climax of a brilliant closing week of Hollywood Bowl's 1934 season of Symphonies under the Stars will be the extra concert Wednesday night August 29 with Jese Iturbi playing two piano concertos and conducting the orchestra from the piano.

Iturbi is donating his services to the orchestra musicians for the benefit of their sick and relief fund. The entire proceeds of the concert will go to this fund which was used at the beginning of the season in order to start the Bowl season. The Iturbi concert will enable them to reestablish the fund.

No season tickets will be honored at this special concert, the management announces.

In the final week of the season an array of outstanding artists is being presented. Ossip Gabrilowitsch will conduct three concerts. Rudolph Ganz will appear as piano soloist on the Thursday night program. Alexander Kisselburgh, baritone, and Miriam Solovieff, violinist, will be the soloists on the last Saturday night.

A program arranged especially for children is planned for Friday night when Maria Gambarelli, celebrated ballerina from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, will dance the delightful fantasy, "Red Riding Hood Ballet."

The music of this exquisite ballet was written by Albert Hay Malotte. There will be several novelties on the program that will appeal to children of all ages. R. A. Shepherd will conduct the Bowl orchestra of 100 musicians. Compositions having special appeal to children have been arranged to precede the ballet section of the concert.

CAR SEAT STOLEN

The automobile rumble seat of Franklin Griset, 690 B street, Tustin, was stolen last night from Birch park during the band concert, he reported to police.

'BUGGY' WINDSHIELD GONE ON CHRYSLER

One of the greatest annoyances with which the motorist has had to contend in summer driving has been entirely eliminated by the Chrysler Airflow design, namely the collecting of dead insects on the windshield, according to O. R. Haan of the Cadillac Garage company.

In a conventional car, whenever one is driving in the country, the car hits all manner of insects and crushes them on the windshield, making an unsightly mess and eventually seriously interfering with the vision of the driver and passengers. Almost every motorist knows that it is necessary to make frequent stops to clean these insects from the windshield and that there seems to be some extremely adhesive substance in their bodies that makes it hard to dislodge the debris from the glass.

The air currents set up by the Chrysler Airflow design are such, however, that the insects are carried up and over the windshield without touching it. Very rarely indeed does one lodge on the glass.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS POSE FOR FIRST INDIVIDUAL PORTRAITS

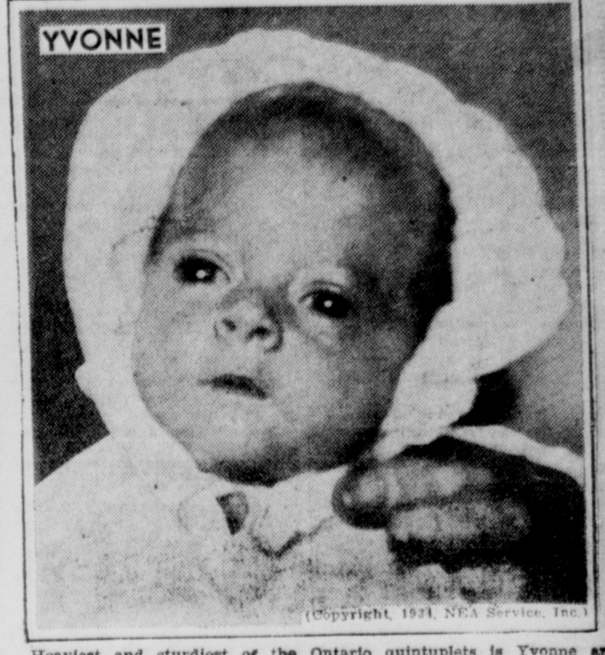

Least imperious of the five little Dionnes is Emilie, demure, self-contained, last to cry at mealtime, a plain little creature with tilted nose and narrow chin, but with a charm all her own. When the nurses who guard her so carefully look at her, they say, "Likely she'll be a nun."

Grave and circumspect, Cecile is one of the quietest of the quintuplets, joining only mildly in the clamor that goes up as mealtime approaches in the Dionne nursery. Of the unworried type that takes things as they come, one could imagine her a nurse when she reaches womanhood.

Peaceable, steady-nerved and calm—that's Annette, second in size of the Dionne infant quintet. She just takes life in her stride and the nurses vision her as a typical farm woman, hard-working and uncomplaining as they are in the Ontario bush, but with a spark of temper.

Heaviest and sturdiest of the Ontario quintuplets is Yvonne and already she seems to "know her strength." A self-assured child, she expresses herself forcibly and demands her right when feeding time rolls around. She's the kind of baby who should grow up to be a strong farm wife.

FINE PROGRAM MARKS END OF CITY BAND CONCERT SEASON; PLAN CONTINUANCE NEXT YEAR

By MRS. RUSSEL ROWLAND

The Santa Ana Municipal band closed the summer series of concerts in Birch Park last night with a program of outstanding merit. The occasion featured Lieut. Harold William Roberts of Los Angeles, famous director of the U. S. C. Trojan band, as guest conductor, and had planned also to present as trumpet soloist, Benjamin Klatzin, of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, who proved so popular here at a July concert. However, due to being detained on a movie set, where he is working at present, Mr. Klatzin was unable to appear.

The final program which was composed of request numbers opened vividly with "Purple Carnival," a modern symphonic march by Alford. Lassen's "Festival" delightfully displayed the charm of its folksong origin. This was followed by Kaine's arrangement of "Dutch Waltzes" which were especially entertaining in their novelty and variety.

The fifth number was "The Lost Continent' " or "Atlantis" by Safranek, which had the fragrance of a long lost continent. Played with exceptional understanding, it proved popular with the audience.

Lieut. Roberts then took the baton and forcefully directed the great favorite, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." Lieut. Roberts received a tremendous ovation.

Director Leland Auer resumed his directing with the "Barcarolle" from "'The Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach. That charming selection was contrasted by the next number, "Serenade" from Drigo's "Les Millions d'Arlequin." After that was heard "Columbus," a fantasy by Herman, which tells the story of the discovery of America in a succession of interesting scenes. "In a Persian Market," by Ketelby, a composition full of colorful effects, followed. This particular work was the one receiving the largest number of requests. Succeeding that was the popular "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakow.

For the tenth number, the band gave a dramatic presentation of Ravel's thrilling "Bolero." The "Bolero" proved exceedingly popular here when it was given in a July concert.

Chabrier's colorful "Espana" followed. Full of native folk tunes collected on the composer's travels through Spain, the "Espana" is a brilliant fantasy. It was executed with considerable animation by Director Leland Auer and the members of the band. The last number on the program as a favorite march "Washington Greys" by Grafulla.

Extend Congratulations

Lieut. Roberts of Trojan band fame spoke to the audience. He congratulated the citizens of Santa Ana on having such a fine young conductor for their municipal band, told of his popularity and success in Los Angeles and at the University of Southern California.

Harry Hanson business manager of the band, also addressed the crowd. He extended thanks to the numerous individuals who have cooperated to make the band concert season a success, including the Santa Ana Register. While these congratulations were being so freely passed around, we hope that Mr. Hanson was also thanked for his splendid managerial ability and assistance to Director Auer in planning and carrying out of the finest band season yet held in Santa Ana, and also for their consideration of their audience in obtaining outstanding artists to come to Santa Ana as soloists with the civic band.

Mr. Hanson also said that plans are under way for a continuation of the concerts next summer, and that the band members will begin practicing next week for the following year.

Plan New Homes At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 24.—Included among building permits issued recently by City Building Inspector Floyd Case was one to Arthur Burnell, 542 Cress street, for the construction of a four-room residence at an estimated cost of $2000 and another to Charles Furlong, 1780 Rembrandt street, for the erection of a four-room dwelling at a cost of $1200.

Contract for the construction of the Burnell home has been let to Taylor brothers and for that of Furlong to the Smith Construction company.

Permits for effecting additions and alterations to thrie respective residence properties have been issued to J. S. Broadwell, 327 Jasmine street, and A. W. Rhodes, 1497 Coast Boulevard, South.

Personality palm among the Dionne quintuplets goes to Marie—prettiest, smallest, liveliest of the world's most famous babies. Pert is the word for Marie. She's the type that will grow up to be an actress, say her nurses, who already are guessing at careers for the quintet.

Intimate glimpses of the late Thomas A. Edison, electrical wizard, gained in 14 years' association with him, were related to members of the Santa Ana Lions club yesterday noon at James cafe by George C. Silzer of Los Angeles.

He was presented through the J. C. Horton company, local distributors of G-E refrigerators, with Chet Horton, a member of the club, acting as program chairman for the day.

'Edison was the greatest man the world ever produced," Silzer declared, in his talk which reviewed briefly the life and career of the man who invented the phonograph, electric light, electric motor, the stock ticker, motion pictures and many other marvels, and who assisted Alexander Graham Bell in perfecting the telephone.

The speaker praised Edison's generosity, his persistence, and his humanness, and related intimate details of his life and work. The speaker also showed various letters written to him by Edison during their business association.

At the time of his death, Edison owned more than 3000 patents, Silzer said, besides having sold many of his patents outright. One of these was the electric light, which he sold to the Edison lamp works for five million dollars. He was working on the development of synthetic rubber when he died, the speaker said, and also had visions of using cement in the making of fine furniture, some examples of which are now in the Edison laboratory.

Edison perfected the carbon transmitter which enabled Bell to use his telephone invention commercially, Silzer said. He also invented an attachment which brought each picture in a movie to a dead stop, thus eliminating flicker, and the Edison estate collects a royalty on each moving picture projector sold, he said.

The speaker told how Edison was considered underprivileged, coming from a very poor family, and how he was taken out of school because school authorities said his mentality was under par; of how he fought his way up and even at the age of 31 was regarded as a genius. He was an approachable man, liked humorous stories, was simple in his tastes, and at times was very stubborn, the speaker said.

Prior to the address of the day, Dr. E. H. Rowland reported on the recent International convention in Grand Rapids, and Dr. H. B. Nail told of the recent district council at San Diego. Rowland said the next year's International convention would be held in Mexico City, and delegates would be guests of the Mexican government on a tour of the country. A large attendance of Lions and their wives from California and Texas especially is anticipated at this session, Rowland said.

ARRANGE OPENING OF BREA SCHOOLS

BREA, Sept. 24.—J. H. Robinson, clerk of the grammar school board, has issued notices to the teachers that school will open on Tuesday, September 11, Monday being Admission day. A meeting of the teachers of both the Laurel and the Brea grammar schools is called for 2 p.m. on September 10. It is important that all teachers attend, Robinson said.

Brea-Olinda Union High school, disregarding the holiday, will open the fall term on the morning of September 10. A meeting of the faculty will be held at the high school building on the afternoon of September 8, at 2 p.m.

It has been estimated that more babies are born between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m. than in any corresponding period of the day.

But do you know it is very slenderizing—if you are a woman who must take account of such things! It gives the effect of taking off pounds of weight. That clever collar with its one rever ha ssomething to do with it —and the long front seam——and the clever sleeve with its smart pleat. It is lovely in that prim little dot, but you will like it in a plain fabric too. The collar and rever may contrast.

BUICK, PONTIAC SALES SHOW GAIN

The most successful month of sales in two years was enjoyed during July by the Reid Motor company, Orange county Buick and Pontiac distributors, as part of the achievement of the Buick company in establishing a five-year record for the same month over the nation.

Eight Buicks were sold in the county during July while nine Pontiacs were placed. Buick buyers were J. E. Swanke and A. W. Aylor, Santa Ana; Mrs. Augusta M. Bartow, San Clemente; John E. Brown and Henry C. Landon, Fullerton; J. H. Marion, Huntington Beach; E. H. Day, Balboa, and E. N. Martin, Laguna Beach.

New Pontiac owners are Leslie B. Harrison, George R. Wells, Clarence Safley, Adelbert C. Britcher, Mrs. Cora L. Bower, H. L. Silver and John A. Meiss, Santa Ana; H. Woodington, Huntington Beach, and E. A. Rogers, Anaheim.

Word from the Pontiac company reveals that projections covering retail deliveries for the third quarter have just resulted in an increase of 2000 units to the September manufacturing schedule. This is the fourth time since the first of July that the schedule has been stepped up.

WILKIE TALKS THIS EVENING ON CANDIDACY

Speaking on the subject "What I Would Do As Sheriff," Capt. Don Wilkie, former United States secret service expert and Orange county's non-political candidate for the chief law enforcement office, will again address the voters of the county over KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Tonight's broadcast, coming almost on the eve of the primary election when the voters of Orange county will nominate a sheriff, will be particularly interesting, especially since Captain Wilkie will give a general idea of the program he would follow, as sheriff, to increase the efficiency of the office and at the same time reduce the cost of operation materially.

The non-political candidate, among other things, is scheduled to explain his views on the bid system of purchasing, his ideas, based on 30 years of world wide experience in law enforcement, of roving mobile units and sheriff's sub-stations combined, his plans for the organization of an auxiliary to meet at intervals with the sheriff and the coordination of policing units within and outside the county. Captain Wilkie also will explain his unique military plan of county protecton in case of emergency and will outline his method of bottling up the county within 10 minutes against the entrance or escape of criminals. He also is expected to show conclusively how he would, if elected sheriff, employ United States Department of Justice and secret service methods in the operation of the sheriff's office. These methods, the best in the world, can be carried out when politics play no part in the operations of the office, the candidate will declare.

Captain Wilkie will be heard twice on Monday night, at 7:30 and at 10:45 o'clock in final appeals to the voters of Orange county to free the sheriff's office of politics.

Two seldom-heard light operas by Lionel Monckton, "Quaker Girl" and "The Arcadians," will be presented in miniature versions by the Caswell Carollers under Emil J. Polak's direction during the concert over an NBC network including KFI at 8 tonight.

Melodies ranging in type from a classic symphonic movement by Haydn to a popular song by Ray Noble will be heard in another Melody Masquerade during the NBC-KGO network broadcast over KGO and KECA at 9 tonight. Playing under Meredith Willson's baton, a large concert orchestra will be heard in special arrangements of siv compositions, beginning with Rubinstein's beloved "Melody in F".

SATURDAY

A complete review of the operation of the Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage Moratorium Act will be given on the monthly program of the Farmers' Union over the coast-to-coast NBC network including KFI in a broadcast at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, by Edward E. Kenney, national secretary of the Farmers' Union. 'Over-Production and Under-Consumption" will be discussed by E. H. Everson, national president of the organization.

Bernard M. Campbell, chess expert and a director of the International Chess Congress, will describe the highlights of the final matches in the International Chess Congress Masters' tournament in Syracuse, N. Y., from 11:15 to 11:30 a. m. Saturday, over the Columbia network including KHJ. Competitors from nearly every country on the globe have entered the tourney.

Ted Husing, Columbia sports announcer, will discuss yachting, track and horse racing in his "Believe You Me" broadcast from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m. Saturday over KHJ.

SHARPLESS WALKER ON KREG TONIGHT

Sharpless Walker, Santa Ana attorney, will speak this evening over radio station KREG at 7 o'clock in the interests of the candidacy of S. B. Kaufman for district attorney.

Walker, former assistant United States attorney for the Southern district of California, came to Santa Ana in 1925 from Miles City, Montana, and has practiced law here, with the exception of the time he was in the government service.

Mr. Walker will talk on the district attorney contest, and it is reported, will dispute the charges of a large profitable civil practice in the district attorney's office, and will dissect another candidate's promises to "take the initiative in getting evidence," and "to put a punch into the prosecution of crime."

MANAGER OF SHOE COMPANY ON KREG

R. A. Bradford, popular manager of Dr. Reed's Shoe company in Santa Ana, reports that their new service of free advice via radio to people suffering from foot troubles has been very favorably received by the public. This evening at 7:45 the Dr. Reed Shoe company will present Dr. A. P. Brown, well known foot specialist, who is going to give a talk on one of the most prevalent foot troubles, "The Bunion". Each week during the broadcast, this company offers a free foot examination to any person in Orange county, as part of their service to the public.

FRANK DRUMM TO SPEAK FOR LOGAN JACKSON

"Cold facts about the sheriff's office," will be the subject of a radio address to be presented this evening by Judge Frank C. Drumm on behalf of Sheriff Logan Jackson, who is a candidate for re-election. Judge Drumm will speak over KREG at 8 p. m.

This will be the first opportunity for a radio audience to get the real truth of how the sheriff's office has been administered, its brilliant achievement in general law enforcement and particularly the sheriff's success in driving the gambling interests out of the county, it was pointed out.

The splendid economy record of Sheriff Jackson also will be shown, together with his demonstration of organizing and executive ability, that has built up a well-equipped, highly trained personel of criminal hunters.

The staunch defense of Orange county's farming industry against labor agitators, which kept Orange county an oasis of safety and peace while trouble and bloodshed ran riot on all sides, will be detailed.

The further protection of the farming industry against thievery, as shown in the Calavo Growers report of an 85 per cent decrease in losses in two years, likewise stands out among the facts to be related tonight.

London's foggiest spot is the city hall, Westminster. It recorded 104 days of smoke-haze between October, 1932, and March, 1933.

KREG NOTES

Front Page Drama to be presented this evening at 8:45 over KREG is entitled "NIGHT OF NIGHTS." This is a thrilling drama in which a spirit medium who took advantage of a modern scientific development to fool her followers, is cleverly exposed and a credulous devotee saved from ruin. The sketch this evening will feature Edward Reese, stage and radio star.

Sally Coe Mueller's program has been moved for this evening. She will present her program at 8:15 this evening instead of 8:00. Sally Coe Mueller has been a student of Horatio Cogswell, who heads the voice department of U. S. C., for the last five years. Sally still is invited to be guest soloist on the U. S. C. programs over KFI.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

BEST FOODS Picnic Week

Aug. 24th to Sept. 1st Inc.

"Let's Have a Picnic!"

You can be ready in a few minutes if you take advantage of picnic specials offered this week

In co-operation with the Best Foods, Inc. the grocers whose names appear below are prepared to supply you with everything for a well-stocked picnic shelf. Then when the family shouts, "Oh, can't we go on a picnic?" all you have to do is bustle things into a hamper and answer, "All right, let's go."

What Is Your Choice?

American Cheese Spread with Catsup or chilli sauce, mayonnaise.
Chopped celery, mayonnaise.
Pimiento, hard cooked egg, olives, onion, mayonnaise.
Ground dried beef, hard cooked egg, tomato, cayenne, mayonnaise.

Chicken with
Celery, mayonnaise.
Chopped ham, mayonnaise.
Ripe olives, celery, seasonings, mayonnaise.

Corned Beef with
Relish Spred, hard cooked egg.
Horseradish Mustard and mayonnaise.
Minced fried bacon, mayonnaise.

Sardines with
Celery, mayonnaise.
Relish Spred.
Tomato, salt, pepper, paprika, mayonnaise.

Now everybody can afford real mayonnaise.

Best Foods prices are sensationally lower.

Items That Belong in Every Picnic Basket

Best Foods Mayonnaise
This all-purpose dressing should be used liberally when making sandwiches. Keeps them fresh and prevents them from drying out. And, of course, you will use it on the picnic salad.

Horseradish Mustard

Best Foods Relish Spred

Bread and Butter Pickles
The original fresh cucumber pickle, never soaked in brine. Picnics otherwise perfect have been almost ruined because the hostess forgot B&B Pickles. So put them at the head of your list.

Best Foods French Dressing
Perhaps your salad calls for French dressing. Here is one that we honestly think is better than homemade. And priced about half of what it used to cost.

Thousand Island Dressing
Does your menu call for a fish or egg salad? Ah, then by all means get a jar of this marvelous dressing. Also perfect as a cocktail sauce.

If You Are Tired by 11:30

If you begin to get fagged by 11:30—blame your breakfast! Perhaps you didn't give your body enough nourishment, or you didn't give it the right kind.

At least one meal a day, especially in this hot weather, eat Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit—and see how it steps up your efficiency—how much better you feel—how much less you mind the heat!

You won't get tired before meal time if your body is running on Shredded Wheat. It gives you the elements you need for energy, tissue building, resistance to disease, and it contains bran to keep you regular. No wonder it makes you feel fine!

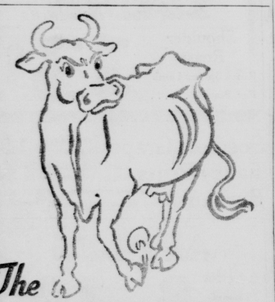

Nature might have made a better food than wheat, but she didn't! Start Shredded Wheat today.

The REBELLION of Minnie Munch

"For nigh onto five years now," said Minnie Munch in a recent interview, "I have furnished milk for that tribe of young hootnannies—the Perkins children—the whole nine of them! There haven't been any N.R.A. hours for ME... just cud-chewing, cud-chewing, cud-chewing far, far into the night. Well, I'm sick of it. From now on I'm working union hours like everybody else! There's no reason on earth why I should work myself to the bone, now that Weber's bread has succeeded in actually TRIPLING its content of vital elements found in milk. Calcium for building strong bones and teeth—iron oxide, phosphorus pentoxide . . . in fact the 8 vital elements my milk supplies, they'll find TREBLED in every slice of their favorite food—Weber's bread!"

The young Perkinses may be lackadaisical on the subject of calcium, but they certainly do a sensational disappearing act with Weber's bread, spread with fresh butter and jam! It's famous for . . .

. . . a good, wheat-y, sweet-as-a nut FLAVOR.

. . . a soft, fluffy, smooth-as-cream TEXTURE.

. . . a crust that fairly crackles with GOODNESS.

. . . superior toasting QUALITIES.

Weber's Bread has it! YOU'LL NOTICE THE DIFFERENCE

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Who can this funny old man be?" said Dotty. "It appears to me that he's having a nightmare. First he smiles and then he frowns.

"Just see his crazy looking clothes. They'd give me nightmares, goodness knows. You'd thing he bought all of the things he wears from circus clowns."

Just then a bird, up in a tree, chirped, "Listen, Tinymites, to me. I'll sing a song and it will make that man snore right in tune."

* * *

Real shrill notes shortly filled the air and Duncy cried, "Aw, that's not fair. A man can't snore as high as that. Can't you sing 'way down low?"

"Don't worry," said the little bird. And then all of the Tinies heard the man begin to snore in tune. Wee Scouty laughed, "Ho, ho!"

Said he, "That surely is a treat. I ne'er thought snoring could be sweet. Now, birdie, sing another tune, before you fly away."

"Oh, no," replied the little bird. "The pretty tune that you've just heard is all the old man knows. That ends our song for you today."

* * *

Then off the bird flew. Coppy said, "I think that we should go ahead and try to wake the man up. I will yell right in his ear."

"Hey, wait!" snapped Dotty. "That's not fair. 'Twould likely give him quite a scare. Get me a weed! I'll tickle him. Some sneezing you will hear."

The weed was picked. "Well, tots, here goes! Just watch him twitch his funny nose," said Dotty. "You can rest assured he'll wake up ere I'm through."

It wasn't very long until all of the Tinies got a thrill when the old man sat right up straight and loudly said, "Ka-choo!"

RUSSIANS DEMAND FREEDOM

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A demand for release of 88 Russian citizens imprisoned in Manchukuo was made by the Russian consul at Harbin, it was announced today.

The demand, accompanied by a protest against Japanese-Manchukuoan activities in the Chinese Eastern railway zone, was made after the arrest of 16 more Russian employes of the railway.

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

So They Called Out the Cops to Protect the Militia

Here is a pictured variation of that sterling old gag, "Hey, officer, call a cop," with New Orleans policemen standing guard so Communists and jobless won't "harm" the state militia. Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, at war with Senator Huey P. Long and Governor O. K. Allen, because troops seized the city vote registration office, sank this cruel barb in his foes. Arming his police with gas grenades, tear gas guns, and revolvers, he rushed them to the scene of a demonstration near the registry office. Militiamen, highly chagrined, look from the windows at their "protectors."

Launching U. S. Housing Drive

FIRST housing problem to confront Housing Administrator James A. Moffett was that of finding Washington quarters large enough for his big office staff. That accomplished, here he is at his desk as he launched the government's $1,500,000,000 home renovation drive to put 5,000,000 men to work and revive the building trades by encouraging and assisting bankers in extending liberal loans to American home owners.

Orthopaedic Hospital-School Serum Aids Infantile Paralysis Victims

Parisian? Wong!

Clever — also stylish — the Chinese! Just to give you an idea, here's how pretty Anna May Wong, American-born Chinese actress, appeared on arriving in New York from England. She made several motion pictures there.

Albert of Belgium

Holding his chin up like the aristocrat that he is, here you see a new picture of the infant son of the King and Queen of the Belgians. Christened Albert after the late King, he will take the title of Prince Albert of Liege.

NOW A TRAIN GROWS WINGS

This Breakfast Just Rattled With Merriment

It was a rattling good event, the annual breakfast of the Post-Mortem Club, pictured here in a Chicago hotel, with the toastmaster keeping up a clatter of merriment for the guests, doctors of naprapathy from all over the nation. Probably the first speechless toastmaster ever to sit at a festal board, J. M. McAdou, late of Florida, founder of the club, scored a tremendous hit with the merrymakers as he grinned out at them, cigaret dangling from his jaws. All members of the club signed a scroll bequeathing their skeletons to the organization, as had McAdou, the founder.

'Baby' Aviator

Roosevelts Get Time for Chat

Swastika Flies Over Boys Camp

SAVED FROM DROUTH DEATH ON RANGE TO FEED NEEDY

BOURBON CANDIDATE CALLS FOR MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(UP)—In a fresh attempt to bring harmony to the embattled ranks of Democratic gubernatorial candidates, Dr. Zachary Taylor Malaby, Pasadena, invited all candidates with the exception of Upton Sinclair to meet with him here this afternoon.

Purpose of the meeting as on a previous occasion that failed was to select one candidate whom the rest would support. The Pasadena candidate's invitation read in part:

"Our failure to consolidate our forces in the coming election will mean that the Democratic party is facing defeat in November.

"For the sake of the welfare of the people of California and the success of President Roosevelt's recovery program we must, one and all, bury personal animosities and consolidate our forces against the newcomer to our ranks.

"Our failure to do this places the defeat of the Democratic party squarely upon those who stand in the way of consolidation."

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES— The Market tone was firm in all quarters with broiler eceipts not equal to demand on light sizes. Leghorn fryer receipts were ample with dealers showing little interest in them. Colored fryers were clearing readily with foferings no more than ample to demand. The leghorn hen market showed strength this morning with lots reported purchased at 12 cents on all sizes. Colored hens showed a corresponding firmness, although no price changew as noted. Trading continued slow in all quarters.

A HAPPY SOLUTION

According to information presented last night to the Orange County League of Municipalities in session at Laguna Beach, a "way out" is offered city councilmen of Santa Ana in their delinquent bond dilemma.

Faced with a court ruling holding the entire city responsible for delinquent bonds in local improvement districts throughout the city instituted under the 1915 act, the council saw no way out except a bond issue or a ruinous tax rate of perhaps $1.40.

An added rate of $1.40, on top of city, school, and county taxes, would prove impossible of collection. The council took the alternative proposal and placed before the voters last Monday a bond issue of $250,000 to pay off the delinquent bonds.

Fear of a $1.40 added tax rate induced many of us to support the bond issue and it attained a majority, but not the necessary two-thirds majority required for adoption, and the question went back into the laps of the city council, with the requirement that the new tax rate be legally set next Monday night.

Opposition to the bond issue had been voiced by the Taxpayers' League, which held that economies could be made, and present surpluses utilized, to buy the delinquent bonds at present market values instead of adding to the bonded indebtedness and the tax burden of the city by paying full face value for the delinquent bonds through a new bond issue.

Now it appears this course can be pursued, with great benefit to the taxpayers. Experience in other cities faced with a similar problem as disclosed at the meeting last night, indicates that the extremities of the problem may be avoided and a middle course adopted.

An emergency exists. An added tax burden of $1.40 would be confiscatory and impossible of collection. Half a loaf is better than no loaf at all, and bondholders are human beings who recognize the exigencies of the situation and are willing to "play ball" while present conditions exist.

So it has been suggested that the city councilmen show their good intent to meet the obligation by levying a tax rate of, say 10 to 15 cents, for delinquent bonds and add to the fund a surplus of several thousand dollars now in the city water fund.

This amount, it is estimated, would be sufficient to buy all bonds which have been delinquent one and two years, at present values, and leave a small balance which can be used, with such additions as may be possible, during this and ensuing years to buy up other delinquent bonds of more recent date at values dictated by good business.

If this can be done, it appears to be a happy solution to the problem, for we will have avoided both the $1.40 tax rate and the $250,000 bond issue. The bond holders, while not entirely satisfied perhaps, will know that we are doing all that the situation permits, and the situation can be cleared up with maximum satisfaction to everybody.

We hope this can be brought about.

THE FEDERAL HOUSING PROGRAM

All the money necessary to repair, paint, decorate or improve the average home, farm building, or such other improved real estate, located in this county, can now be borrowed upon the borrower's own signature by applying to any of the local banks. No security other than the borrower's note is necessary.

The slogan of the government is literally "come and get it." The Federal Housing Administration is anxious that the funds, now accumulating in the banks, shall be put to use. It has established a fund of $200,000,000 to reimburse banks for any losses that may occur as the result of loaning money for the purposes described. Banks are, of course, admonished to use ordinary care and diligence in the making of these loans.

Amounts of $100 to $2,000 may be borrowed upon the following conditions. The property, upon which it is to be used, must be improved property, that is, no funds will be loaned to be used on vacant lots. Second, all taxes must have been paid, and interest due on mortgages or trust deeds must have been paid. If interest is in arrears, then the holder of such security must give his consent. Third, the income of the individual must be five times the amount he expects to pay off each year. The maximum an individual can borrow is 60 per cent of his yearly income.

The cost of such a loan is five dollars for every hundred dollars borrowed, payable in advance. This means that the borrower actually gets $95.00 out of every $100.00 borrowed, if the loan is for one year, and about $87.00 if the loan is for three years.

In order to secure a loan, all that is necessary is to apply to any of the cooperating banks and make out a statement of your net worth, such as banks have long been in the habit of requiring from their regular customers. If taxes and interest are not in arrears the borrower will receive his loan right then, if known to the bank, or in a few days if not known, and he is then free to use that money in the repair or improvement of his property as he sees fit. The money must be used in the repair of buildings and cannot be used for the repair of movable assets not generally considered a part of a building.

The borrower can do the work himself, he can hire a contractor, he can buy his own materials. The only restriction is that he must use it in the repair of a building or a group of buildings.

And lastly, the loan must be be repaid in not more than 36 equal monthly installments.

The experience table on loans of this character would indicate that 97 per cent of them are repaid in full, and that losses are incurred on the remainder. The housing program, which therefor will bring no profit to the government, is expected to increase employment to such an extent that people taken from relief rolls will more than offset the losses incurred by this project. The support that this measure has received from financial sources would indicate that bankers quite generally are in agreement with that viewpoint.

HOMER VAN METER SLAIN

The city has achieved a reputation of being a city of refuge for gangsters, but it disproved this charge by being the scene of the "ironing out" of one of the most ruthless killers of the Dillinger gang.

Slowly but surely, one by one, these rebels against society and the law are being given their just deserts. As was said at the time Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were killed, "they lived by the gun, and they died by the gun." There is no other end which can befall them.

Van Meter had attempted to disguise himself by having his face "lifted" and his finger markings removed, but this ruse failed. In this endeavor he followed the example of his late chief, Dillinger, but neither succeeded.

The reports declare that his body was perforated by fifty slugs after he attempted to engage the police officers in a desperate effort to escape.

He was trapped, like his former gang leader, through a woman, who was jealous of his attentions toward another member of her sex. It is very indicative that the representatives of the law are following the old rule of the French police: "Cherchez la femme."

Society breathes easier as these despicable characters are "erased." And we might say that the respect of the people for the law is being raised very perceptibly by the work that has been done in these recent months in ridding the country of these fugitives from justice.

There are two other members of the Dillinger gang still at large, "Baby Face" Nelson and John Hamilton. When these Saint Paul heroes were asked about them, they are reported to have declared: "If they are here, they'll get the same medicine."

As the people get the true picture of these hoodlums and gangsters, they see them in their true perspective, as cowardly parasites, without a trace of anything decent or heroic about them, as the "scum of the earth" without a single iota of virtue to admire.

We all owe a debt of gratitude to these gallant police officers who risked their lives in this fashion. They are doing one of the most worth while deeds which it is possible to do in this present hour.

Langley Centenary
Oakland Tribune

In aeronautics today marks a centennial. It was one hundred years ago that Samuel Pierpont Langley was born.

Langley was famous for many things, including his studies of the sun and solar radiation, but his name to the many is associated with aviation. Following the course of many men who watched the soaring birds and dreamed of imitating them, Langley attacked the problem of the lift and resistance of rapidly moving bodies in the air. Before there was any such thing as an airplane he announced that "if in such aerial motion there could be given a plane of fixed size and weight, inclined at such an angle and moved forward at such a speed that it shall be sustained in horizontal flight, then the more rapid the motion is, the less will be the power required to advance it."

This was thought to be revolutionary and paradoxical. Langley was not the first to make a flight, but he declared that one was possible long before the successful experiment of the Wright brothers. A 13-foot steam-powered model of his design flew successfully but carried no passengers. His effort to carry a man into the air failed because of troubles on the launching ways.

What Langley lacked, as did the Wrights who followed him and accomplished the first human flight at Kitty Hawk on December 17, 1903, was an efficient motor. He possessed the practical idea of flying, however, and was a true pioneer. His centenary is being celebrated by the Smithsonian Institution of which he was the third secretary.

Chinese Have Troubles
Riverside Daily Press

Half a million people may starve to death this summer because of the drought.

Not in a century has there been a drought so severe. Crops have withered under a blazing sun which has kept the temperature at 115 degrees, day and night, for weeks. Rivers have dried up, springs have stopped flowing.

There is no food to be had at all, over wide areas; in scores of villages and towns even the supply of drinking water has become exhausted.

The federal government wants to do something to relieve suffering, but it is so weak, so overburdened with previous efforts to combat the drought and so short of funds that it is very doubtful that it will be able to do anything effective.

These few sentences present a living nightmare. They do not apply, of course, to the United States. They do aply, however, to China. They were taken from a recent news dispatch telling of the horrible crisis which China is facing this summer.

The Chinese drought is one of the worst in living memory. So is the one that has hit the United States. Indeed, the weather seems to have been about the same in each nation—much heat, no rain, a steady depletion of all water supplies, a burning and blistering of all growing things.

In the United States it has meant great financial loss for the farmers and higher prices for the city dwellers.

Huey Long Is Cleaning Up New Orleans

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

THE CURE

Upon learning that the use of the piccolo tends to discourage the drink habit.

Long years ago my Uncle Zeke,
Who had small taste for water,
Would, every once or twice a week,
Embark upon a totter.
A rather trifling tide it was,
But trouble it foreboded
For his dear little wife, because
Zeke waxed quite rough when loaded.
No man is at his best, I think,
When partially submerged in drink.

At last his worried helpmeet heard,
When words were vainly bandied,
That men from drinking are deterred
Who play the fife, like Pan did.
Forthwith an instrument she bought
And on the bureau laid it
Where Uncle Zeke the same upcaught,
Drew in his breath and played it.
It made a shrill and stident sound
Which echoed half a mile around.

Day in, day out, he blew that fife
Instead of getting jingled;
His tunes, far sharper than a knife,
With lesser sounds commingled,
Till finally his pestered spouse
From such weird music shrinking,
Cried: "Take that fife outside the house,
It's worse, far worse, than drinking."
So now, my dear old Uncle Zeke
Gets loaded once or twice a week.

No, nobody's intristed except you and that's an embarrisment of unsolicited riches, I assure you, ma said.

Meening she could do without it with pleasure, and I said, "Well G, ma, how do you know when it's your ern? and she said, It's always my tern, I meen all I do is just put certain cards on certain other cards to see if it all comes out even.

And if it does, do you win, ma? I said, and she said, Yes, now shh, quiet.

And if it dont, do you lose? I said, and she said, Red 6 on black 7, I mean red 7, yes yes of course. Now, do you realize you've made me put a black jack on a red queen? she said.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE THRESHOLD OF CHANCE

I am convinced that profound historic change impends in the life and enterprise of the United States.

I am not sure of the direction this change will take.

The blackening of the skies that began in 1929 may have heralded a permanent eclipse of our national genius.

It would not be the first time in history that a proud people has tumbled from its pinnacle of seeming triumph.

On the other hand, these may be but the grey hours before a social sunrise that will warm and illumine our lives where transient disaster has chilled and darkened them.

It would not be the first time in history that a great people has snatched victory from the threat of defeat.

When enough forces of change come together the people in whose civilization they assemble must pull itself together for a great choice.

The choice that must be made is whether these forces of change shall work themselves out as a guided reconstruction or as an unguided revolt.

A thousand and one forces of change, stemming from the development of physical science and industrial technology, are bursting through our old formulas of politics, economics and social organization.

These forces of change will profoundly alter our whole civilization. The alteration is inevitable; the only question is whether the alteration will be guided or unguided.

Can any American read the two major volumes of the report of former President Hoover's research committee on recent social trends without realizing that the actual processes and problems of American life are today radically different from the processes and problems, in terms of which the fathers determined the major patterns and designed the major institutions of our political, social and economic life?

We are past the point at which beating the tom-tom for obsolete traditions of politics and economics will either satisfy the masses of Americans or bring recovery and stabilization to our national life.

As we stand on the threshold of historic change, it behooves us deliberately to readjust the old tools of government and industry that are obsolete to the new tasks of government and industry that are obvious.

Our Children
By Angelo Patri

A RAINY DAY BOOK

Dear Boys and Girls:

Have you a precious book hidden away for a rainy day? Those days come. The rain comes in sheets until the roads and walks are flooded. The trees drip. Little puddles gather in unexpected places. Dribbles run down the awnings giving you unexpected baths as they trickle along the backbone. There is nothing to do but retreat to the house and find something to do until it clears up. That's the time for the precious book.

Some day you may be laid up. The doctor says you must stay in the house for a few days to make certain. The other children go on about their business. School calls them. Their people send them here and there. Their pleasures go on as usual while you are closed in and you begin to feel resentful about the whole business. That's where the good old book comes in handy.

There are times when your mother says she wants you to stay within call. You are to keep quiet. Grandpa has fallen asleep and maybe, if he gets a good nap, he will be better when he awakens. If not, you must be on hand to call the doctor and do the errands. You are tied by the leg to your duty. You can't turn on the radio and you can't pick out that tune on the piano. Nor can you walk about. You're ordered to be still. And you know you must be still. Now is the time for that beloved book.

Each of us has his own troubles. You have yours. You planned to do something fine and you are disappointed. You couldn't go. Maybe you aren't feeling well. Maybe the one you were going with or to couldn't make the appointment. Anyway, here you are stranded and unhappy. You don't want to do anything but grieve. The book that you cherish will save you.

What is your favorite book? Isn't there one that you like to take out and reread? Sometimes the whole book is to be read over, sometimes you pick out the good parts, the high lights, and read those. The book will open to those places, if you just shake the covers open.

Some folk read their Bible, their Shakespeare, their favorite poet or storyteller. After long years of living and thinking and reading they have selected the book that offers them the most comfort. In times of idleness, in times of distress, they turn to their precious book. You are too young yet, maybe, to feel the need of this refuge as your elders do, but you are old enough to feel the ned of relief that the good book affords you. Pick out a good one and keep it by you.

How about Treasure Island, Pilgrim's Progress, Bible Stories, Tale of Two Cities, David Copperfield, (the storm chapter is, to me, one of the greatest bits of writing), Robinson Crusoe, Huck Finn, Tom Sawyer, Uncle Tom's Cabin, Hamlet, Idylls of King — — your own good book whatever it is, is the one for you.

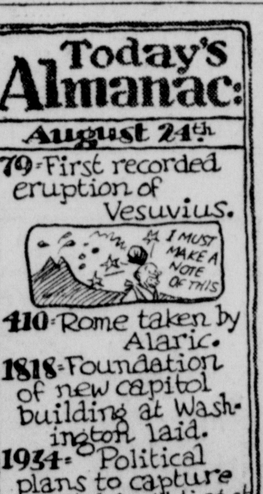

By and by you will leave this one aside, perhaps, and adopt another. You change as you grow. But in the end there will be one good book for you. Be on the lookout for it. It is going to mean all the difference in the world to you by and by.

Yours, A. P.
